SUMMARY.

A state of war has been proclaimed in Cronstadt. Telegrams describing the mutiny have been forbidden.

Mutinous soldiers and sailors were dispersed by quick-firers while endeavouring to break into the arsenal.

They attempted to take refuge in Fort Constantine, but the artillerymen remained loyal and drove them back.

Two companies of sappers and miners have joined the mutineers. They killed two officers and captured others.

The crews of the cruisers Pamyat-Azova and Asia mutinied, but the former was regained by loyalists.

Four mutinous warships from Helsingfors have arrived at Cronstadt. The fortress guns were trained on them.

The mutiny at Sveaborg was intended to attract troops from St. Petersburg.

It was thus hoped to facilitate the revolt at Cronstadt.

The mutiny was crushed after the fortress had been subjected to a terrible bombardment by battleships.

Upon the arrival of a body of Cossacks the garrison at Dashbulagh surrendered.

Alarm and apprehension prevail in St. Petersburg. The cause of the outbreak at Cronstadt is admittedly entirely political.

The same journal regards the Transvaal Constitution as a reckless and dangerous experiment.

Ex-President Steyn had been confident of the approach of a new era of good understanding between Great Britain and Afrikanders.

He is now of the opinion that this fair prospect is overclouded.

But all may yet be well, says Mr. Steyn, if the Prime Minister intends to grant the Orange River Colony a Constitution.

A prominent politician of the late Orange Free State says that if delay occurs distrust in British faith will be reawakened.

Mr. Winston Churchill states that the Transvaal elections will be held not later than January.

Sir Antony MacDonnell predicts a speedy fruition of many of the hopes entertained by the best of Irishmen.

Death duties paid prior to the passing of the bill will not be returnable.

Yours faithfully,
CHAS. B. COMBES.

SPRING.

"Spring, the Sweet Spring, is the Year's Pleasant King."

THE WORLD OF DRESS.

One of the most lovely seasons is before us. Coupled with most dainty colourings, we are to see beautiful curves, long sweeping draperies, and altogether a lack of exaggeration, which, while showing a true advance, must for its own sake, and from a common-sense point of view, commend itself even to "the lords of creation," who so often ridicule many of Fashion's vagaries.

The close-fitting Corselet Skirts, the Empire Frocks, and the Princess Robes, are in themselves very charming, and of these three leaders perhaps many modifications can be made. All the shades of colours ranging round Puce, Heliotrope, and Pastel are having a preliminary trip, as it were, and it will be a little surprising if the verdict is not given to Hydrangea.

Chene Silks and Ribbons, Lace Robes with under Robes of gold and silver tissue, Shoulder Scarves of Crepe de Chene and Chiffon, soft English Satins, Floral Silks, often exact replicas of old brocades, Pale Pastel Cloths, are all pressed into the service. Lace, in the freshest and daintiest confections, such as combined Collars and Plastron Fronts, carried out in designs that are legion, becomes more alluring than ever. In fact, to the lover of Lace an opportunity is given this season to show devotion that can never be too great. Loveliest of all, perhaps, are the Berthas and Collarettes of Real Lace, that may well become heirlooms of priceless value.

A treat that is not always available at the beginning of a season is at the disposal of all those who can make an inspection of the new goods, and it is not too early to predict one of the most delightful arrays of fashion at the forthcoming Race Carnival in September.

With a coquettish adaptation to the needs of the moment, and a desire to court popular favour that Dame Fashion is not always guilty of, she has so decreed that some of her best efforts can be carried out quite inexpensively, which will be readily seen on viewing our Windows, which show only a few examples of the stock within.

ANTHONY HORDERNS' SALE

STILL DELIGHTING THE TOWN.

SORTS OF SALES.

ONE SALE is no MORE LIKE ANOTHER SALE than CALICO is like SILK, and the motives for HOLDING SALES are as WIDE APART as the poles.

Anyhow, it is CONSIDERED by MOST TRADESMEN that SALES act as a kind of SHOPPING TONIC, and no doubt THEY DO. They change the aspect of the SHOPPING WORLD for a while, and cause a CERTAIN AMOUNT of stir. The SHOP that is EMPTY nearly all the year round may get a CUSTOMER or two by STICKING a SALE PLACARD on its windows; and the shop that has been ACCUMULATING BAD BARGAINS for untold time may, by the SAME DEVICE, clear a few of them, and thus obtain a REFRESHING SUPPLY of MUCH-NEEDED CASH.

THE SHOPPING PUBLIC

ANTHONY HORDERNS' SALE

is simplicity itself. There are no PROMISES that, so to speak, become like PIECRUST. A SALE LIST, in the present instance of over 200 pages, is published. That list CONTAINS the goods REDUCED in PRICE, and nothing else. No FLAMBOYANT PHRASEOLOGY endeavours to INVEIGLE INTENDING BUYERS into drawing FALSE CONCLUSIONS; everything is CLEAR and STRAIGHTFORWARD. This is why is favoured with TENS OF THOUSANDS of VISITORS every day.

M.—WHAT DO YOU GET?
When you go to a college to be taught shorthand and typewriting that's the question you ought to ask yourself—"What are YOU going to get?"
—What kind of tuition?
—How long will it last?
—Who is going to teach me?
—Am I guaranteed a position on completion of course?
—Is the fee as low as I can get the best instruction for?
All these are questions that vitally affect your success in shorthand and typewriting, and you should decide them before you join ANY college.
We ask you to investigate our methods of instruction. You will find that our tuition is—absolutely individual.
The term lasts as long as you take to become proficient, and it is well to know that by means of our system we can teach you quicker than any other college.
We guarantee to obtain a position for every student when proficient.
OUR FEE—
£12 12s FOR A FULL COURSE OF SHORTHAND AND TYPEWRITING AT THE METROPOLITAN.
Nearly 50 per cent. lower than any other course.
There is, as far as we can ascertain, no Metropolitan Student out of employment to-day.

THE FOUR FINGERS.

BY FRED. M. WHITE.

(ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.)

"Zary was an incomprehensible character," Vera said. "He was one of the surviving, or, rather, the only surviving member of the tribe who placed the Four Finger Mine in my father's hands. That was done solely out of gratitude, and Zary is constantly declined to benefit one penny from the gold of the mine. He had a curious contempt for money, and he always said that the gold from the Four Finger Mine had brought a curse on his tribe. I really never got to the bottom of it, and I don't suppose I ever shall; but I am interrupting you, Charles. Will you please go on with your story."

"Where was I?" Evors asked. "Oh, yes, I was just leading up to the time when I accompanied your father on his last fatal journey to the mine. At one time I understand it was his intention to take with him the Dutchman, Van Fort, or your mother's brother, Mark Fenwick. However, your father decided against this plan, and I went with him instead, to a great extent it was my doing so that kept Van Fort and Fenwick out of it, for I distrusted both those men, and I believed that they would have been guilty of any crime to learn the secret of the mine. Your father, always trustful and confiding, laughed at my fears, and we started on that fateful journey. I don't want to harrow your feeling unnecessarily, or describe in detail how your father died; but he was foully murdered, and, as sure as I am in the presence of my Maker, the murder was accomplished either by the Dutchman or Fenwick, or between the two of them. Zary mysteriously vanished about the same time, and there was no one to back me up in my story. You may judge of my horror and surprise a little later when Van Fort and Fenwick entered into a deliberate conspiracy to prove that I was responsible for your father's death. They laid their plans with such a diabolical ingenuity that, had I been placed upon my trial at that time, I should have been hanged for a certainty. They even went so far as to tell Beth what had happened, with what result upon her mind you know. At this time Van Fort disappeared, and was never heard of again. Of the strange, weird vengeance which followed him I will talk at another time. I suppose I lost my nerve utterly, for I became as clay in the hands of Mark Fenwick. Badly as he was treating me, he professed to be my friend, and assured me he had found a way by which I could escape from the death which threatened me. Goodness only knows what he had in his mind; perhaps he wanted to part Beth and myself and get all your father's money into his hands. I suppose he reckoned without your brother, though the latter did not count for much just then, seeing that he was in the hospital at Vera Cranz, hovering between life and death, as the result of his accident. For my own part, I never believed it was an accident at all. I believed that Fenwick engineered the whole business. But that is all by the way. Like the weak fool that I was, I fell in with Fenwick's suggestion and allowed myself to become a veritable tool in his hands, but I did not go till I heard that you had come back again to look after Beth."

Vera recollected the time perfectly well; she was following Evors's narrative with breathless interest. How well she recollected the day of her own marriage, and the receipt of that dreadful letter, which parted Gerald and herself on the very steps of the altar, and transformed her life from one of happiness into one of absolute self-sacrifice. She was beginning to see daylight now, she was beginning to discern a way at length, whereby she would be able to defy Fenwick and part with him for all time.

"It is getting quite plain now," she said. "But please go on. You cannot think how deeply interested I am in all you are saying. Presently I will tell you my side of the story. How I came to part with Beth, how I placed her in my brother's hands, how I elected to remain with Mark Fenwick, and my reasons for so doing. I may say that one of my principal reasons for staying with my uncle was to discover the real cause of my father's death. That you had nothing to do with it I never really believed, though appearances were terribly against you, and you deliberately elected to make them look worse. But we need not go into that now. What happened to you after you fled from Mexico?"

"I am very much afraid that I dropped back into the old habits," Evors said, contritely. "I was reckless and desperate and cared nothing for anybody. I had honestly done my best to atone for the past, and it seemed to me that Fate was dealing with me with a cruelty which I did not deserve. One or two of Fenwick's parasites accompanied me everywhere; there seemed to be no lack of money, and I had pretty well all I wanted. There were times, of course, when I tried to break the spell, but they used to drug me then, until my mind began to give way under the strain. Sometimes we were in Paris, sometimes we were in London, but I have not the slightest recollection of how I got from one place to another. I was like a man who is constantly on the verge of delirium tremens. How long this had been going on I can't tell you, but finally I came to my senses in the house in London, and there for two days I was practically all right. All through this time I had the deepest horror of the drink with which they plied me, and on this occasion the horror had grown no less. For some reason or another, no doubt it was an oversight, they neglected me for two days, and I began to get rapidly better. Then, by the purest chance in the world, I discovered that I was actually under the same roof as Beth and your brother, but the knowledge was like medicine to me. I refused everything those men offered me. I demanded to be allowed to go out on business. They refused; a strange new strength filled my veins. I contrived to get the better of those two men, and half an hour afterwards I left the house in company with your brother."

All this was news indeed to Vera, though it is already known to the reader; but she asked no questions—she was quite content to stand there and listen to all that Evors had to say.

"I would not stay with your brother," he went on. "I went off immediately to an old friend of mine, to whom I told a portion of my story. He supplied me with money and clothing, and advised me that the best thing I could do was to go quietly away into th ecountry and give myself an entire rest. I followed his advice, and I drifted down here, I suppose, in the same way that an animal finds his way home. I did not know my father was away, and you can imagine my surprise when I discovered to whom he had let the house. I feel pretty much myself now, there is no danger of my showing the white feather again. If you are in any trouble or distress, a line to the address on this card will bring me to you at any time. In this house there are certain hiding-places where I could secrete myself without anybody being the wiser; but we need not go into that. Now perhaps you had better return to the house or you may be missed. Good-night, Vera. You cannot tell how wonderfully helpful your sympathy has been to me."

He was gone a moment later, and Vera returned slowly and thoughtfully to the house. The place was perfectly quiet now; the billiard-room door was open, and Vera could see that the apartment was deserted. Apparently the household had retired to rest, though it seemed to be nobody's business to fasten up the doors. Most of the lights were out, for it was getting very late now, so that there was nothing for it but for Vera to go up the stairs to her own room. She had hardly reached the landing when a door half-way down burst open, and Fenwick stood there shouting at the top of his voice for such of his satellites as he mentioned by name. He seemed to be almost beside himself with passion, though at the same time his face was pallid with a terrible fear. He held a small object in his hand, which he appeared to regard with disgust and loathing.

"Why don't some of you come out?" he yelled. "You drunken dogs, where have you all got to? Let the man come out who has played this trick on me, and I'll break every bone in his body."

One or two heads emerged, and presently a little group stood around the enraged and affrighted Fenwick. Standing in a doorway, Vera could hear every word that passed.

"I locked my door after dinner," Fenwick said. "It is a patent lock; no key but mine will fit it. When I go to bed I find this thing lying on the dressing table."

"Another of the fingers," a voice cried. "The third finger. Are you quite sure that you locked your door?"

"I'll swear it," Fenwick yelled. "And if one of you—but, of course, it can't be one of you. There is no getting rid of this accursed thing. And when the last one comes—"

Fenwick stopped as if something choked him.

CHAPTER XXII.

"THE TIME WILL COME."

The startled group on the stairs stood gazing at Fenwick as if they were stricken dumb. There was not one of them who had the slightest advice to offer, not one of them but felt that Fenwick's time was close at hand. Every man there knew by heart the strange story of the Four Finger Mine and of the vengeance which had overtaken the Dutchman. The same unseen vengeance was very near Fenwick now; he had had his three warnings, and there was but one more to come before the final note of tragedy was struck. Most of them looked with dazed fascination at the mutilated left hand of their chief.

"How did you lose yours?" somebody whispered.

"Don't ask me," Fenwick said hoarsely. "I break into a cold sweat whenever I think of it. But why don't you do what I tell you? Why don't you find Zary? Find him out, and bring him down here, and then I can laugh at the vengeance of the Four Fingers. But I have my plans laid, and I shall know how to act when the time comes. Now you all get off to bed again and forget all my foolishness. I suppose I was startled by seeing that accursed thing lying on my table, and lost my nerve."

The little group melted away, and once more the house became silent. When morning came there was no sign or suggestion of the strange events of the night before. For the first time for many months Vera felt comparatively happy. She felt, too, that at last she was reaping the reward of all her self-sacrifice, and was approaching the time when she would be able to throw off the yoke, and take up her life at the point where she had dropped it. She could afford to wait on events now; she could afford to possess her soul in patience till the hour and the man came together.

Somewhat to her relief, Fenwick did not appear at breakfast, so that, for once, she could partake of the meal in comparative comfort. Swaggering up and down the terrace outside, with a large cigar in his mouth, was the man who called himself Blossett. He had the air of one who is waiting for something; possibly he was waiting for the parcel which had been the means of breeding last night's disturbance in the billiard-room. Anyway, Vera noticed that Fenwick was very busy up and down stairs, and that all his parasites had gathered in the little room at the end of the corridor. For the present, at any rate, Vera's curiosity was satisfied. She had no intention of running any more risks, and as soon as she had finished her breakfast she went out into the grounds, with no intention of returning before lunch. She made her way across the wood which led to the high road, on the possible chance of meeting Gerald. It was not Gerald, however, who advanced from the deepest part of the copse to meet her, but the thin, cadaverous form of Felix Zary. He advanced towards the girl and, in a grave, respectful way, he lifted her hand to his lips.

(a) The "Leeds Budget" remarks that it is doubtful if Black has a draw after this. I propose to show a draw. Instead of 7—11, the move played in the first of the two London games given in the "Herald" a couple of weeks back, by playing as follows:—

(a) This move has been discarded by the experts. Considered to be a loss.

(b) In a game played at the City Draughts Club [illegible] was played, and Black won in a few-off. The following was played, and the game was drawn. Can anyone show how Black should have played to win?

Mr. Smith moved—

After many moves the game was eventually drawn.

NOTES.

The results of the contests as I write for the State championship, title, and prizes, are:—A preliminary round was played between Messrs. E. W. Smith and J. Drury, which the former won. Mr. J. Miller played Mr. E. Griffin, which the latter won. The pairing for the first round resulted:—E. W. Smith v E. Griffin, which, after an exciting battle, Smith won; F. Ware beat A. Gilbert; Sluice beat E. Grant; Brown v M'Gregor, which, to the surprise of many, Brown won by 3 wins to 3 draws. It was anticipated the veteran Mack, the hero of many battles, would have done better. In the balloting for the opening moves Ware and Gilbert had 9—13 drawn against them three times, of which Gilbert won 1 and drew 2, which may be considered a very good performance against Ware, who is considered a very sound player. The second round pairing resulted as follows:—Sluice v Brown and Ware v E. W. Smith. The contest between Brown and Sluice, an interstate entrant, was watched very keenly by many interstate, country, suburban, and town checkerists. The contest as I write stands in Brown's favour by 2 wins to 2 draws. It is anticipated that Brown and E. W. Smith will be the finalists, the battle between whom will be worth a journey to witness. Messrs. Ware and Sluice, I think, as the score stands, will be left to play for the third and fourth prizes.

A very interesting team match was played a few days ago between teams representing the Glebe Club and H.M.S. Powerful on board the ship, with 12 a side. The score and order of play follow:—

Wins.	The Glebe.	Draws.		The Powerful.	Wins.
3	F. Ware	0	v	J. Evans	1
3	H. Roberts	0	v	W. Stewart	1
4	W. A. Cobbin (Captain)	0	v	H. Sharp	0

3	G. Hawke	0	v	H. Butt	1
2	James Young	2	v	W. Caven	0

After the match the visitors were entertained in a handsome manner, when several complimentary speeches were made, and toasts drunk. Mr. Gillespie, the hon. secretary of the Glebe Club, invited the Powerful players to visit the club at the Workingmen's Institute, St. John's-road, thanking them for their kind reception.

Cheers were given the Powerful team, and the compliment was returned in a hearty manner. The visitors departed well-pleased with the night's amusement. A team from H.M.S. Powerful visited the city, in order to play a return match against the Tramway Draughts Club, at the Railway Institute, a week ago. The following represented the Tramway Club: Messrs. Vare, Young, Murden, Nelson, Sandos, Williams, Moore, Brown, Sachistall, and Burling. The Powerful representatives were: Messrs. Stewart, Collins, Tinson, Abrams, Butt, Cutler, Crowley, Townsend, Smith, and Howard. The result of the contest ended in the Tramway's favour, by 20 wins, 5 drawn, to 14 wins to the visitors. A very enjoyable evening was spent, all being well pleased.

Constipation, which gives rise to graver troubles, is cured by Carter's Little Liver Pills. Small size, small dose, small price. Is 1½d. But be sure they are Carter's.—Adrt.

CURRENT LITERATURE.

THE BRITISH IN AUSTRALIA.

"The Coming of the British to Australia, 1788 to 1829," by Ida Lee (Longmans, Green and Co.), is a book calculated to supply interesting information on a matter of great importance. Historical researches are not to the taste of everybody, whilst some persons who have an ambition in that direction cannot well spare the time from working to be wise. To be sure, there are reference libraries, and there are the "Historical Records"—which, by the way, would seem to have stopped as short as the Grandfat'er's Clock of the poet, and with less excuse. But for persons who are outside the opportunities afforded by reference libraries, and who have yet a desire to learn something of the past history of this great island continent, there has been little provision made. The book before us adds to this provision. The writer owned a well-known Australian name when she was Miss Ida Lee, and she owns another well-known Australian name since she became Mrs. Charles Bruce Marriott. We do not know that she has added largely to experts' knowledge of our history in "The Coming of the British to Australia," but we are convinced of this that she has treated the historical records so cleverly as to make her narration a pleasant book to take up and while away the time withal; in other words, she has given a helping hand to the popularisation—if the word is allowable—of the history of our Australia's early days, and of the Australia which dragged along a decadent existence in the days before Cook.

The Marquis of Linlithgow—better known to us here as Lord Hopetoun, the first Governor-General of the Commonwealth—writes a preface to Mrs. Marriott's book. He says that "Australians should look backwards as well as forwards," for the reason that 'they will find in the records of the discovery and settlement of their country guidance and inspiration for the future." It would perhaps be truer to say that Australians of to-day may learn, if they have eyes to see and ears to hear, what to avoid, from the lessons of the past. Circumstances fought for our ancestors in the eighteenth century, and it would almost seem as if the mistakes made in the nineteenth century were translated into benefits through no virtue of the makers. But, whilst we cannot believe with Lord Linlithgow that the haphazard bungling of old Administrations can be of use as an object lesson to-day, we would yet urge the study of our history. Whether as "an awful example" or as a model to be followed, the story of the birth and growth of the Commonwealth is well worth studying, and we do not know but that in certain respects Mrs. Marriott's book will prove the best available agent in this respect. The author tells the story of the "Botany Bay Settlement," of how it was established, not in Botany Bay, but in Sydney Cove; of how the colony gradually grew in numbers and in importance until it possessed the whole of the continent. She wastes no eloquence over the narration, having the sense to see that the simplest style is the best suited to so amazing a history. But of course she has her little predilections. Governor Darling, for instance, is rather a favourite with her—the poor man whose rule was "unfortunately full of unpleasantnesses, the greatest troubles that he experienced being occasioned by the freedom of the press." To the ordinary student of history General Darling was an obtuse person who sought to apply to a growing British community principles which were hopelessly out of date. After this lapse of time, however, Darling hardly matters in the sum of things.

Mrs. Marriott tells in pleasant manner all about the Sydney of the eighteenth century, and about the crossing of the Blue Mountains, about Baudin's expedition and its result, about explorers such as Cook and Flinders. She devotes a chapter to "The First Churches," and incidentally she declares as an incontestable fact that St. Philip's in Sydney and St. John's in Parramatta were so christened in honour of Governors Phillip and Hunter respectively. We must leave this point to be settled by the Historical Society, only premising that the "Historical Records" spell the name of the first church "Phillips." Possibly the explanation is that a desire being had to recognise the services of the two Governors, the "name-saint" of each was employed for the naming of the churches in question. There is a deal of interesting information about the natives and about their manners and customs, and there is a noteworthy description of the gradual spread of civilisation in the land. Mrs. Marriott has a pleasant power of graphic narration, and her book should be of service for school use.

Our copy comes from Mr. E. W. Cole.

SOME LITERARY ECCENTRICS.

Mr. John Fyvie has collected in his desirable "Some Literary Eccentrics" (Archibald Constable and Co.) particulars of the lives of eleven gentlemen who in their time administered to the gaiety of the nation. It does not quite appear why these eleven persons should be called "eccentric." Some of them were funny enough, but the capacity of inspiring laughter in spectators is not necessarily an evidence of eccentricity; nor are we enlightened when we note the names of the eleven. Place must, of course, be made for his Majesty James I., the juggling and disreputable person who consented to the execution of his own mother. King James was a learned person, look you, and a pious and worthy monarch withal. He could wink at the murderer of his mother, but that was because the removal of this lady made his access easier to the British throne. And when he had reached the summit of his ambition the good man had time to spare for literary work. If newspapers had flourished in those days the King would have been a voluminous contributor, supposing the prices ruled high. But he wrote about tobacco and about things which are of little or no moment to-day. And the rule about the writings of King James is to lay them aside for fear of hurting them.

We have also in this book particulars of the lives of such men as Thomas Day, William Beckford, Walter Savage Landor, William Hazlitt, Henry Crabb Robinson, and Charles Babbage, Douglas Jerrold, George Wither, and Sir John Mandeville. Take first the last-named. This is Mandeville, the great explorer. This is the Mandeville who discovered more new and inspiring things than anybody before or since, except Munchausen or Gulliver. This, in a word, is the De Rougemont of centuries ago—a De Rougemont, however, who does not pin his faith on turtles or the like. Then there is Thomas Day, the egregious author of the once popular book "Sandford and Merton." Burnand killed this melancholy masterpiece by his burlesque, but it took one of his own theories to kill Thomas Day. He had a theory that he could do everything by kindness, and so forth, but when he was trying this on a horse the man it was who died. The author dwells to a somewhat unnecessary extent on personages who are really worth nothing—worth nothing more, that is, than an observation to the effect that they are still dead. We have William Beckford, the eccentric author of "Vathek"—the person who elected to live as a magnificent hermit; and we have Walter Savage Landor and William Hazlitt, prince of critics, and Douglas Jerrold and so forth. There is no principle in Mr. Fyvie's book. This great man is taken and the others left, with no offence to the persons omitted. Our copy comes from Messrs. Angus and Robertson.

LEO TOLSTOY.

"Silent linguae inter arma"—to use a modification of the old axiom. Wherefore it comes about that the new biography of the most famous of Russians has little interest. The great Russian problem cannot be solved by theories, and Leo Tolstoy, who has depended all his lifetime on the beauty of theories, on the superiority of words over actions, is now a pathetic object in the bustling world of plot and anti-plot, of the people struggling to be free, and of bureaucracy making its last fight for the maintenance of supremacy. To every revolution there is a philosophic exordium, and Tolstoy may be proud that he has occupied the position which all the great reformers have occupied. They have pointed the way, but mainly they have pointed it from the unenviable altitude of the pillory. In one respect Tolstoy has an even harder lot, inasmuch as he has lived to see his counsels transcended and himself disregarded. At one time Tolstoy was the emblem of Russia striving to be free; to-day he is nothing.

All this, however, does not detract from the merit of Tolstoy's work in the cause of Russian liberation from unfair and unjust and tyrannical laws. When, years hence, the history of the Russian movement in the direction of liberty comes to be written, considerable space will be occupied by the story of what Tolstoy did, and a calculable item in the important matter of judging his share in the great movement, will be found in the story of his life-work. This has never been set forth to better effect than in the book "Leo Tolstoy, His Life and Work: Autobiographical Memoirs, Letters and Biographical Material," compiled by Paul Birukoff, and revised by Leo Tolstoy (William Heinemann). The first volume of this work is now before us. It concerns itself with the childhood and early manhood of the great man, and there are many details which the rigid criticism of an unbiassed public would well do without. It may, however, be instanced as an example of Tolstoy's bearing, even in those early days that on his betrothal he handed to the lady who had consented to be his wife "all the diaries of his bachelor days, with all his experiences of self-reproach, and his perfectly sincere description of his youthful escapades, and the excesses and moral conflicts which he had gone through." The reading of this series of documents was a somewhat severe trial to the girl who was to become Tolstoy's wife, but she survived the ordeal. It is just here that the first volume of the work comes to an end.

NOTES.

Mr. Upton Sinclair, the author of "The Jungle," did not jump easily on to the saddle of the Pegasus which is galloping away with him to fame and wealth, and such things. His first effort in literature was a story, which was enthusiastically rejected by 22 publishing houses and 15 magazines. There is no evidence as to the further history of this story, but it is safe to say that the generous publisher who bought it could make bushels of money out of it now. There is a publisher who was well-advised enough to buy a book of Mr. Upton Sinclair's, offered vainly to the public last year. This despised book should return high profits now that the author has made his mark.

Edith Nesbit (Mrs. Hubert Bland) has two books on the stocks—one, "Man and Maid," which is grandiloquently described as a series of studies in the psychology of love, and the other, "The Incomplete Amorist."

They have discovered a new English humourist—newer even than Mr. Jerome K. Jerome. The prodigy in question is a Mr. P. G. Wodehouse, whose novel, "Love Among the Chickens," will shortly appear. A good name is better than riches, and we may hope that a good title is in this instance a sure guide to good goods. The time is ripe for the appearance of a new humourist, and, if Mr. Wodehouse can, to use the vernacular, "fill the bill," he has a pleasant and prosperous future to contemplate.

The reminiscences of his life and experiences, on which Sir Wyke Bayliss had been for some time engaged, were handed in to the publisher only a few days before the autobiographer died. The book, which is said to contain frequent references to well-known and popular personages, will be published soon.

Dear old Anthony Trollope will industriously fill up some volumes of Messrs. George Bell's "York Library."

Father Benson's "The Queen's Tragedy" presents the "Bloody Mary" of history in a pathetic aspect. She is deserted by her husband, she is stricken with a mortal disease, her high hopes have been disappointed, and she is confronted by the fact that she will be succeeded on the throne by a lady whom she dislikes, the embodiment of a freedom in religion which she detests. Somewhat gruesome elements for a story!

Now, here is a charming book for persons who desire a pleasant narrative, with the merest suspicion of impossibility. It is "Lady Betty Across the Water," by C. N. and A. M. Williamson, and it comes to us from Messrs George Robertson and Co. The public taste is good. This book, which was first published in May of this year, is now in its third edition. It relates the adventures of a girl of 18, a Duke's daughter, who on various accounts pays a visit to the United States. Lady Betty is a charming girl, and many of the people she meets in the original "God's own country" are also charming. Also, some of them are the very reverse of charming. Betwixt and between there is the amusing variety, and chief of them, as represented in "Lady Betty Across the Water," is the delightful person who was so fond of change that she even changed her birthday so as to have it in leap-year, and who declared that the reason why women have nicer minds than men is because they change them so often. The book drags a bit towards the end, mainly because the reader of best intentions cannot shut his eyes to the inevitable denouement.

Mr. Rudyard Kipling's new volume of stories—"Robin Goodfellow"—will be published next month.

"His Majesty the Man," by Colonel G. W. Bell (William Brooks and Co.), is forwarded by the People's Reform League, as issued under the auspices of this organisation. The booklet is marked with the eloquence to which Colonel Bell has accustomed us. It is also an invitation to individualism as opposed to socialism of any kind.

Mr. Ernest Thompson Seton, Naturalist to the Government of Manitoba, has delighted numbers of readers with his realistic descriptions of animals. His latest book, "Animal Heroes" (Archibald Constable and Co.), details the histories of a cat, a dog, and pigeon, a lynx, two wolves, and a reindeer. It may frankly be confessed that many persons will not adjudge Mr. Seton's drawings to be worth pulling out of the mud, but the letterpress is always more or less good.

There is to be a bibliography in limited edition of Henry James; likewise of James Russell Lowell. The juxtapositions of these two names would naturally affront Mr. Henry James, who only believes in the circuitous circumspection of possibilities and probabilities. Lowell occupied himself with actualities. But, then, Lowell is dead, and Mr. Henry James is still alive to spread mystery over nothing, and to describe in many pages the eating of a matutinal egg.

Monsignor Count Vay de Vaya, who is well known in Australia, has written a book concerning "Empires and Emperors of Russia, China, Korea, and Japan." The title is somewhat cumbrous, but that is nothing as compared with the omniscience of the gentleman who can undertake the contract indicated therein. The count is a Hungarian, who took holy orders, and who was one of the envoys of the Pope to Queen Victoria's '97 jubilee.

The official history of the Boer War will soon be published. This is "The History of the War in South Africa," compiled or written or edited—or all three—by Sir Frederick Maurice. Sir Frederick, the son of a great man, has vindicated his own claim to greatness of a sort, and we expect much from the work. Only it is a pity to delay its appearance. The Boer War and its interest will be dead and gone in the light of a South African federation if the official publication is put off much longer.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

Latest news from London records the failure of several new pieces there towards the end of the season, the most important of which was "The Macleans of Bairness," written by (the Hon. Mrs.) Edith Lyttleton for the reappearance of Mrs. Patrick Campbell at the Criterion Theatre. The new piece deals with a love affair between the Young Pretender, Prince Charles Edward Stuart, and Margaretta Sinclair, a young lady he had met at Court in Rome, and who had saved his life. Afterwards Margaretta married Sir Alan Maclean of Bairness, and when the royal fugitive unexpectedly sought refuge at the castle and pressed his love upon the now indignant Margaretta, tragedy became imminent. All this sounds promising, but the play proved dull and profitless, and only ran five nights. Musical comedies are still in the ascendant. The leading London papers proclaim that "the current of comic operatic interest seems to be turning once more towards the East." This is only a smooth and pleasant way of saying that it just happens to personally suit Mr. George Edwardes to put up two pieces on Chinese subjects. On June 18 he revived "The Geisha" at Daly's Theatre, and on June 20 he staged "See-See" at the Prince of Wales Theatre, whilst he has a new version of "Aladdin" in rehearsal at the Gaiety. Mr. Sidney Jones composed the music for both pieces, with the assistance of Mr. Lionel Monckton for the old opera, and of Mr. Frank Tours (recently in Sydney with the G. P. Huntley combination) for the new one. "The Geisha" was originally performed 800 times at Daly's from 1896. The new cast places Miss May De Sousa as O Mimosa San, the much-photographed Marie Studholme as Molly Seamore, Miss Jenny Watt-Tanner (for long years in this part of the world) as Lady Constance Wynne, Mr. Robert Evett as Reginald Fairfax, Mr. Louis Bradfield again as Dick Cunningham, Mlle. Mariette Sully as the French girl, Juliette Diamant, and Mr. Fred. Wright, jun. (brother of Huntley Wright, the original Wun-Hi) as Wun-Hi. Mlle. Sully made a great hit. She was the original, Veronique in Paris in 1898, and this saved her the trouble of studying "broken English." The option of the Australian rights of "See-See" rests with Mr. J. C. Williamson. The plot, which is taken from a French piece of the day, deals with the desire of See-See (Miss Denise Orme) for a love adventure during the "third moon," which heralds the spring. The action is carried on amusingly, with Mr. Maurice Farkoa as Yea, a Chinese lover, and Mr. Huntley Wright as Hang-Kee, a coolie, who belongs to the local Labour party. Mr. Ralph Roberts, the original "New Boy" in Sydney, is in the cast, and so is Mr. Phil Bracey. The piece is generally praised. Mr. Williamson has also secured for Australia "Human Hearts," a successful high-class melodramatic play, and "When Knighthood was in Flower," a romantic costume comedy-drama from the novel of Charles Major, author of "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall." This latter play will be reserved for the company headed by Miss Tittell Brune.

Miss Esta D'Argo (Miss Hetty Holroyd) forwards elaborate programme-books of two concerts at which she appeared on Sunday, June 24 last, which should be of interest to amateurs here as illustrating the strength and health required by a busily-employed singer in London. At 3.30 the Australian soprano appeared at the last of the Sunday concerts at the Royal Albert Hall with the London Symphony Orchestra in a programme entitled "Gems from the Oratorios." Miss D'Argo sang "Hear Ye, Israel." Mr. John Coates rendered "Sound an Alarm," and Mme Ada Crossley "O Rest in the Lord." When these concerts are resumed on October 7 Mr. Henry J. Wood's orchestra will assist. In the evening Miss D'Argo appeared at the National Sunday League concert at Queen's Hall, with the choir of that association and the orchestra from the Alhambra Theatre. Her solos were the "Inflammatus" (with chorus) from Rossini's "Stabat Mater," and the soprano music in Mendelssohn's "Hear My Prayer." In addition to this she shared in the great duet between Senta and the Flying Dutchman, and in extensive excerpts from Gounod's "Faust," including the whole of the scene which embraces the "Jewel Song," and the long final trio from the prison scene. The other artists were Miss Marie Stiven, Mr. Robert Cunningham, and Mr. Harry Dearth. These Sunday concerts have become an established feature in the musical life of the metropolis, and from small beginnings now provide employment for some of the best artists, and many of inferior talent, as many as 20 concerts being given in London and suburbs on the one day. Miss D'Argo is now getting on so well that she refused a fine offer for 35 weeks with a leading opera company in America, and most regretfully declined an offer to revisit Australia next year. She feels that "the time has not come yet." The Sydney soprano will take six weeks' summer holiday—July-August—with her mother in Yorkshire, and on resuming work will take up engagement with the Bradford Choral Society, the Leeds Choral Union, the subscription concerts at both cities, the Glasgow Popular Concerts, and the Queen's Hall (London) Promenade Concerts and Ballad Concerts.

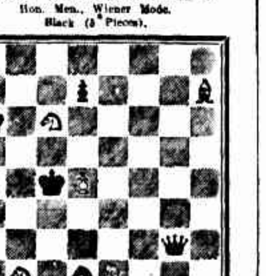

References in this column last week to Miss Helena Collier and Mr. John Barrymore, of the William Collier Company, showed that they both belonged to theatrical families of distinction, and now it appears that yet a third instance of the same kind of inherited talent is presented in the person of Mr. Charles Jefferson Jackson. This actor, whose comic humour is of such importance as the dismal and timid valet in "The Dictator," is the nephew of Joseph Jefferson, the great "Rip Van Winkle" of the English-speaking stage, who died last year at an advanced age. Mr. Jackson's mother was Cornelia Jefferson, who created in America the part of Tilly Slowboy to the Caleb Plummer of John Owens, a star comedian of his day, and when, after 14 years' retirement, she took up stage work again, it was in the same character that she appeared with Joseph Jefferson. Young Jackson lived a great deal at the summer home of Jefferson (his guardian) at Buzzard's Bay, Massachusetts, at which village Grover Cleveland also resided. After his school-days he went on as call-boy at Augustin Daly's Theatre, New York. In this post he was succeeded by William Collier—and one may feel quite sure that an extraordinary instance of this kind hasn't happened since, even at that famous school for famous artists. Some time after Mr. Jackson spent several years playing comedy parts in such English melodramas as "Hands Across the Sea," and then for eight years he was in the company of W. H. Crane, star comedian. When "The County Fair" was produced in New York with Neil Burgess as the spinster Abigail Prue, Mr. Jackson trained the horses for the galloping machines, and played the comic part of the jockey. This engagement kept him in New York for a year, in Boston for a year, and on tour for a year. More recently he joined Miss May Irwin's company, and last year he had an important part in George Ade's latest play, "Just out of College," whilst the season before last he supported Mr. Collier in New York and on tour as the valet in "The Dictator." Mr. Jackson agrees with the other American artists now leaving us to our loss that the Sydney season has been thoroughly enjoyable, and that "the town is certainly a great place for holiday outings."

Miss Annie Mayor is now on her way to Melbourne from South Africa. The fact will interest a great body of playgoers, for the Australian actress was a favourite here in her youth, when she was the ingenue in the original production of "Impulse," and in scores of similar pieces in which G. S. Titheradge made his first triumphs. Miss Mayor was also the original Australian Nellie Denver, in which character she made her last appearance with the big combination at the Sydney Theatre Royal on July 3, 1885, with G. S. Titheradge in his original part as the Silver King. At the end of that year the actress returned for a farewell season at the Opera House with Mr. George Darrell, and she then sailed for the United States. She was acting in London in 1895, and has been a great deal in South Africa, but her communication with her native country during this long period has been infrequent. On July 30 last Miss Mayor concluded a successful season at the Durban Town Hall, Natal, in an entertainment of her own entitled "Drama in Camera." This seems to be a series of humorous deliverances under such titles as "Various Adams and their Eves," with appropriate scenes from famous plays. Miss Mayor was noted here for the sympathy of her style, and her reappearance here should prove welcome. Miss Jessie Stacey, an Australian actress who has been touring with her at the Cape, will also return. The first season will be in Melbourne.

NOTES.

Simultaneous Chess.—Marshall, playing 35 games simultaneously at Rotterdam, won 21, drew nine, and lost five in 3½ hours, a score of 25½—9½ in his favour.

Munich Times Three-mover Tourney.—1, O. Dotterweish; 2, A. Balori; 3, Murray Marble.

Sherrard, one of the masters at the Coptic School, Cairo, and an intending competitor in the Ostend tourney, died before its commencement, and Saburoff took his place.

The Chess Champion of Australia.—Mr. W. S. Viner was entertained on July 20 at the Mechanics' Institute, Perth, and presented with a pretty set of travelling chessmen and also a Tantalus for the brilliancy prize. Mr Siebenhaar made a suggestion which has much to recommend it. It was to the effect that the chess players of the Commonwealth should combine to send Mr. Viner to one of the great international tourneys. We hope to hear more of this excellent idea. A team match was subsequently played, in which Messrs. Viner and Watson were matched against one another, with the result a draw.

The Ostend Tourney.—The leading players at the end of the twelfth round were:—Burn, 9; Janowski, 8½; Marshall, 8; Teichmann, Leonhardt, Rubinstein, and Schlechter (rather a Teutonic sound about this bunch), 7½; and Maroczy, 6½.

The Sydney C.C. Continuous Handicap Tourney.—The leading positions are:—1, Miles, 32½-20½; 2, Bignold, 21-16; 3, Tolley, 41½-34½; 4, Henderson, 62-55.

AWFUL SORES ON BABY'S EYES.

CURED BY CUTICURA.

"When my little girl was a few months old, her eyes began to get bad. I took her to the hospital several times, and subsequently to the Children's Hospital, to which institution I took her for twelve months. The doctors did all they could for her, but her eyes seemed to be growing worse. One doctor told me they might be bad for years. I commenced using Cuticura Ointment, and the cure has been marvellous. The eyes soon began to get strong, and they are now as healthy as if there had never been anything the matter with them. The cure was completed with less than one box of Cuticura Ointment. I trust this letter may be the means of others being cured as my little girl has been.—Mrs. F. Phillips, Grafton-street, Waverley, Sydney, N.S.W."

THE KIDNEYS AND BLOOD POISON.

THE FUNCTION OF THE KIDNEYS is to remove poisonous waste materials from the blood. As fast as excreted by the kidneys the fluid portions of the body have to pass through minute channels. These minute channels at times become surcharged with debris, the passages become clogged, and if neglected gravel, and even stones, form in the kidneys, and passing down through these delicate and sensitive canals cause excruciating pain. From this we see the importance of keeping the kidneys and bladder clean and clear; we must expel the debris. Prof. I. N. Love, M.D., in writing, said: "Elimination is salvation, and there is no better eliminator than Kutnow's Powder." This famous remedy hastens the elimination of uric acid, removes all waste products, and flushes out the kidneys in a most satisfactory way.

HOW TO CLEANSE YOUR KIDNEYS!

AN AGREEABLE REMEDY.

The only rational course to be pursued for kidney troubles is to adopt a scientific method of treatment.

Prof. Lawson Tait, M.D., adopted this treatment when he used Kutnow's Powder and prescribed it for his hospital and private patients.

He found Kutnow's Powder a portable and useful remedy in arresting gouty and rheumatic symptoms.

He realised that it is necessary to cleanse the system frequently, to remove the debris of undigested food.

He used it to properly guard against serious disease.

He endorsed Kutnow's Powder conspicuously over his own signature.

Dr. Ewald, M.D., the great specialist, recognises the advantages of the use of Kutnow's Powder.

He appreciates the power of Kutnow's Powder to eliminate from the body the excess of bile and acids.

The great advantage of this agreeable remedy is its unique simplicity—it cannot possibly produce any irritation.

It contains nothing which is likely to disagree even with the most delicate and sensitive stomach.

Kutnow's Powder keeps the whole machinery of mankind clean and in perfectly healthy running order.

You need never suffer from poisoned nerves if you use this remedy.

Some people commit grave errors by resorting to the use of drastic drugs and harmful purgatives.

When the bladder and kidneys are in a weak deranged condition it is simply outrageous to punish them.

You must not whip up the kidneys with divers drugs unless you desire Bright's disease or inflammation.

Reason suggests a far better course, i.e., the use of Kutnow's Powder, which is recommended by leading physicians all over the world.

Dr. J. Bond Sullivan says: "I have personally derived much benefit from Kutnow's Powder, and really feel unsatisfied without it."

HOSPITALS USE IT.

Boston, Mass.
"I have suffered for the past two years with uric acid in its most painful form. I used Kutnow's Powder, and in three days the morning tests showed less and less acid, until now I am free. I have now taken four bottles. I consider Kutnow's Powder the greatest uric acid solvent in the world. I am using it in hospital and practice.
"JOHN T. SIMPSON, M.D."

GENERAL DUNSTERVILLE writes:
"The Avenue, Upper Norwood,
"29th May, 1905.
"Dear Sirs,—I began to use Kutnow's Powder about a fortnight ago, and finding it both palatable and efficacious I have procured a bottle of the regulation size, and mean to have some always by me. I visit Heidelberg every year and am glad to find that my friend Dr. Glassner, Hof-Apotheker there, stocks it.—Yours faithfully,
"L. DUNSTERVILLE,
"Lieut.-General."

SIR JOHN B. MONCKTON.
(late Town Clerk of London)
wrote:
"Guildhall, London, E.C.
"Gentlemen,—I have much satisfaction in stating that for the last two years I have regularly used Kutnow's Powder, with the result that troublesome and frequent attacks of lumbago, with other gouty symptoms that had troubled me for years, seem to have entirely disappeared."

NURSE CROSS writes:
"2 Percy-road, Wrexham.
"Sirs,—Some five years ago I had an acute attack of nephritis (inflammation of the kidney), and my doctor advised Harrogate waters. After trying them for some time with very little result, the doctor suggested giving Kutnow's Powder a trial, with such excellent results that in a short time I felt very much better. I continued taking it regularly every other day for two years, and consider it worked an entire cure. Many of my patients have tried it with excellent results. I think the wonderful good done in such cases should be widely known for the benefit of other sufferers.
"MARGARET CROSS "(Nurse)."

HOW TO GUARD AGAINST FRAUD!

There is only one genuine and original Kutnow's Powder, which all conscientious Chemists supply. The well-known efficacy and great popularity of Kutnow's Powder has caused a whole host of counterfeit productions to spring up. Unscrupulous to a degree, the counterfeiters often produce an exact imitation of Kutnow's bottle; but needless to state the contents of a bottle of Kutnow's Powder are an entirely different thing altogether. The counterfeit productions are absolutely worthless to the purchaser, and in most cases positively harmful. You should see that the fac-simile signature, "S. Kutnow and Co., Ld.," and the registered trade mark, "Hirschensprung, or Deer Leap," are on the carton in which every genuine bottle is packed, and also on the bottle. You will then avoid imposition and get

HEARNE'S BRONCHITIS CURE,

THE FAMOUS REMEDY FOR COUGHS, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION.

HAS THE LARGEST SALE OF ANY CHEST MEDICINE IN THE WORLD.

Those who have taken this medicine are amazed at its wonderful influence. Sufferers from any form of Bronchitis, Cough, Difficulty of Breathing, Hoarseness, Pain, or Soreness in the Chest, experience delightful and immediate relief; and to those who are subject to Colds on the Chest it is invaluable, as it effects a Complete Cure. It is most comforting in allaying irritation in the throat and giving strength to the voice, and it neither allows a Cough or Asthma to become chronic, nor Consumption to develop. Consumption has never been known to exist where "Coughs" have been properly treated with this medicine. No house should be without it, as, taken at the beginning, a dose is generally sufficient, and a Complete Cure is certain.

BEWARE OF COUGHS!

REMEMBER THAT EVERY DISEASE HAS ITS COMMENCEMENT, AND CONSUMPTION IS NO EXCEPTION TO THIS RULE.

OTHER TREATMENT TOOK NO EFFECT.

Mr. W. G. Hearne.
Dear Sir,—For twelve months or more I had a dry, hacking cough on my chest that used to trouble me terribly at night-time. I was told it was a touch of Bronchitis. I tried different sorts of medicine, which took no effect, so I tried your Bronchitis Cure, which, I have much pleasure in informing you, relieved me at once. It has completely cured my cough. INFLUENZA AND BRONCHITIS.

TEN YEARS SUFFERING WITH A TERRIBLE COUGH, AND WASTING AWAY.

COMPLETELY CURED BY HEARNE'S BRONCHITIS CURE.

Mr. W. G. Hearne.
Dear Sir,—Twelve years ago I had a severe attack of Influenza and Bronchitis, and for ten years was suffering with a terrible cough, and was wasting away. I had medical attendance, and tried various medicines recommended, but without success, until, on my daughter's recommendation, I used Hearne's Bronchitis Cure, with the result that it completely cured me, and I am perfectly free from any cough now.

BRONCHITIS.

A SUFFERER FOR YEARS CURED BY ONE BOTTLE OF HEARNE'S BRONCHITIS CURE.
NO OTHER TREATMENT DID ANY GOOD.

Mr. Hearne. Sir,—My daughter, 12 years of age, had a very bad cough that had been a great trouble to her for years. I tried every cough remedy I could get, but not one of them seemed to do her any good. Then I tried one bottle of your Bronchitis Cure, and she has never coughed since she finished it. I am glad to say the effect has been wonderful.—Yours etc.,

CONSUMPTION.

TOO ILL TO LEAVE HIS BED.
A COMPLETE CURE.

Mr. W. G. Hearne.
Dear Sir,—I am writing to tell you about the wonderful cure your medicine has effected in my case. About three years ago I began to cough. At first the cough was not severe, but it gradually got worse, and I became very weak, and troubled with night sweats, pain in my chest, and great quantities of phlegm. On several occasions there was blood in the expectorated matter. I had been treated by a doctor, who pronounced my case to be consumption, and various other treatments had been tried, but without benefit. It was at this stage that I heard of your Bronchitis Cure, and sent to you for a course of the medicine. When it arrived I was too ill to leave my bed, but I commenced taking it at once, and gradually improved. I am glad to say that the two lots of medicine you sent have effected a complete cure, for which accept my very best thanks.—Yours gratefully,
J. BLAIR,
Westminster Bridge-road, S.E., London.

DISTRESSING, SUFFOCATING, DRY COUGH FOR TWELVE YEARS.

ENTIRELY REMOVED BY FIVE DOSES OF HEARNE'S BRONCHITIS CURE.
NO OTHER TREATMENT COULD EVEN EASE IT.

Sir,—My wife was for twelve years a sufferer from most distressing, suffocating, dry cough, that could not be removed or even eased by any remedy, doctors' prescriptions and patent medicines having been tried; but I am happy to state that the cough, pain in the chest, and difficulty of breathing, etc, were entirely removed by the fifth dose of your Bronchitis Cure.—I remain, Sir, yours most respectfully,
WILLIAM CROCKETT,
Baker's Swamp P.O., via Dripstone, N.S.W.

A FIVE YEARS' CASE CURED BY ONE SMALL BOTTLE OF HEARNE'S BRONCHITIS CURE.

Mr. W. G. Hearne. Dear Sir,—Kindly send me one large bottle of your Bronchitis Cure. I am more than pleased with the results of your wonderful medicine, as a small bottle cured my little girl, who had been suffering for five years, and now I do not feel safe to be without it.—I remain, yours respectfully,
AGNES F. KENNEDY,
Bethanga, Victoria.

SEVERE BRONCHITIS.

COMPLETELY CURED BY HEARNE'S BRONCHITIS CURE.
IT ACTED LIKE MAGIC.

Mr. W. G. Hearne. Dear Sir,—It affords me very much pleasure to give you an unsolicited testimonial as to the great merits of your wonderful Bronchitis Cure. I can say without hesitation that as a chest medicine it has no equal. Having had Bronchitis in a severe form it completely cured me, and now in the Winter months if I at all contract a cold on the chest it gives me instant relief. I have also proved its efficacy with members of my family, whom it has always cured of coughs, colds on the chest, also sore throats. It has acted like magic. Sir, you are deserving of the best thanks of the community for introducing to suffering humanity such a valuable medicine.—I remain, gratefully yours,
W. DUNCAN,

ASTHMA.

RELIEVED BY TWO DOSES OF HEARNE'S BRONCHITIS CURE.

Mr. W. G. Hearne. Dear Sir,—Having been a sufferer from Asthma, I have much pleasure in stating that your Bronchitis Cure afforded me great relief after taking two doses only. I have since proved its efficiency in quickly curing a bad cold, and altogether my chest feels stronger. I can strongly recommend it as the best medicine for chest complaints and coughs, as I have tried them all. Thanking you for the benefit that I have received,—I am, Dear Sir, yours faithfully,
D. BEATTY,

COUGH.

DISTRESSING AND HACKING COUGH COMPLETELY CURED BY A BOTTLE OF HEARNE'S BRONCHITIS CURE.

Mr. W. G. Hearne. Dear Sir,—Last winter my youngest son, Herbert, who is rather weak on the chest, had a dry, distressing, hacking cough, which troubled the poor little fellow very badly at night-time. I tried many so-called panaceas, without any appreciable effect. But after using less than a bottle of your Bronchitis Cure I am pleased to say that the child was cured and is now quite well, all symptoms of the cough having entirely disappeared. I have had much pleasure in recommending your magical medicine to my friends.—Believe me to be yours very gratefully,

LIFE IN LONDON AND THEREABOUT

(CHRONICLED BY HENRY W. LUCY.)

The Ministerial Majority—The Premier's Vigil—King Edward's Good Work—Birthday Dinners—Colonel Newcome.

WESTMINSTER, June 28.

The running down of the Ministerial majority to 103 on an amendment to the fourth clause of the Education Bill was greeted with a roar of exultation by the Opposition. Only a hard heart would grudge them the unwonted joy, the more so since it was of an ephemeral character. On the next day the majority returned to its normal figure. The particular question on which it fell away was a proposal, by the substitution of the word "shall" for "may," to make compulsory in certain circumstances extended facilities for denominational teaching. Moved by a Conservative of the House of Hatfield, the amendment naturally led to recurrence of the unnatural alliance between Unionists and Home Rulers. Where the marvel came in was to find the Independent Labour members throwing in their lot with this alliance, designed in the interests of denominational teaching in rate-aided schools. However, there they were, and the transference of some half a hundred Liberal votes, in conjunction with those of Irish members, accounts for the little incident. Its chief practical bearing on the political situation is that it marks the best (or the worst) any possible combination of Opposition forces can do. With a majority over-topping a hundred, Ministers may be counted upon to carry out their resolution to see the bill through without breach of its principle or the weakening of any really material detail.

A pleasant incident in an acrid controversy was the outburst of sympathy that greeted the Prime Minister's rare interposition in the debate. Very little has been seen of C.-B. since the House resumed its sittings after Whitsunside. He has been in his place for questions, has answered such as were addressed to him, and straightway withdrawn from the House. There is nothing new in this proceeding on the part of the leader. During the last years of his Premiership it was Mr. Balfour's custom of an afternoon. C.-B.'s abstention from the ordinary business of the House is, however, dictated by quite other reasons than those influencing his light-hearted predecessor. Lady Campbell-Bannerman, after long illness, remains in a condition that causes the gravest anxiety. Every moment he can snatch from the care of the Empire the husband spends in the sick-room. It is said that his vigil sometimes lasts through the livelong night. When, taking part in debate on clause 4, he lightly touched on this subject by way of apology for what he described as appearance of neglecting his public duties, there came from the crowded House a prolonged cheer of hearty sympathy. Political prejudices, party animosities, were for the moment forgotten as members looked upon the bowed figure standing at the table, and listened to the tremulous voice that threatened utterly to break down. Mr. Balfour, who always rises to these occasions, prefaced renewed attack on the Education Bill and its promoters by utterance of a few graceful words that evoked a fresh demonstration of sympathy.

Of the many good deeds accomplishment of which has marked the reign of King Edward VII., probably none exceeds in public value the establishment of the Sanatorium in Surrey that bears his name. The necessary capital was placed at his Majesty's disposal by a gentleman who prefers to remain anonymous, but whose identity is no secret to a wide circle of friends. The idea of its disposal, in a manner unique in this country, had its initiation directly in the mind and action of the King. During one of his visits to South Germany he chanced upon a sanatorium for consumptive patients at Falkenstein, and when, owing to the princely generosity of the gentleman indicated, means were placed at his disposal, he resolved to create a kindred institution, the largest and most perfect of its kind in the world. With the assistance of an advisory committee, consisting of a dozen eminent specialists, this aspiration has been absolutely attained.

Week-ending in Surrey, I had the opportunity of a private visit to the Sanatorium, under the personal guidance of one of the committee. The basis of the treatment of consumptive patients being the opportunity of day and night breathing the open air, choice of a site was of prime importance. It was found in the neighbourhood of Midhurst, and consists of about 150 acres of land dipping down on the southern side of Eastbourne Hill. Fronting the hospital the ground slopes gently to the south, through woodland that includes a grove of magnificent pine trees. The western slope is heather-covered moorland, leading to a deep ravine, which forms a sheltered walk. A daily stroll is an essential part of the cure. To that end a series of pathways has been cut in the moorland and through the pine woods at gradients carefully calculated to suit patients in varied stages of the disease. Thus the medical superintendent, instead of prescribing pill or powder, will order a walk at a distance and on a gradient suitable to the lung power of the patient.

Infinite care has been taken in respect of comparatively trifling details. In cases of consumption a thing to be carefully avoided is the inhalation of dust. It would be difficult for a stray particle of dust to find lodging in the King Edward VII. Sanatorium. The floors are all wax-polished teak; the walls are plastered and covered with a special paper that may be washed with soap and water. White enamel gives thick glossy brightness to the doors and windows. So far-seeing are the precautions against the enemy that the skirting board in all the rooms and passages does not finish with a flat edge on which dust might settle, but is cunningly rounded so as to present no available surface. All the bedrooms and sitting-rooms face due south, with a balcony 9ft wide in front, so arranged that each patient has his or her section screened on either side by glazed partitions. There are hydropathic bathrooms fitted with the latest triumphs of science. The kitchens are models of convenience and cleanliness. The chapel, whose architectural design recalls an eastern mosque, is open to all the winds that blow.

One of the best features in the institution is that it is not a charity in the ordinary sense of the word. Built as a commercial enterprise, the lodging rate must have been prohibitive to all but the extremely wealthy. Thanks to the munificence of his Majesty's anonymous friend, the structure and its superb equipment are handed over free of cost. There are a few choice suites of apartments for which a weekly rental of eight guineas will be paid. The bulk of patients admitted will pay two guineas a week for board, rent, and medical attendance, the expenditure on which narrowly calculated will exceed double that sum. The Sanatorium is not yet thrown open to the public, but it is expected it will be fully tenanted before the close of the year.

There is a good deal of talk about an incident in connection with the Ministerial dinners to be given to-morrow night in honour of the King's Birthday. Amongst the hosts is the Secretary of State for India. In sending out invitations, Mr. Morley naturally included Lord Curzon of Kedleston. The ex-Viceroy cordially accepted the invitation. A week later the Secretary of State was surprised by receipt of intimation that acceptance was withdrawn. No reason was given for this procedure, nor is anything known to have happened in the interval calculated to dictate it. Lord Curzon's personal relations with the India Office, as they were established by the action of Mr. St. John Brodrick, were not of a kind that left behind friendly feelings. But Mr. Morley had nothing to do with the controversy that preceded the Viceroy's retirement from office. It is not only with the India Office that Lord Curzon's relations towards former colleagues and friends are strained. It is no secret that since his return to London he has avoided all intercourse with his long time intimate personal friend and sometime chief, the late Prime Minister. [On July 20, about three weeks after this letter, Lady Curzon died, her illness explaining the incident Mr. Lucy refers to.—Ed. "S. M. H."]

The most brilliant event of the Birthday celebration will be the evening party at the Foreign Office. The noble staircase and the splendid rooms of this building lend themselves to the success of such a gathering. The host on such occasions is usually, of course, the Minister at the head of the department. Lord Rosebery's term of office was marked by a succession of exceptionally brilliant gatherings. Owing to recent bereavement, Sir Edward Grey cannot undertake the duties of host. The invitation "To celebrate the King's Birthday" is accordingly issued by "the Prime Minister and His Majesty's Ministers"—a quite unique card.

Among many testimonies of appreciation of his rendering of Colonel Newcome on the stage of His Majesty's Theatre is a letter addressed to Mr. Beerbohm Tree by Mrs. Ritchie, after having sat out the play. Thackeray's only surviving daughter writes in the warmest praise of Mr. Tree's rendering of what she speaks of as her father's favourite character. It is a long letter, marked by hereditary literary grace. In advance of the staging of the play Mr. Tree was violently attacked from certain quarters on a charge of sacrilege in presuming to deal with the peerless character immortalised by the novelist whose creation contributed to the immortality of his own fame. Mrs. Ritchie's letter, which, it is to be hoped, will some day be published, disposes of this fussy advocacy.

OUR MOUNTAIN WONDERLAND.

YARRANGOBILLY—TALBINGO.

(BY A. B. C.)

In a previous contribution an endeavour was made to describe the journey of the Government tourist party into snowbound Kiandra, via Adaminaby and Cooma, and the subsequent experiences of the party in Australia's great snowfield. The trip out from Kiandra, west and north towards Tumut, via Yarrangobilly and Talbingo, in the depth of winter, was also a remarkable experience. The tourist party left Kiandra on Sunday morning at 9 in good weather; that is to say, not actually snowing, and the snow was in good condition for travelling. Six miles were thus negotiated in good style when quite suddenly a heavy gale arose, with a blinding blizzard of snow and fog. So dense was the squall that the party became scattered, and very slow progress was made owing to the soft, cloggy condition of the newly fallen snow. But thanks to the skill of Mr. George Irwin and to the abatement of the elements the beleaguered tourist party made the next two miles to Simpson's hut, where refreshments were partaken of sufficient to rejuvenate the whole party, notwithstanding the severe struggle the party had against Simpson's blizzard, as it is now named. Here the Kiandra men went back home, receiving three hearty cheers from the tourist party, who were now guided by Mr. Bradley to Yarrangobilly, now four miles distant. Packhorses were provided for the luggage and some of the party, whilst four negotiated about another two miles on ski and the balance on foot. The rapid ski-running here indulged in down very steep mountain slopes to the end of the snow was an experience to be long remembered. After descending about 1200ft (Simpson's hut being about 5000ft high) the party bid temporary farewell to the snow, and once more found themselves in a primeval forest in deep Tumut River gorges. By 6 p.m. all had arrived at the cavehouse none the worse for Simpson's blizzard, and all the party sang together their national anthem,

> Merrily we'll roll along, we'll roll along,
> Across the deep white snow.

—sung with as much zest as on the day the party left Adaminaby, when we were all literally dying to be in the snow, but scarcely suspecting such trifles as Simpson's blizzard.

After a hearty meal at the cavehouse a party was formed and conducted by Mr. Bradley through the Jersey Cave. Much might be said in praise of Yarrangobilly Caves as to their excellence and wonders, but it will be a long time before these caves will be in the public favour like far-famed Jenolan, owing to the accessibility of the latter. It would be unfair to compare or even to criticise Yarrangobilly Caves, as they scarcely bear any resemblance to the more northern limestone caves. But the writer thinks that the natural scenery without and the famous trout streams in the district will do much to place Yarrangobilly in public favour.

Great indeed was the tourists' surprise on waking up on the Monday morning to find that a heavy snowstorm had come and whitened everything about the caves. The glorious spectacle of seeing frowning limestone cliffs capped with newly-fallen snow and the timber heavy laden was a keen surprise and a sight long to be remembered.

At 9 a.m. two coaches conveyed the party onwards towards Tumut, and the heavy snowfall rendered the roads almost impassable, but owing to the skill of Mr. Harris the tourists made the top of Talbingo about 4 in the afternoon, notwithstanding ankle-deep newly fallen snow, with occasional tame blizzards on the way.

Then the glorious descent after two more miles; amen to the snow; didn't the party then sing their anthem with zes[t] ... spectacle of leaving brilliant wh[ite] ... kindly, homely green had quite an effe[ct] on everybody. And such a panorama—[pr]obably the finest in all Australia. Talbingo Mountain must be somewhere about 4000ft high, and in five miles the party descended to 1500ft above sea level. Here a halt was made at Pether's Hotel, and in passing a word of praise might well be said to the excellent accommodation one finds in far-away Talbingo. Close to the hotel is the Tumut River, now a strong mountain torrent, noted for its rainbow trout.

Then the crowning sight of the trip on the way to Tumut next morning. A brilliant sunshine, pleasing green fields, and homely homesteads, a swollen river—the Tumut—undulating roads between two high ranges of mountains whose granite precipices were deeply covered with snow. This last 23 miles, travelled in 3½ hours, was a fitting contrast to the previous 23 miles struggled through in nearly nine hours, and a magnificent ending to a trip which will ever remain fresh in the memory of the pioneer tourists, who undertook a difficult journey under severe conditions, but who one and all, under normal conditions of weather, would say that a trip to Kiandra and the Yarrangobilly Caves is the finest tour Australia can offer.

ABERCROMBIE-STREET TRAM ROUTE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I have read a report to the effect that the Premier was driven with Mr. Sullivan, M.L.A., over the proposed Abercrombie-street tram route, and has decided that the matter will receive immediate attention at the hands of the Ministry. Before the tramway is started, I would like a few changes that have taken place since the tramway was surveyed to be taken into consideration. At some time or other the recently constructed St. Peters tram will run down Regent-street into George-street, instead of making the present circuitous route. The proposed Abercrombie-street tram could easily turn round by M'Murtrie's boot factory, through Wells-street, and into Regent-street, bring the residents of Darlington into the district in which they do most of their shopping, saving a great expense in construction and resumption, which will take place if the tram turns down Bank-street as proposed, doing away with three tramlines for a part of the journey, which, should the tramline down Abercrombie-street be constructed, will undoubtedly exist within almost a stone's throw of one another, namely, the Newtown-road tram, Abercrombie-street tram, and Regent-street-Redfern tram. Those residents of Darlington who wish to shop in George-street West can now take the Newtown-road tram, and I maintain that those who desire to do business in Redfern, where the majority do at present, should be brought where they require to do business, down Regent-street, and not an out-of-the-way place like Abercrombie-street. Lastly, and most important still, the Cleveland-street tunnel was not strong enough to support the tram when the survey was made, and has since been renewed and made strong enough to carry any trams. The enormous saving that can be effected in construction, wear and tear, also the convenience of the public, is my excuse for making these suggestions.

I am, etc., A REDFERN RESIDENT.

IN ARDEN.

By N. E. W.

Ay, now am I in Arden, my city-loving friend, and I hasten to anticipate your obvious comment with regard to the conclusion of the quotation. For I am not yet convinced of my foolishness, and so here, for a while, we part company, the dispirited Touchstone and I.

The place I write of, as you will know, is called by another name on the map, but now, when like Rosalind I am in a holiday humour, it pleases me to think of it as the background to the most delightful of the Shakespearian comedies, though, so far, I have met no banished duke nor any lady dressed in doublet and hose. At least, I am quite certain about the doublet.

The village proper consists of a diminutive general store, a cottage or two, a vine-clad rectory, a blacksmith's forge, and a farm where they welcome the paying guest. On the rise of the hill a brown stone church thrusts an unexpected spire above the tree-tops, and its shadow falls on the graves of three generations crowding thickly about its base. I have acquired this and much other local information during the course of a long stroll yesterday, for night had fallen when I arrived here. It is half an hour's drive from the railway station, and the moon had barely risen when we climbed the mile-long road they called "The Lane." Then for another mile or so we jogged along a bush track, invisible to me in the fragrant darkness, until at length we arrived in a clearing and saw the road stretching away before us in the quiet moonlight, only to lose itself again, presently, in dense masses of shadow. The lights were twinkling far off in some scattered hillside farms, and the river-flats were steaming to the moon when we eventually drew up at the gate of the comfortable cottage where I now abide. Then supper—such an appetising supper!—crisp, savoury bacon and enticing poached eggs, with home-made bread, fresh butter, delicious clotted cream, abundant honey, and other country fare; a meditative pipe afterwards, before a blazing wood fire, and so to bed; passing soon from a state of blissful, drowsy contentment to a long, restful, dreamless sleep.

If my descriptions should appear unduly glowing, I wish you to remember that I have had very few holidays, and know little of this part of the country. It is all so new and strange and delightful to me that at last I seem to have realised the poet's longing:—

> When, when shall I the country see,
> Its woodlands green,—Oh, when be free
> With books of great old men, and sleep,
> And hours of dreamy ease to creep
> Into oblivion sweet of life!

It is nineteen hundred years since Horace wrote those verses; but I think that to all men at some time or other in their lives, there comes that restless longing to get back to nature, if only for a little while, and there "from the lap of earth to look up into the face of God."

You know the feeling, too, though you may affect to ignore it. You rise one day as usual, and look out upon the morning. The air is fresh and sweet, and the distant blue hills stand up clear in the shining weather; a soft wind moves among the leaves, and through the branches, perhaps, you may catch a glimpse of the sea flashing back a laugh to the sun. You drink in the beauty of it all as you have often done before, half-unconsciously, and without any particular emotion, when suddenly an unwonted joyous tumult stirs the blood and wakes the sleeping nomad in one's heart; and thereafter—for that day at least—you are possessed by an almost irresistible desire to turn your back upon the town and wander away—on and on, wherever the vagrant fancy may lead you; half-expectant that somewhere at the journey's end there lies the Land of Heart's Desire.

The nomadic instinct was strong within me yesterday when a magpie woke me with that rich, flute-like warble of his—the mere prelude, one would think, to a fuller and more perfect melody. But he never gets beyond the first two or three bars, and even in these there is a sense of careless incompleteness. The pied musician, like the subtle impressionist he is, knows that a work of art must leave something to the imagination if it is to be an enduring joy. The descriptions of heaven chiefly pall, I think, because there is about them such a cloying sense of satiety.

But—as I was saying—when the magpie woke me I did not leave my bed, though I felt the nomad-thrill in every vein. For had I not the livelong autumn day before me, with its golden promise of thirteen other happy golden days! And so for an hour or more I lay "simmering"—as a friend of mine once expressed it—and watched.

> The casement slowly grow a glimmering square.

I know nothing more luxurious than to lie a-bed like this, in the delightful hour when, after a long night's rest, one's eyelids open upon a room wherein all things are strange; and from a state of drowsy wonderment to awake to the sudden, blissful consciousness that it is holiday-time, and that out of doors a new world awaits us.

The breakfast bell was ringing before I drew the blinds and looked out upon a broad undulating sweep of pasture-land, lightly timbered, and flecked here and there with a brighter green where some emerald lucerne-patch was glowing in the morning sun. Among the trees a few miles away clustered the roofs of Drowsietown, with the filmy smoke of household fires curling lazily upward in the windless air. Then the wooded foot-hills, and beyond them, sharp against the sky, the clear soft cobalt of the mountain range where some trailing remnants of the mist still lingered.

Breakfast was nearly over when I sat down, and the few people who still remained at the table were too busy to take much notice of me, being evidently healthily ignorant of the theory—recently advanced—that if you would solve the secret of life you must forego the matutinal meal.

Breakfast, however, is always an unsocial business, for so many people have contracted the morning newspaper habit that rational conversation is out of the question. The effect of this is particularly noticeable in Arden, where the papers do not arrive until midday. We swallow our food silently—almost sullenly—and, in the absence of any so-called "news," it never occurs to us to speak of other things. I have noticed, too, that subjects which appear appropriate and interesting at lunch or dinner-time would be considered as surprisingly out of place at the breakfast-table, as a decolletée gown would be upon the girl who sits next to you. But, apart from this, conversation with us is almost a lost art. As Lowell says, "We wonder at the scholarship of the men of three centuries ago, but they were scholars because they did not read so many things as we do. Their speech was of the best because they lunched with Plutarch and supped with Plato. We spend no less time than they did, but instead of communing with choice spirits, we diligently inform ourselves of the most commonplace trivialities. We are getting buried alive under this avalanche of earthly impertinences—becoming mere sponges saturated from the stagnant goose-pond of village gossip."

This habit of over-reading, besides impairing our literary digestions, has left us unimaginative and unemotional, and has atrophied our power of thought. With senses dulled by long disuse we look on Nature only through the medium of a picture or a book; and even when thus transmuted we wait for the journalistic critic to call our attention to its beauty. It seems to be tacitly admitted that only the painter and the writer can discern that—

> Earth is crammed with Heaven,
> And every common bush afire with God.

Even here, in Arden, you never meet a visitor from the city but you catch a glimpse of a library book in its bright livery of purple, scarlet, or green.

For my own part I am firmly resolved never to open a book or paper while I am here. I certainly slipped a volume of Browning into my pocket when I started on my walk yesterday morning—but then it was a very small volume.

THE AIRLIE MINERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—On behalf of the miners of New Hartley, I desire to acquaint fellow-men that 13 months ago the management reduced the hewing rate 1s per ton. We worked 12 months at the reduced rate, and asked for an increase. This we were refused. At the reduced rate many of us could not make a living wage. The shale-mining is attended by danger, as several miners here have lost any eye when following their calling. The men here are standing out for an increase on the present hewing rate, viz. 2s 9d per ton—formerly 3s 9d. The average earnings for the past 12 months are about 7s 4d, after paying all expenses.

I am, etc., ALD. W. WAUGH,

THE GROWING TRIUMPH

of modern medicine lies in the pleasantness of its great remedies. This is exemplified by the unparalleled popularity of California Syrup of Figs, the pleasant, natural laxative, of which millions of bottles are sold every year. It is made to do pleasantly, gently, naturally, that for which violent purgatives were too often used with harmful effects upon the system. It is a tonic, a strengthener, as well as a cleanser of the liver, kidneys and bowels, and its use may be discontinued as soon as the organs are cleansed and corrected. A CITY OF SURPRISES.

(BY HAL O' THE WYND.)

Sydney is, above all others, a city of scenic surprises—a source of wonderment to strangers, a continuous feast to the dwellers therein who love the beautiful. It is scarcely possible to walk a street, no matter how prosaic, which does not reveal at length, by some sudden detour or decline, an enchanting glimpse of the turquoise-hued waters of some cove or bay, or a view of some tall mast lording it over the adjacent chimney-pots like Saul among the people. It is largely this element of unexpectedness which has endeared Sydney to poets and artists, and has drawn hither these wayward and wandering people in such large numbers as to cause our city to be regarded as the New Bohemia of the Antipodes.

Another great charm, if less in evidence and essentially evanescent, lies in the survival, in out of the way corners, of some of the old homes founded by early residents—military, judicial, seafaring, professional, and commercial. Quiet nooks were these, where each man rested from his labours—literally beneath his own vine and figtree, but a stone's throw from the spot where these were carried on. The ruthless advance of commercialism has, however, obliterated from the peninsula where Sydney's business is transacted all these green oases in a desert of bricks and mortar. A few old residences are still to be seen on the Rocks, but these are shorn of the grounds which lent them distinction, and made them homelike. Indeed, one has to travel at least as far as Darlinghurst to find fairly representative specimens of Sydney's early suburban homes. Some of these lie moored in the backwash of narrow or winding streets, hugging closely their few remaining acres, and looking with consternation through glassy eyes at the huddle of invading houses, seen too plainly through their circumvallation of protecting branches.

Sometimes in turning a corner, or in searching for an outlet from a labyrinth of interlaced streets, the urban explorer suddenly sees before him on a gentle slope, or perched on the shoulder of a cliff, an old-fashioned stone house, of the early colonial type—with overhanging eaves, wide-silled and hooded upper windows, and broad verandahs on three sides—dozing quietly on the bosom of its green lawns, which are dotted with grand old shade trees. It is usually dotted round with shrubbery, which scarcely conceals its stables, more substantially built than most modern edifices. Such places are pregnant with memories, and one turns away from them, murmuring: "If those old walls could only speak!" And if their story is ever to be told, it is now—or never. For at this moment it is the practice to bereave these old homes of nine-tenths or more of their pleasure grounds, and to erect on the ravished acres some twenty or thirty red-tiled houses. These, nicely built though they may be, have, of course, no charm for those who joy in quaint survivals of older times. And when the old homes have become boarding-houses, hospitals, schools, or what-not, when their external beauties have been obliterated, and their internal treasures dissipated under the hammer of the auctioneer, what story have they to tell?

One can imagine the joy of Charles Lamb or of Leigh Hunt—almost pagan in their worship of the rus in urbe—on stumbling for the first time on such an outcropping mine of memories as is presented by these survivals of forgotten days. Aye, and it would take the pen of a Lamb to picture the solid comfort, the wide hospitality, the simplicity, and the quietude of these spots of retirement and rest. What pictures might be painted by these master hands of the family life while its head was abroad assisting to build up the prosperity of the young colony, or aiding in the steady development of public spirit which preceded that acquirement of responsible government we have just celebrated. What etchings we might have had of the eyrie on the cliff top which looked over the scattered houses of the valley of Woolloomooloo to the dazzling waters of Port Jackson, and thence to the thickly-wooded slopes of North Shore, and beyond to the dim blue line of mountains so long regarded as an impenetrable barrier to the explorer. There were elements of the picturesque nearer at hand—in the convict-hewn slabs of stone which fortified the cliff's front, and which were bound together by the small-leaved ficus which clambered over them; in the Virginia creeper which at eve made the western gable seem a mirror for the glories of the sunset; in the rambling orchard with its peach, apricot, fig, mulberry, and almond trees, with trellises almost borne down by the burden of seldom pruned passion and grape vines; in the garden, redolent with the scent of lavender and marjoram, musk, and mignonette, thyme and woodruff, gay with old world flowers, roses, violets, wallflowers, sweet williams, stocks, daisies, and carnations, with geraniums grown to the dimension of hedges, and camellias which had become trees; in the riotous colonial children whom the free life and warm sun had made taller, more daring, independent, and outspoken than their progenitors, and who boated, swam, sailed, cricketed, rode, danced, quarrelled, fought, and made friends—the girls asking no quarter, the boys giving little, because of sex. Is it too late now to paint such pictures?

This vanishing phase of Australian life has hitherto been almost entirely neglected by our historians and by our story writers, and certainly not because of the barrenness of the field—aglow with colour and almost as intersected by side avenues of adventure as the similar periods in American development now so persistently and thoroughly exploited. The lapse is regrettable, for it is certain that a people, destined to number millions to our tens of thousands, will greedily devour every document bearing the impress of truthfulness which concerns the home and public life of the founders of their nation among the Southern Seas. But a little later and it will be too late. For even now the hand of the despoiler—armed with a theodolite and a surveyor's chain—is stretched out over the acres of those beautiful suburban homes—the product of a later day, which follow the windings of the harbour's foreshores from Potts Point even unto Parsley Bay. Ere long the seven-roomed residence and the terrace of houses will stand where they stood, and no trace of them, whether written or pictorial, will be left.

These quiet nooks—with their sheltering trees, green lawns, and wealth of plant life—attract many birds, especially during the winter months. It was the writer's privilege for a considerable time to look out at early morn towards the gardens of a fine old home. Nearer lay a large paddock, bounded on two sides by large trees, where horses grazed occasionally during the daytime. There, with the first streaks of dawn, were to be seen droves of clamorous sparrows (earliest of all), a few water wagtails, with their pleasant call of "Pretty Little Creature," and some native wrens, quick-darting and diminutive, whose shrill but sweet notes were fine drawn as silver wire. Later, a dozen or so of doves would cease croodling, and would fly down from the top branches of the flame and fig trees to join the giant pigeons, bold and full-breasted, who, swelling around with many a rick-at-too-coo, sometimes suspended their quarterings of the turf to quarrel or to indulge in amorous dalliance. Ere this, a flock of starlings—sooty-coated and hoarse-voiced—would have arrived from their island shelter in the Centennial Park. Feeding with them sometimes might be seen a blackbird or two, jet black and yellow-beaked, whose clear and mellow notes are almost a greater source of pleasure to Australians who hear them for the first time than to the world-worn wayfarer in whose soul it liberates a flood of memories. Once or twice there came a thrush, speckle-breasted and timorous of eye, which, as it ran hither and thither in search of food, occasionally hopped up on a rail to emit a delicious gurgle of melody—a grace after meat and a petition for more. There, in stormy weather, came always those plump black and white-winged creatures known locally as mutton-birds. The derisive laughter of the kookaburra was often to be heard there, but "Johnny" rarely descended to the ground, where, however, sometimes might be seen green-and-gold paroquets, in search of the corn spilled by horses from their feed-boxes. As the sun gained strength, one by one the birds disappeared, until at length none were left save the sparrows, the most insatiable—the first to come and the last to go.

Is it too late to hope that of the many secret places and haunts of beauty still to be found within ten or fifteen minutes' walk of Sydney's General Post Office all will not be permitted to vanish and leave no enduring record? Surely there is someone amongst us who not only feels the charm of these abodes of ancient peace, but can and will make them eloquent for those who may never behold them.

THE FUTURE IN AMERICA.

A SEARCH AFTER REALITIES.

BY H. G. WELLS.

V. THE ECONOMIC PROCESS.

I.

A Bird's-Eye View. Let me try now and make some sort of general picture of the American nation as it impresses itself upon me. It is, you will understand, the vision of a hurried bird of passage, defective and inaccurate at every point of detail, but perhaps for my present purpose not so very much the worse for that. The fact that I am transitory and bring a sort of theorising naivete to this review is just what gives me the chance to remark these obvious things the habituated have forgotten. I have already tried to render something of the effect of huge unrestrained growth and material progress that America first gives one, and I have pointed out that so far America seems to me only to refresh an old impression, to give starkly and startlingly what is going on everywhere, what is indeed as much in evidence in Birkenhead or Milan, or London, or Calcutta, a huge extension of human power and the scale of human operations. This growth was elaborated in the physical and chemical laboratories and the industrial experiments of the eighteenth and early nineteenth century, and chiefly in Europe. The extension itself is nothing typically American. Nevertheless America now shows it best. America is most under the stress and urgency of it, resonates most readily and loudly to its note.

The long distances of travel, and the sense of isolation between place and place, the remoteness verging upon inaudibility of Washington in Chicago, of Chicago in Boston, the vision I have had of America from observation cars and railroad windows brings home to me more and more that this huge development of human appliances and resources here is going on in a community that is still, for all the dense crowds of New York, the teeming congestion of East Side, extraordinarily scattered. America, one recalls, is still an unoccupied country, across which the last developments of civilisation are rushing. We are dealing here with a continuous area of land which is, leaving Alaska out of account altogether, equal to Great Britain, France, the German Empire, the Austro-Hungarian Empire, Italy, Belgium, Japan, Holland, Spain and Portugal, Sweden and Norway, Turkey in Europe, Egypt, and the whole Empire of India, and the population spread out over this vast space is still less than the joint population of the first two countries named, and not a quarter that of India. And even so, it is not spread at all evenly. It is not upon the soil, barely half of it is in holdings and homes and authentic communities. It is a population of an extremely modern type. Urban concentration has already gone far with it; fifteen millions of it are crowded into and about twenty great cities, other eighteen millions make up about 500 towns. Between these centres of population run railways, indeed, telegraph wires, telephone connections, tracks of various sorts, but to the European eye these are mere scratchings on a virgin surface. An empty wilderness manifests itself through this thin network of human convenience, appears in the meshes even at the railroad side. Essentially this is still an unsettled land, with only a few incidental good roads in favoured places, with no universal police, with no wayside inns where a civilised man may rest, with still only the crudest of rural postal deliveries, with long stretches of swamp and forest and desert by the track side, still unassailed by industry. This much one sees clearly enough eastward of Chicago. Westward, I am told, it becomes more and more the fact. In Idaho at last, comes the untouched and perhaps invincible desert, plain and continuous through the long hours of travel. Huge areas do not contain one human being to the square mile, still vaster portions fall short of two. . . .

And this community, to which material progress is bringing such enormous powers, and that is knotted so densely here and there, and is otherwise so attenuated a veil over the huge land surface is, as Professor Munsterberg points out, in spite of vast and increasing masses of immigrants who undergo assimiliation, a curiously homogeneous one, homogeneous in the spirit of its activities, and speaking a common tongue. It is sustained by certain economic conventions, inspired throughout by certain habits, certain trends of suggestion, certain phrases, and certain interpretations, that collectively make up what one may call the American idea. To the process of enlargement and diffusion and increase and multiplying resources we must now bring in the consideration of the social and economic process that is going on. What is the form of that process as one finds it in America? An English Tory will tell you promptly, "a scramble for dollars." A good American will tell you it is self-realisation under equality of opportunity. The English Tory will probably allege that that amounts to the same thing. Let us look into that.

II.

Liberty of Property. One contrast between America and the old world I had in mind before ever I crossed the Atlantic, and now it comes before me very vividly, returns reinforced by a hundred little things observed and felt. The contrast consists in the almost complete absence from the normal American scheme of certain immemorial factors in the social structure of our European nations.

In the first place every European nation except the English is rooted to the soil by a peasantry, and even in England one still finds the peasant represented in most of his features by those sons of dispossessed serf-peasants, the agricultural labourers. Here, in America, except in the regions where the negro abounds, there is no lower stratum, no "soil people," to this community at all; your bottommost man is a mobile free man, who can read and who has ideas above digging and pigs and poultry keeping, except incidentally for his own ends. No one owns to subordination. As a consequence any position which involves the acknowledgment of an innate inferiority is difficult to fill; there is, from the European point of view, an extraordinary dearth of servants, and this endures in spite of a great peasant immigration. The servile tradition will not root here now, it dies in this soil. An enormous importation of European serfs and peasants goes on, but as they touch this soil their backs begin to stiffen with a new assertion.

And at the other end of the scale also, one misses an element. There is no territorial aristocracy, no aristocracy at all, no throne, no legitimate and acknowledged representative of that upper social structure of leisure, power, State responsibility, which in the old European theory of society was supposed to give significance to the whole. The American community, one cannot too clearly insist, does not correspond to an entire European community at all, but only to the middle masses of it, to the trading and manufacturing class between the dimensions of the magnate and the clerk and skilled artisan. It is the central part of the European organism without either the dreaming head or the subjugated feet. Even the highly feudal slave-holding "county family" traditions of Virginia and the South pass now out of memory. So that in a very real sense the past of this American community is in Europe, and the settled order of the past it left behind there. This community was, as it were, taken off its roots, clipped of its branches and brought hither. It began neither serf nor lord, but burgher and farmer, it followed the normal development of the middle class under Progress everywhere and became capitalistic. Essentially America is a middle class become a community, and so its essential problems are the problems of a modern individualistic society, unhampered and unilluminated by any feudal traditions either at its crest or at its base.

It would be interesting and at first only very slightly misleading to pursue the rough contrast of American and English conditions upon these lines. It is not difficult to show, for example, that the two great political parties in America represent only one English party, the middle class Liberal party, the party of industrialism and freedom. There are no Tories to represent the feudal system, and no Labour party. It is history, it is no mere ingenious gloss upon history, that the Tories, the party of the crown, of the high gentry and control, of mitigated property and an organic state, vanished from America at the Revolution. They left the new world to the Whigs and Nonconformists and to those less constructive, less logical, more popular, and liberating thinkers who became Radicals in England and Jeffersonians and then Democrats in America. All Americans are, from the English point of view, Liberals of one sort or another.

You will find a fac-simile of the Declaration of Independence displayed conspicuously and triumphantly beside Magna Charta in the London Reform Club, to carry out this suggestion. You have but to follow this up, and note the more salient characteristics of the two American parties to endorse it. . . .

But these fascinating parallelisms will lead away from the chief argument in hand, which is, that the Americans started almost clear of the medieval heritage, and developed in the utmost—purity if you like—or simplicity or crudeness, whichever you will, the modern type of productive social organisation. They took the economic conventions that were modern and progressive in the end of the eighteenth century, and stamped them into the Constitution as if they meant to stamp them there for all time. In England you can still find feudalism, medievalism, the Renascence, at every turn. America is pure eighteenth century, still crystallising out from a turbid and troubled solution.

To turn from any European State to America is, in these matters anyhow, to turn from complication to simplicity. The relationship between employer and employed, between organiser and worker, between capital and labour, which in England is qualified and mellowed and disguised and entangled with a thousand traditional attitudes and subordinations, stands out sharply in a bleak, cold rationalism. There is no feeling that property, privilege, honour, and a grave liability to official public service ought to go together, none that uncritical obedience is a virtue in a worker, or that subordination carries with it not only a sense of service, but a claim for help. Coming across the Atlantic has in these matters an effect of coming out of an iridiscent fog into a clear bright air.

This homologization of the whole American social mass, not with the whole English social mass, but with its "modern" classes, its great middle portion, and of its political sides with the two ingredients of English liberalism, goes further than a rough parallel. An Englishman who, like myself, has been bred, and who has lived all his life either in London, with its predominant West End, or the southern counties with their fair large estates and the great country-houses, is constantly being reminded, when he meets manufacturing and business men from Birmingham or Lancashire, of Americans, and when he meets Americans, of industrial north country people. There is more push and less tacit assumption, more definition, more displayed energy and less restraint, more action and less subtlety, more enterprise and self-assertion than there is in the typical Englishman of London and the home counties. The American carries on the contrast further, it is true, and his speech is not northern, but marked by the accent of Hampshire or East Anglia, and better and clearer than his English equivalents; but one feels the two are of the same stuff, nevertheless, and made by parallel conditions. The liberalism of the eighteenth century, the material progress of the nineteenth, have made them both, out of the undifferentiated Stuart Englishman. And they are the same in their attitude towards property and social duty, individualists to the marrow. But the one grew inside a frame of regal aristocratic and feudal institutions, and has chafed against it, struggled with it, modified it, strained it, and been modified by it, but has remained within it; the other broke it and escaped to complete self-development.

The liberalism of the eighteenth century was essentially the rebellion of the modern industrial organisation against the monarchical and aristocratic state—against hereditary privilege, against restrictions upon bargains—whether they were hard bargains or not. Its spirit was essentially anarchistic—the antithesis of socialism. It was the anti-State. It aimed not only to liberate men, but property, from State control. Its most typical expressions, the Declaration of Independence and the French Declaration of the Rights of Man, are zealously emphatic for the latter interest—for the sacredness of contracts and possessions. Post Reformation liberalism did to a large extent let loose property upon mankind. The English Civil War of the seventeenth century, like the American Revolution of the eighteenth, embodied essentially the triumphant refusal of private property to submit to taxation without consent. In England, the result was tempered and qualified, security for private property was achieved, but not cast-iron security; each man who had property became king of that property, but only a constitutional and conditional king. In America the victory of private property was complete. Let one instance suffice to show how decisively it was established that individual property and credit and money were sacred. Ten years ago the Supreme Court, trying a case arising out of the general revenue tax of 1894, decided that a graduated income tax, such as the English Parliament might pass to-morrow, can never be levied upon the United States nation without either a revolutionary change in the Constitution or the unanimous legislation of all the State legislatures to that effect. The fundamental law of the States forbids any such invasion of the individual's ownership. No national income tax is legal, and there is practically no power, short of revolution, to alter that. . . . .

Could anything be more emphatic? That tall Liberty, with its spiky crown, that stands in New York harbour, and casts an electric flare upon the world, is indeed the liberty of property, and there she stands at the zenith.

III.

Aggregation and Some Protests. Now the middle class of the English population and the whole population of America that matters at all when we discuss ideas, is essentially an emancipated class—a class that has rebelled against superimposed privilege and honour, and achieved freedom for its individuals and their property. Without property its freedom is a featureless and unsubstantial theory, and so it relies for the reality of life upon that, upon the possession and acquisition and development of property; that is to say, upon "business." That is the quality of its life.

Everywhere in the modern industrial and commercial class this deep-lying feeling that the State is something escaped from, has worked out to the same mental habit of social irresponsibility, and in America it has worked unimpeded. Patriotism has become a mere national self-assertion, a sentimentality of flag cheering, with no constructive duties. Law, social justice, the pride and preservation of the State as a whole are taken as provided for before the game began, and one devotes oneself to business. At business all men are held to be equal, and none is his brother's keeper.

All men are equal at the great game of business; you try for the best of each bargain, and so does your opponent. If you chance to have more in your hand than he—well, that's your advantage, and you use it. Presently he may have more than you. You take care he doesn't if you can, but you play fair—except for the advantage in your hand—you play fair—and hard.

Now this middle class equality ultimately destroys itself. Out of this conflict of equals, and by virtue of the fact that property, like all sorts of matter, does tend to gravitate towards itself whenever it is free, there emerge the modern rich and the modern toiler.

One can trace the process in two or three generations in Lancashire, or the potteries, or any industrial region of England. One sees first the early Lancashire industrialism, sees a district of cotton-spinners more or less equal together, small men all, then come developments, comes a state of steadily freer competition, with some men growing large, with most men dropping into employment, but still with ample chances for an industrious young man to end as a prosperous master, and so through a steady growth in the size of the organisation to the present opposition of an employer class in possession of everything, almost inaccessibly above, and an employed class below. The railways come, and the wealthy class reaches out to master these new enterprises, capitalistic from the outset. . . .

America is simply repeating the history of the Lancashire industrialism on a gigantic scale, and under an enormous variety of forms.

But in England, as the modern Rich rise up, they came into a world of gentry, with a tradition of public service and authority; they learn one by one, and assimilate themselves to the legend of the "governing class," with a sense of proprietorship, which is also, in its humanly limited way, a sense of duty to the State. They are pseudomorphs after aristocrats. They receive honours, they intermarry, they fall (and their defeated competitors, too, fall) into the mellowed relationships of an aristocratic system. That is not a permanent mutual attitude; it does, however, mask and soften the British outline. Industrialism becomes quasi-feudal. America, on the other hand, had no effectual "governing class;" there has been no such modification, no clouding of the issue. Its Rich, to one's superficial inspection, do seem to lop out, swell up into an immense consumption and power and inanity, develop no sense of public duties, remain winners of a strange game they do not criticise, concerned now only to hold and intensify their winnings. The losers accept no subservience. That material progress, that secular growth in scale of all modern enterprises, widens the gulf between Owner and Worker daily. More and more do men realise that this game of free competition and unrestricted property does not go on for ever; it is a game that, first in this industry and then in that, and at last in all, can be played out, and is being played out. Property becomes organised, consolidated, concentrated, and secured. This is the fact to which America is slowly awaking at the present time. The American community is discovering a secular extinction of opportunity, and the appearance of powers against which individual enterprise and competition are hopeless. Enormous sections of the American public are losing their faith in any personal chance of growing rich and truly free, and are developing the consciousness of an expropriated class.

This realisation has come slowlier in America than in Europe, because of the enormous undeveloped resources of America. So long as there was an unlimited extent of unappropriated and unexplored land westward, so long could tension be relieved by so simple an injunction as Horace Greeley's; "Go west, young man; go west." And to-day, albeit, that is no longer true of the land, and there are already far larger concentrations of individual possessions in the United States of America than anywhere else in the world, yet so vast are their continental resources that it still remains true that nowhere in the world is property so widely diffused. Consider the one fact that America can take in three-quarters of a million of workers in one year without producing a perceptible fall in wages, and you will appreciate the scale upon which things are measured here, the scale by which even Mr. J. D. Rockefeller's billion dollars becomes no more than a respectable, but by no means overwhelming, "pile." For all these concentrations, the western farmers still own their farms, and it is the rule rather than the exception for a family to possess the freehold of the house it lives in. But the process of concentration goes on nevertheless—is going on now perceptibly to the American mind. That it has not gone so far as in the European instance is a question of size, just as the gestation of an elephant takes longer than that of a mouse. If the process is longer and slower, it is, for the reasons I have given, plainer, and it will be discussed and dealt with plainly. That steady trend towards concentration under individualistic rules, until individual competition becomes disheartened and hopeless, is the essential form of the economic and social process in America as I see it now, and it has become the cardinal topic of thought and discussion in the American mind.

This realisation has been reached after the most curious hesitation. There is very reason for this, for it involves the contradiction of much that seems fundamental in the American idea. It amounts to a national change of attitude. It is a conscious change of attitude that is being deliberately made.

This slow reluctant process of disillusionment with individualism is interestingly traceable through the main political innovations of the last twenty years. There was the discovery in the east that the supply of land was not limitless, and we had the single tax movement, and the epoch of the first Mr. Henry George. He explained, fervently of course, how individualistic, how profoundly American he was—but land was not to be monopolised. Then came the discovery in the west that there were limits to borrowing, and that gold appreciated against the debtor, and so we have the Populist movement and extraordinary schemes for destroying the monopolisation of gold and credit. Mr. Bryan led that, and nearly captured the country, but only in last May's issue of the "Century Magazine" I found him explaining (expounding meanwhile a largely socialistic programme) that he, too, is an individualist of the purest water. And then the attack shifted to the destruction of free competition by the trusts. The small business went on sufferance, not knowing from week to week when its hour to sell out or fight might come. The trusts have crushed competition, raised prices against the consumer, and served him often quite abominably. The curious reader may find in Mr. Upton Sinclair's essentially veracious "Jungle" the possibilities of individualistic enterprise in the matter of food and decency. The States have been agitated by a big disorganised anti-trust movement for some years; it becomes of the gravest political importance at every election, and the sustained study of the affairs and methods of that most typical and prominent of trust organisations, the Standard Oil Company, by Miss Tarbell and a host of followers, is bringing to light more and more clearly the defencelessness of the common person, and his hopelessness, however enterprising, as a competitor against these great business aggregations. His faith in all his reliances and securities fades in the new light that grows about him; he sees his little investments, his insurance policy, his once open and impartial route to market by steamboat and rail, all passing into the grip of the great property accumulators. The aggregation of property has created powers that are stronger than State legislatures, and more persistent than any public opinion can be, that have no awe and no sentiment for legislation, that are prepared to disregard it or evade it whenever they can.

And these aggregations are taking on immortality, and declining to disintegrate when their founders die. The Astor property, the Jay Gould property, the Marshall Field property, for example, do not break up, become undying centres for the concentration of wealth, and it is doubtful if there is any power to hinder such a development of perpetual fortunes. In England, when Thelusson left his investments to accumulate, a simple little Act of Parliament set his will aside. But Congress is not sovereign, there is no national sovereign power in America, and Property in America, it would seem, is absolutely free to do these things. So you have President Roosevelt in a recent oration attacking the man with the Muck Lake (who gathered vile dross for the love of it), and threatening the limitation of inheritance. But he, too, quite as much as Mr. Bryan, assures the public that he is a fervent individualist.

So in this American community, whose distinctive conception is its emphatic assertion of the freedom of individual property, whose very symbol is that spike-crowned Liberty gripping a torch in New York Harbour, there has been, and is going on, a successive repudiation of that freedom in almost every department of ownable things by considerable masses of thinking people, a denial of the soundness of individual property in land, an organised attempt against the accumulation of gold and credit by a systematic watering of the currency, a revolt against the aggregatory outcome of untrammelled business competition, a systematic interference with the freedom of railways and carriers to do business as they please, and a protest from the most representative of Americans against hereditary wealth. . . .

That, in general terms, is the economic and social process as one sees it in America now, a process of systematically concentrating wealth on the part of an energetic minority, and of a great insurgence of alarm, of waves of indignation and protest and threat on the part of that vague indefinite public that Mr. Roosevelt calls the "nation."

And this goes on side by side with a process of material progress that partly masks its quality, that keeps the standard of life from falling, and prevents any sense of impoverishment among the mass of the losers in the economic struggle. Through this material progress there is a constant substitution of larger, cleaner, more efficient possibilities, and more and more wholesale and far-sighted methods of organisation for the dark, confused, untidy individualistic expedients of the Victorian time. An epoch which was coaly and mechanical, commercial and adventurous, after the earlier fashion is giving place, almost automatically, to one that will be electrical and scientific, artistic and creative. The material progress due to a secular increase in knowledge and the economic progress interfere and combine with and complicate one another. The former constantly changes the forms and appliances of the latter, changes the weapons and conditions, and may ultimately change the spirit and conceptions of the struggle. The latter now clogs and arrests the former. So in its broad features, as a conflict between the birth strength of a splendid civilisation and a hampering commercialism, I see America.

THE WORLD'S PRESS.

An interesting scientific feat, in which a diamond played the principal part, was performed by Sir William Crookes at the annual conversazione of the Royal Society. By way of showing the hardness of the diamond, he placed one between the steel poles of a hydraulic press, and the poles were then drawn close together. The diamond came through the ordeal brilliantly. Quite unscathed, it was found embedded in the hard steel.

A correspondent of the "Westminster Gazette" writes:—"The strange word 'pogrom' has appeared frequently in the daily press in the telegraphic despatches from Vilna and Bielostok and other places in West Russia in connection with the massacre of the Jews in that unhappy portion of the Czar's dominions. It may be of interest to note the meaning and the etymology of this word of terrrible import. The Russian word 'pogrom' (pronounced with stress on the final syllable) is generally translated 'desolation devastation.' The word is related to the Russian words 'grom,' thunder, the thunder-clash, and to 'gromit,' to thunder, to batter down as with a thunderbolt, to destroy without pity, utterly overthrow. The 'po' in 'pogrom' is the prefix occuring in a great number of Russian words. The Russian 'grom,' thunder, is a word of Indogermanic respectability, having relations in Greek and in the Germanic languages. The primary idea of the root is a crashing noise, which is the meaning of the equivalent Greek word.

The call of Mr. M'William, a gentleman afflicted with blindness, to the Bar at Sydney will bring to recollection the circumstance that Mr. Pennefather, who was one of the Barons of the Irish Court of Exchequer from 1821 till 1859, was for the last 15 years of his judicial career wholly bereft of sight. He however, was able to discharge his judicial duties with efficiency, and on one occasion only was the depreciation of sight a matter of obvious embarrassment to him on the Bench. He was trying a case in which a man was charged with writing a threatening letter, and on a comparison of the writing of the threatening letter with the writing of a document admittedly in the prisoner's handwriting, the prisoner, who was defending himself, requested that his lordship would examine both the documents and form his own conclusion.

When did Ascot races begin? They are mentioned in the first "Racing Calendar," published in 1727, and the usual statement is that they were founded by the Duke of Cumberland, uncle of George III. But an entry in the accounts of the Master of the Horse in 1712 suggests that they were founded by Queen Anne on August 6, 1711. The truth, no doubt is that Ascot races, like many other august institutions, gradually developed from a germ so that it is difficult to say when they really began. At any rate, they were quite the sort of thing that enthusiast of the turf, Queen Anne, would have founded. She was a thorough Stuart in this passion. It was her great-grandfather, James I., who encouraged if he did not establish horseracing in Scotland, and popularised it in England.

Miss Louise Collier Wilcox concludes an article on "The Content of the Modern Novel" in the current "North American Review" in these terms:—"The main reflection to which one is brought by looking over modern novels is that the novel is a passing form; it has had its day and must cease. It has been overdone and cheapened until it is difficult to take even the finest novels with seriousness. The external novel, the novel that lacks brooding and profundity of truth and force of emotion, is simply negligible; and the novel of mental process, in this age of tottering faiths and insecure philosophies, is apt to be too painful to convey the pleasure which should be given by a work of art."

An amusing exchange of courtesies has recently occurred between a well-known Liberal hostess and Mrs. John Burns. Lady H—— recently wrote to the wife of the President of the Local Government Board regretting that, as Grosvenor-square was such a long way off from Battersea, she had not been able to call on Mrs. Burns, but added that she hoped Mrs. Burns would come to her party on the —th. Mrs. Burns replied, declining the kind invitation, as Battersea was just as far from Grosvenor-square as Grosvenor-square was from Battersea.

Mr. John Morley has told an amusing story of his schooldays. "When I was at school at Cheltenham," he said, "I once wrote what I wished to be prize poem, but it was unsuccessful. The headmaster, however, said to me: 'I am glad you have composed this poem, because it shows all the elements of a sound prose style.' That observation wounded me at the time," added Mr. Morley, "but I afterwards was 'cute enough to perceive its full significance. Though in one sense it was an extinguisher, in another it was an incentive."

Mr. A. L. Mayhew, in "Notes and Queries," has an interesting note on the word "Duma." It is, it seems, one of those interesting culture-terms which Russia has borrowed from her Scandinavian neighbours. Vigfusson tells us in his dictionary that domr was an important term in Icelandic law, meaning a court of judgment, the body of Judges, the court of law. It was in this sense that the word was introduced, with other Swedish words, into Russia, and hence the present political meaning of the Russian "Duma"—namely, an assembly of councillors, met to pronounce their doom, or judgment—a far finer term, in Mr. Mayhew's opinion, than our word "Parliament," a talking shop.

The right of every freeborn American to spit where and when he pleases is being arbitrarily assailed in New York. A body of police specialists called the sanitary squad are now at work in that city, says the "Telegraph." They are dressed in plain clothes, and their duty is to arrest anyone found spitting on the pavement and other prohibited places, in trams, theatres, etc. Since their organisation they have worked so efficiently that the once rather popular practice of spitting has been practically suppressed.

At a club where card-playing was prohibited four members, greatly daring, smuggled in a pack, and, calling the waiter aside, asked him if he had ever known the rule broken. His reply (says the "Tribune") was suggestive:—"All the years I have been here I have known every rule broken except one—that of giving tips." The game proceeded.

The following story has just been retold, but unlike many stories it bears retelling. A lady once visited Kensington Parish Church, in the choir of which was Sir Richard Webster, now Lord Chief Justice of England. She asked the verger to point out Sir Richard, but the verger knew him not. Badgered by further questions from the incredulous lady, he said testily:—"Well, m'am, that's the vicar, them's the curates, and I'm the verger; but as for the choir—well, as long as they does their dooty, we don't inquire into their hantecedents."

GRACE BROS.'

MILLINERY.

Very early for Spring Millinery? Yes, but we like being first. We are anxious to show you how hard we have striven to surpass even last season's productions.

Model Hats from London and Paris are here in great numbers; but those of our own creation, which are pronounced to be masterpieces, will vie with them for your favour.

We want you to take an interest in what we are doing to gain the title of artists. We want you to come to our Showroom to see these models—even if it is only to gain a correct forecast of the exclusive styles.

CORSETS, ETC.

The Underclothing Department is going to be bigger and better in future. The floor space has been enlarged; the stock will be better displayed. During the week we have been sorting out for stocktaking, and we find a few lines which you will want if we make the price tempting.

There are a few dozen Corsets in odd sizes and odd makes, 1s 6d and 2s 6d per pair. There are a few Ladies' Bloomers, in grey tweed, 1s 11½d pair. There are some Ladies' Combinations, natural wool. 4s 11½d pair.

Finally, there is a collection of Coloured Underskirts, variously marked at proper prices.

DRESSMAKING.

We know that you would be glad if you were sure that there existed in Sydney a Dressmaking Establishment which thoroughly understood the art of designing and making a gown. If, in addition to this, you were sure that this establishment charged far less than is usual for this class of work you would be pleased indeed.

This is our assurance that the Dressmaking Department of the Model Store can claim this distinction.

Will you give us an opportunity of proving these things?

HOUSE FURNISHINGS.

The basement of the new Francis-street building is ready for those who are preparing for their Spring Cleaning. The latest goods have been opened, and make a bright and cheerful display.

SKIN AND BLOOD DISEASES.

If you suffer from any disease due to an impure state of the Blood, from whatever cause arising, you should test the value of Clarke's Blood Mixture, the World-famed Blood Purifier and Restorer. This medicine has FORTY YEARS' REPUTATION, and is to-day more popular than ever, the reason for this being undoubtedly because this Wonderful Remedy does what it professes to do—IT CURES SKIN AND BLOOD DISEASES PERMANENTLY.

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE

THE FINEST BLOOD PURIFIER AND RESTORER KNOWN.

It is warranted to cleanse the blood from all impurities, from whatever cause arising. In cases of SCROFULA, SCURVY, ECZEMA, ULCERS, BAD LEGS, SKIN and BLOOD DISEASES, BLOTCHES, SPOTS, BLACKHEADS, PIMPLES, and SORES of all kinds, its effects are marvellous.

It is the only real specific for GOUT and RHEUMATIC PAINS, for it removes the cause from the Blood and Bones.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Clarke's Blood Mixture is pleasant to the taste, and warranted free from anything injurious to the most delicate constitution of either sex, from infancy to old age, and the Proprietors solicit sufferers to give it a trial to test its value. Thousands of cures have been effected by it. We give below some recent proof of the wonderful curative powers of this splendid medicine.

ANOTHER PERMANENT CURE OF BAD LEGS AND ABSCESSES.

Mr. James Waring, of Clay Coton Lodge, near Rugby, writes:—"It is with great pleasure that I write to tell you of the benefit I have derived from taking 'Clarke's Blood Mixture.' For a long time I suffered with bad legs and abscesses. I was under a doctor for five months, and, not getting much better, I went as an out-patient to the local hospital for nine weeks. The doctor then told me I should have to go inside before he could do anything for me. I went in, and stayed for 13 weeks, and after undergoing two operations I got a little better. Before I had been out of hospital a week I became worse than ever, so my wife told me to try 'Clarke's Blood Mixture.' I did so, and after taking five bottles and using four pots of your salve I was completely cured. I have waited 12 months to see if my legs broke out again, but, thanks to your 'Clarke's World-famed Blood Mixture,' I am as well to-day as I have ever been in my life. You can make whatever use you like of this letter."—Oct. 15, 1903. The Editor of the "Family Doctor" says:—"We have seen hosts of letters in which the writers acknowledge the benefit they have received from Clarke's wonderful Blood Mixture, which as a curative agent cannot be too highly estimated. If the blood is diseased the body is diseased. Clarke's Blood Mixture is a medicine of the greatest possible value, and it is certainly the finest blood purifier that science and skill have brought to light. We can with the utmost confidence recommend it to our subscribers and the public generally."—The "Family Doctor," 16th July, 1892.

ECZEMA AND IRRITATING SKIN TROUBLE CURED.

Mr. W. G. Weston, care of Messrs. Knott, of 49 Essex-street, Kingsland-road, N.E., writes:—"Gentlemen,—I feel it my duty to inform you of the great benefit in health I have received through taking your famous 'Clarke's Blood Mixture.' I have been a sufferer from Eczema and an irritating skin trouble since the age of 13. While an out-patient at one of the big London hospitals a doctor informed me that my disease was the result of looking after foreign horses. I have had as many as 30 horses under my care, my father being a horse dealer and jobmaster. He (my father) was speaking one day to a friend of mine, who mentioned that he was being cured of an ulcerated leg, due to a horse kick, by 'Clarke's Blood Mixture.' I continued, however, to suffer until April 4 last, when my friend told me he was completely cured. Then I started to take 'Clarke's Blood Mixture' myself, and I am now completely cured, after suffering and being disfigured for several years. I am able to follow my employment, and am very pleased to think there is such a valuable remedy obtainable for such a small sum. I should be pleased to answer any inquiries concerning my case."—July 17, 1903.

For cleansing and clearing the Blood from all impurities CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE cannot be too highly recommended. Remember, this Wonderful Medicine will permanently cure

ECZEMA, BOILS, GLANDULAR SWELLINGS, SCROFULA, ERUPTIONS, BLOOD POISON, OLD AND RECENT SORES, BAD LEGS
AND ALL OTHER SKIN AND BLOOD DISEASES.

IT CLEARS THE BLOOD FROM ALL IMPURE MATTER, FROM WHATEVER CAUSE ARISING.

NINE-TENTHS OF THE ILLS WHICH HUMANITY ENDURES WITH MORE OR LESS PATIENCE, ARE UNNECESSARY ILLS.

For instance:—
RHEUMATISM, GOUT, NEURALGIA, LUMBAGO, SCIATICA, BLOOD DISORDERS, ANAEMIA, INDIGESTION, BILIOUSNESS, JAUNDICE, BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, STONE, BLADDER TROUBLES, GENERAL DEBILITY, SICK HEADACHE

are readily curable. One and all arise from the failure of the

to efficiently perform their functions. These important organs, when acting healthily, deal with and remove from the system the poisonous matter which causes the disorders.

The KIDNEYS filter and extract from the blood about three pints of urine every day. In this quantity of urine are dissolved about an ounce of urea, ten to twelve grains in weight of uric acid, together with other animal and mineral matter varying from a third of an ounce to nearly an ounce. When the kidneys are in health, all this solid matter is in solution and is invisible. Directly the kidneys, through either weakness or disease, become unfit to do their duty properly, a proportion of this solid matter remains in the blood, becomes actively poisonous, and causes us to suffer from uric disorders such as RHEUMATISM, GOUT, NEURALGIA, LUMBAGO, BACKACHE, SCIATICA, GRAVEL, STONE, BLADDER TROUBLES, and BRIGHT'S DISEASE. A simple test to make as to the condition of the kidneys is to place the morning urine in a covered glass, and let it stand until next morning. If it is then cloudy, or there is brickdust-like sediment, or if particles float about in it, or it is of an unnatural colour, the kidneys are not healthy, and no time must be lost in adopting remedial measures, or Bright's Disease, Diabetes, or some less serious but more painful illness will result.

The LIVER.—In the liver various substances are actually made from the blood. Two or three pounds of bile are thus made from the blood every day. The liver takes sugar from the blood, converts it into another form, and stores it up so as to be able to again supply it to the blood, gradually, as the latter requires enrichment. The liver changes uric acid, which is insoluble, into urea, which is completely soluble, and the liver also deals with blood corpuscles which have lived their life and are useful no longer. When the liver is inactive or diseased we suffer from INDIGESTION, BILIOUSNESS, ANAEMIA, SICK HEADACHE, and BLOOD DISORDERS.

The health of the liver and of the kidneys is so closely connected that it is almost impossible for the kidneys to be affected, and the liver to remain healthy, or vice versa.

It is nearly thirty years since scientific research directed specially to disease of the Kidneys and Liver was rewarded by the discovery of the medicine now known throughout the world as

WARNER'S SAFE CURE.

It was realised, at the outset of the investigation, that it was necessary to find a curative agent which would act equally upon the kidneys and upon the liver, these organs being so immediately associated in the work of dealing with the body's waste material, and after many disappointments the medicine which possessed the required action in the fullest degree was at length discovered. WARNER'S SAFE CURE CURES ALL DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS AND LIVER, and, by restoring their activity, these vital organs are enabled to rid the body, through the natural channels, of the urinary and biliary poisons, the presence of which in the system, is the cause of Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Backache, Sciatica, Blood Disorders, Anaemia, Indigestion, Biliousness, Jaundice, Sick Headache, Gravel, Stone, Bladder Troubles, and General Debility. Warner's Safe Cure cures all these disorders, simply by removing the cause of the disorder. This is the reason why cures effected by Warner's Safe Cure are permanent cures.

FARM AND STATION.

TEMORA AND DISTRICT.

WHEAT AND SHEEP.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS.

Until Temora got its railway a few years ago wheat had to go 34 miles by road to Cootamundra. The cost was 2s a bag, and despite that tax wheat-growing was paying well. Many of those who came in here from outside were accustomed to high-priced country, little better and often not as good as what they obtained about Temora for a song; and so they were ready to pay a little extra in freights. It is curious to note the constant shifting of settlers as their purses and ambition grow. Victorians and South Australians came here for wider and cheaper areas than those they left behind. They got a footing only because the original selectors, tempted by a price high above what was paid by them to the Government, saw their way to selling out, and securing wider and cheaper areas a little further west, or in other districts. Several of these original holders are said to have pushed out about Wyalong, and again selected, satisfied with the result of their first venture at Temora. Of the men who came here to grow wheat a few have failed, but most appear to have prospered exceedingly. One hears of numerous instances of farmers having commenced a few years ago on a few hundred acres, and since increased their holdings three and four fold. Mr. Lou Semmler is among this successful contingent. He came here from South Australia about 14 years ago, and purchased 320 acres about 10 miles from town. To-day he owns nearly 2000 acres, of which 1100 are under wheat, and runs about 1000 sheep. He speaks of the extended opportunities offered by such districts as this to South Australian farmers, who are hampered by high values and small areas. Land similar in productivity to that worth £3 an acre here would, in South Australia, he says, bring up to £12. Mr. Semmler has two or three brothers on farms here, and most of the South Australians appear to have been neighbours or friends prior to reaching Temora. The success of the new-comers attracted others, and the current has continued to swell, last year's batch being the most numerous on record.

CLEARING AND CROPPING.

When agriculture began here men did a lot of picking out, as there was a strong belief that large areas were unsuited for cultivation. But experience has shown that although land varies considerably from light sandy pebbly stuff to white clay, and runs at mixed depths from a few inches to as much as 18 inches, there is no great difference in cropping value. It all has clay subsoil, and perhaps this explains why the light gritty formation holds its own so well, as the fine surface conserves the moisture. To reduce land in its natural state to a condition for cultivation costs about 20s per acre extended over a few years. About the staying powers of land there is always a wide difference of opinion. A very careful observer on most points of interest to the wheatgrower is Mr. W. De Little, who manages Temora Station for Mr. J. C. Syme. As already mentioned, the greater part of the station has been sold to farmers, but about 5000 acres still remain, and this is nearly all under wheat. Mr. De Little is one of the excellent school, unfortunately too rare, which keeps the closest records of all operations, and as he has been for years engaged in useful experiments he is full of very interesting information about his district and its capabilities. He thinks this land will grow as many as five successive crops after breaking up without manure. In 1889 the area under wheat on Temora was confined to 20 acres. Sheep had the run to themselves. To-day the sheep have been reduced to 500, and wheat shows up on all sides. The manager believes in sowing between April 1 and May 14, and thinks that if men about here would stick to those dates they would raise the average yield for the district. He has known a crop of six bags result from June seeding, but to sow so late is precarious, and usually means failure. The district's average is close to 12 bushels to the acre.

SOME GOOD FIGURES.

Mr. De Little has recently prepared a table showing the results of wheat-growing on the estate for the past 10 years. During that time the area under wheat has varied between 700 and 5000 acres. The net return per acre for this period has been 10s 5d, which makes allowance for every expense from the beginning of ploughing to the delivery of the grain to the buyer. The average price at Temora has been 3s, the average yield 10 5-9 bushels, and the average rainfall 15.61in. There is nothing remarkable about these figures. The rainfall is more than 4 inches below the average for the past 25 years, but despite that, and its effect on the yield, particularly during 1898 and 1902, Mr. De Little is emphatic that the returns have been well ahead of those obtainable under ordinary conditions from sheep. In 1902 there was a loss of a penny per acre on the area cropped, and in 1898 a loss of 2s 5d per acre, if only wheat returns are taken into consideration. In both of those years, however, sheep were turned on to the wheat crops in order to prevent losses. In 1902 the wheat crop carried 10,200 head for a considerable time, and even then went within a penny an acre of paying its way when harvested. It paid better, says Mr. De Little, to risk the sacrifice of a crop that cost 10s an acre than to land feed at the rate of £1 per head on bought fodder. The manager of Temora has carried out experiments with various sorts of manures for wheat, and like most others, he found nothing so good as superphosphates. He had 20 plots of an acre each under different manures, and quantities. His opinion is that 56lb of superphosphates to the acre is a most profitable dressing for wheat. Bone-dust, sulphate of potash, and nitrates had very little or no effect. Exhaustive soil analyses have shown him that gritty country with gravel in it is richer for wheats than heavier stuff, and this is confirmed by harvest returns.

THREE YEARS ROTATION.

But while Mr. De Little advocates manuring, he believes that by a simple system of fallow, artificial fertilisation can be dispensed with, and the average of the district raised from less than 12 bushels to 16 bushels per acre. He advocates keeping one-third of cultivated land under fallow, and in ploughing only once in three years. He would plough well, say 5 inches for fallow, and use the double disc freely before cropping. The following year, when the second and successive crop goes in, he would disc only, and on the third year fallow again. About the success of this method, now so much in favour in Victoria, South Australia, and elsewhere, although many men there plough again on the second year, he has no doubt. As an example of the good results of fallow, he instances the crops of 1902, when 10,200 sheep were placed in the wheat paddocks, and got most of their living from the crops on the land ploughed, and spelled on the previous year. On Temora the quantity of seed used varies from 23lb to 40lb to the acre. It is always graded. The cost of cropping a 16-bushel crop from plough to railway, the manager places at about 16s per acre, made up of:—Ploughing 5s, 6s; double disc, 1s; drilling, 1s; seed, 1s 9d; stripping and winnowing, 3s; bags, 2s; and cartage to station, from say 10 miles out, 1s 6d. Probably more cultivation would be necessary, such as harrowing after the drill, but the total is considered pretty close to the mark.

WHEAT FOR SHEEP.

An experiment in wheat and sheep that will attract a lot of attention is to be made at Temora next year. "I believe," says Mr. De Little, "that it will pay to grow wheat for fattening sheep, and next season I intend to give the idea a good trial. The scheme was suggested during the drought in 1902. Among thousands of sheep then turned on to the wheat to keep them alive were 500 wethers. They were picked over before going on to the crop, and only 30 were then fit for the local butcher, who took them at 12s 6d a head. The balance would then have weighed 30lb. They were four-tooth wethers. After six weeks on the young wheat crop they were sent to Sydney and sold as fats at from 18s to 22s a head. I had advices from the butchers who bought them that they killed at 42lb, which was a gain of 12lb a head, or 2lb a week. I propose next year to sow 100 acres of wheat early in March, and to secure 1000 wethers, which will go on in relays of about 330, the first lot during May. These sheep should cost as stores about 10s 6d to buy, and another 2s to send to Sydney as fats. The crop will go into stubble land with cultivators at a cost of say 3s 9d per acre, as I shall sow thin, and not the very best seed. Estimating that 10 sheep can be fattened to the acre, the total cost per head will be about 13s. Say they fetch 19s as fats, there would be a very handsome margin." As an instance of a wheat crop's carrying capacity, it may be mentioned that 60 acres of forward crop on Temora has been feeding 500 sheep for the past five weeks. Rape has been tried, but wheat is considered superior for feeding.

About the district are many men whose well-improved properties and advanced farming attract attention. There are Mr. W. J. Cartwright, president of the P. A. and H. Society, who mixes wheat and sheep in a big way; Mr. H. Kavanagh, a well-known merino breeder, who also goes in for wheat; Messrs. O'Keefe, David Nixon, J. Brett, E. D. Donkin, Krause, Ruschen, and Mangelsdorf, and several others. It is here that six farmers are this year carrying out under the auspices of the Agricultural Department an extensive series of wheat and manure experiments, and the interest being taken in the scheme speaks well for the prospects of up-to-date farming.

A PLEA FOR THE OLD HORSE.

The committees of agricultural societies are continually casting about for new classes which would add interest to the shows. At the same time very hard and fast boundaries are adhered to, and it is regarded as being unorthodox to introduce anything which would represent an infringement of these. A notable instance is found in the usual schedules for horses. Every horse over three years and under four is placed on exactly the same footing in regard to age, while all horses below that are strictly kept in their respective ages. Generally speaking the drop is to horses under three, and all over three are regarded as meeting on level terms. No doubt the basis of the practice lies in the established idea that horses over three years may be regarded as being mature animals, and as those under six have youth on their side they may be said to be fairly treated. On the other hand the good old horse which is somewhat the worse for wear has no reasonable chance of being recognised in a prize list unless he be very superior to the other competitors. The judge is practically bound to award the prizes to the most valuable, that is to say the most saleable, animals, and the old horse, however well he may have borne his years, must necessarily be placed at a disadvantage. While this is the judgment of the show-ring it would go very hard with the users of horses and horsemen generally if they were compelled to adopt it in practice, and discard the good old horse for a younger as soon as the former began to appear at a disadvantage. It would be difficult to arrive at an estimate of the proportion of horses over 10 years old which are rendering excellent service to their owners. As a matter of fact a large percentage of the animals in work, most highly esteemed by those who work them, are the reliable elderly slaves who are never known to shirk any reasonable task, and they are kept at it until horseflesh and bone can stand the strain no longer. Naturally these are the very best of all the horses bred, since only sound, good-constitutioned stock lasts to a great age and is still useful. This being the position of the old horse, there is surely no reason why the agricultural societies should not recognise its merit and grit by establishing classes for horses over a certain age, say, 10 years. Proof of age would probably be a difficult matter, but the societies are compelled to rely upon the word or the declaration of exhibitors in more serious cases. If such classes could be introduced they would certainly add an attractive feature to the horse section of the shows, and the public generally would be very much enlightened as to the usefulness of animals which, according to accepted horse doctrine, would be considered to have outlived their usefulness. The subject is very interesting to people who have watched certain horses grow into years, and have wondered when the end would come through a merciful despatch or death from actual old age. Horses have been known to be at work when considerably over 30 years, but no authentic record of the oldest horse which has served between the shafts or under the saddle has been preserved. Mr. Hindmarsh, of the Kiama district, has a pony stallion reputed to be 35 years old, which would still be working but that its leg was broken some two years ago. That the bone set and the pony is active now is a tribute to the wonderful vitality of the equine. The broken leg recalls the existence of a stallion which did stud duty on the Hawkesbury for many years. This horse broke a foreleg, and the limb was amputated. With a wooden stump strapped on, the stallion was able to walk about the yard, and was the sire of many useful horses produced after he lost his leg. Classes have been included for the oldest horse, but this is, of course, as foolish as the award for the worst turnout, which was actually included in the list for several shows. Classes for the hack, buggy horse, pony, and draught horse over 10 years would bring out examples of the best of old horses, while a prize for the oldest would result in a display of cripples and infirm animals, which would have age only to recommend them to the notice of a judge.

THE WOOL TRADE.

A DULL TIME.

There has been very little movement in the Sydney market during the week, so far as actual transactions are concerned. Wool is arriving in moderate quantities from the early shearing districts of this State, and there are lines of both greasy and scoured forward from Queensland. These wools, however, are being held for the next auctions, which will be the last of the monthly series, to be held on or about the 15th inst. Skin wools, which are available for sale by private treaty, are not moving off freely; buyers are adopting a "stand-off" attitude, doubtless in the hope that abstention from operating at the present time will result in the acceptance of values on a much lower basis than last year for the ensuing clip. This year's increase has been magnified out of all proportion to the demand, and made the basis of a bear movement that is not warranted by the state of trade in manufacturing centres. A couple of months ago, when the Australasian clip loomed up, the export figures from the River Plate showed a material increase in South American wools for the present statistical year. But later returns indicate that by the close of the River Plate statistical year, which is September 30 next, the increase will merge into a slight decrease. Figures bearing upon this subject were published in the "Herald" on Monday last, and still later ones are dealt with in an accompanying paragraph.

THE DON'T-BUY ATTITUDE.

The woolgrowers and woolselling brokers of this State see clearly enough the world's wool position, and therefore are not disposed to accept any hysterical fall in values. There can be no doubt about the fact that the woolgrowers of this and the adjoining States are sanguine that this year's wool clip will be realised at no very marked decline on last year's values. Even if the present "don't-buy" attitude of buyers is maintained at the forthcoming sales, it does not follow that sellers must accept present rates and acquiesce in fixing a much lower level for the season. As the clip comes forward and the three sections of buyers find the selling side willing to meet them on a fair basis, it is probable that this season's wool will move off at an improvement on present reduced rates. If stocks were heavy anywhere, or if trade in woollen fabrics was so slack that what wool is in sight is not wanted, then the position would indeed be bad, and much as woolgrowers disliked the situation, they would have to accept it. But it is not so; trade is distinctly good, and manufacturers must secure supplies to keep their mills going. There will be sales in Sydney within the next 12 days, when moderate catalogues will be presented. A little new clip wool is being received in Melbourne, but no sales are as yet arranged, except for the opening of the regular season at that centre. The next London series is not held till September 25, and our own weekly selling season does not open until October 2 next. Hence it can be seen that it will be some little while yet before the trade is invited to lift any very considerable quantity of Australian wool.

A LONDON ESTIMATE OF THE INCREASE.

So far as English manufacturers are concerned, it is quite evident that supplies are needed for immediate use. Writing, London, June 29 last, on that aspect of the situation, Messrs. Willans and Overbury say that they are informed on "excellent authority that in spite of increased clips stocks everywhere are light, and that no attempt has been made by the trade at present to go in for a policy of replenishment. Consumption during the last six months has been exceptionally heavy, more especially throughout Yorkshire, and that the whole of the past season's wools have been absorbed without the least difficulty. Under these circumstances, it is reasonable to conclude that the trade are, or will be, quite ready for the new clip when it comes forward." That statement would seem to have been made in view of this season's increase. They set out by remarking that this season's clip in bales will be the largest yet recorded. That may be so, but so far as this State is concerned, the number of sheep and lambs returned for this year is not so high as in 1896, when the figures stood at 48,200,000. It is estimated by the Stock Branch that at the close of this calendar year the number of sheep and lambs in New South Wales will not exceed 45,000,000 to 46,000,000. Shearing contractors make higher estimates, but those figures are from official returns.

THE FORCES AT WORK.

Touching upon the prospects of values, with their estimated record clip in view, the aforementioned firm remarks that:—"It is very certain that a great effort will be made to 'bear' the market prior to the opening of the Australian selling season, and such influence will have to be carefully watched in your markets. For those who desire to buy in Australia a policy of caution is advisable, but considering the eagerness of many growers to accept prices (to them satisfactory when compared with the average level) chances will certainly occur during heavy offerings of securing wool on favourable terms. Many houses will refuse to buy ahead at anything like present London parity, preferring to take the smaller risk of purchasing later on in this market. The fear that there will be insufficient wool for requirements during the coming 12 months should scarcely exist when the new clip begins to be marked. But it would be well to remember the 'bareness' of the land as regards stocks, and not dwell too much on production. Some irregularity has been noticeable in Bradford lately, both in fine and coarse wools, but too much importance need not be attached to this, as at present rates the trade is doing as little business as possible."

SHEARING GOING SATISFACTORILY.

Shearing is now in progress in the west and north-west portions of this State, and has started on the Lachlan and Murrumbidgee. Everything in connection with the work is satisfactory. There have been a few light rains in the country, but not sufficient to materially interfere with shearing or machining the sheep. At Balarang, where there was a strike, the trouble has been surmounted by the Machine Shearers' Union engaging to put the flock through, about 40,000, by contract; 11 shearers were to set out for the station yesterday by coach upon the arrival of the train. There is no shortage of shearers at the early sheds; and the promises are fairly good for the season. As the contract system extends there is a tendency for shearing to become a continuous occupation for good men. When the late sheds are cut out in New South Wales the early districts in Queensland are about ready to start.

WOOLS THAT SHOULD COME TO SYDNEY.

With the advent of shearing in the south-western districts comes the necessity for a few words upon the loss to this port of a large portion of the south-western wool. There was some excuse for the diversion to Victoria of south-western wools prior to the construction of the Hay to Junee railway branch line; but none whatever since that line has been opened. When the construction of that line was agitated for, promises galore were made of the trade that would flow to Sydney from the country served by the railway; and now is the time for some of the promises to be fulfilled. Naturally, the feeling is, that as this State has borne the expense of constructing the line benefits commensurate with the outlay should be enjoyed by New South Wales. That is to say, that as the line affords facilities to pastoralists to sell or ship their wool at or from Sydney at rates equally as profitably as Melbourne they should in fairness do so. It has previously been pointed out in these columns that, taking the question of insurance and selling commission rates into account with carriage and railway rates, in most cases, it will be found to be cheaper to send the wool to Sydney than elsewhere. There need be no alteration of existing rates; and as to the advantages of Sydney as a selling or shipping centre they speak most eloquently for themselves. This claim on behalf of Sydney is no anti-federal one, and it is to be hoped that the pastoralists and other station owners in south-western New South Wales who are benefited by improved railway facilities should be patriotic enough to sell in or ship from their own State port.

BRADFORD TOP MARKET.

According to our cable message of yesterday's date there was a better inquiry on the Bradford top market for merinos, but the quotations were lower for super sixties and common sixties by ½d per lb; other descriptions were without quotable change. During the corresponding week last year the market was very firm, and super sixties (merino) improved ½d per lb; other descriptions were without quotable change, but in good demand. Our usual table of quotations is as follows:—

	August 3, 1906.	July 27, 1906.	August 4, 1905.
Super 60's (merino)	27	27½	26
Common 60's (merino)	26	26½	25
Forty-sixes (med. xbd.)	19	19	17½
Forties (coarse xbd)	18	18	15½

RIVER PLATE EXPORTS.

According to the latest news from Buenos Ayres the River Plate clip had practically all been disposed of at the date of writing, June 15 last. What stocks were on hand in the central market was of the poorest quality. The statistics show that the wool exports from Argentina and Uruguay from October 1, 1905, to June 14, 1906, with comparison of the previous year, are as follow:—

Country.	Bales. 1906.	Bales. 1905.
Argentine	397,264	388,182
Uruguay	74,784	58,819
	472,048	447,001

From which it may be seen that the increase so far is 25,047 bales. In the figures published on Monday, which were up to May 31 last, the increase was 15,596 bales. In April the increase was 51,501 bales, thus showing a most material decline; and as the clips from both countries have practically all been shipped, the close of the statistical year will probably show a slight decrease. Only a small proportion of the exports has gone to the United Kingdom and the United States. The bulk has been bought on Continental account.

AUSTRALASIAN WOOL EXPORTS.

The following table of exports for July, compiled by Dalgety and Co., Limited, estimating those from Western Australia, is as follows:—

AUSTRALASIAN WOOL EXPORTS.

Decrease, 81 bales.

SYDNEY WOOL STATISTICS.

Upwards of 284 bales of wool were manifested to arrive at Darling Harbour yesterday, as compared with 79 bales on the corresponding day last year. The arrivals to date by rail and boat, and comparisons with last season, are as follow:—

SYDNEY WOOL SHIPMENTS.

Only two vessels have cleared the Customs since last report, one steamer taking 39 bales and the other 724, as compared with two vessels for the corresponding week last year with a total of 2518 bales. The vessels and quantities for the week and usual comparisons are as follow:—

	Bales.
Carpentaria, July 27, for London	39
Oruba, July 28, for London	724

POTATOES AT SCHOOL FARMS.

Mr. J. A. Brown, of the Public school, Tooth-dale, Candelo, writes:—Some time ago I reported in your columns a trial given here at my school experimental farm of the Northern and Southern Star potatoes. Since that report we have again tested the two varieties with an autumn crop, the seed sown being saved from the spring-sown crop, which was harvested in February last. We sowed the autumn crop on March 3 last, manuring both from our compost heap. Both varieties came up strongly and grew well, the Southern Star always looking the better of the two, exhibiting stronger growth throughout. Under my supervision my pupils harvested this crop, and weighed the potatoes last Friday, 27th ult., the result being the Southern Star averaged 22lb per row and the Northern Star 15lb per row. Both varieties received equal treatment throughout. The tubers sown were as near alike in size as could be had, and the same numbers placed in each row. I am fully satisfied that the Southern Star, in this locality at any rate, is far ahead of its rival, the Northern Star. This latter potato produced about 70 per cent. of unmarketable potatoes, while the Southern Star produced fully 90 per cent. of marketable ones.

THE WINE INDUSTRY.

Mr. Robert H. Caldwell, Wagga, writes:—Following up the correspondence that has been appearing in your columns on the above subject, I am strongly of opinion that a conference of wine-growers and others interested in the industry could formulate some permanent scheme for uplifting the industry out of the slough of despair into which it seems to have sunk. My ideas on the subject are briefly as follow:—All associations at present existing should be merged into one powerful union, to be called, say, "The Wine-growers' Union of N.S.W.," somewhat on the lines of the Farmers and Settlers' Association. The work of calling together this conference could in the first place be undertaken by the N.S.W. Wine Association. Each district could have its branch of this union, and select its delegates for the annual conference. Among the matters which this union should deal with are the following:—

1. The legislation of the States, especially in matters affecting the industry, such as—(a) The licensing laws; (b) Wine or Food Adulteration Acts; (c) Insects Pests Acts.
2. Advise the Agricultural Department as to the most useful direction in which to employ the services of the wine expert and his officers.
3. Extension of the wine trade with the East and other countries through the medium of the Commercial Agents.
4. Uniform system of judging at shows.
5. Registration of wine judges.

There would of course arise from time to time other important matters for the consideration of the annual conferences, and no doubt many of your readers can suggest other equally important matters for debate at the initial conference.

STOCK BOARDS.

COOMA.—At the monthly meeting of the Pastures Protection Board on Friday Mr. William Cosgrove presided. The Chief Inspector of Stock wrote, stating in reference to the claim of Mr. Merrett for travelling expenses for board members, that there appeared to be no ground for questioning the legality of regulation 6A, and Mr. Merrett was entitled to claim payment in accordance with the regulations. The board resolved to protest against payment of the 20 per cent. claimed by the Government towards liquidating the old debit balance on the sheep account at the Treasury. Inspector Blomfield's monthly report showed that the pastures were in fair to good condition. Though scarce on some holdings, the water supply generally was good. Stock were fairly good, being poor in some places. There was a very noticeable difference in the number of grown rabbits to be seen, but they were breeding very fast, and unless active poisoning operations were continued would soon be as numerous as ever. One case of trespassing on a reserve was reported, and on one holding unsatisfactory attempts at suppression of rabbits were carried on. Rabbits there were very numerous. The board decided to invite applications from district landholders as to the quantity of wire netting they required.

MORUYA.—The Broulee Pastures Protection Board met on Tuesday afternoon. It was resolved,—"That this board is of opinion that where the owners of abutting reserves and unoccupied Crown lands desire to erect rabbit-proof fencing the Government should assist by paying half the cost; and after hearing the opinions of Messrs. Maher and Inspector Benson (district surveyor), it considers the whole scheme of fencing Crown land impracticable, and out of proportion to the benefits to be derived." In reference to a circular from the Department of Lands it was recommended that the Mount Dromedary Reserve should be thrown open to occupation, and a similar recommendation was made in respect of two timber reserves in the locality of Wagonga River. The Coonabarabran board suggested that a levy should be made on stock to raise funds for carrying out Dr. Danysz's experiments. This proposal was strongly protested against by the board. A bonus on wallaby scalps of 2d a scalp was agreed to.

DAIRYING.

FORBES.—The dairying industry in the Forbes district has been making rapid strides of late, and everything points to a prosperous future. The report just issued by the inspector of dairies shows that there are some 300 cows being milked among 14 dairies, two new dairies also having been registered during the quarter. Generally speaking, the report states the condition of the dairies is fairly satisfactory, a considerable improvement having been noticeable within the past 12 months.

DISTRICT ITEMS.

HENTY.—The show committee has accepted tenders for fencing in the show ground. Workings bees formed by farmers and townspeople are engaged clearing the ground, and expect to have it ready for holding the show next month. A bazaar is to be hld during show week in aid of the funds.

WELLINGTON.—The rabbit industry in this district is now in a dire slump. Some time ago the rabbit merchant was a power in the land, but as the prices for skins have dropped and the rabbits have been thinned out, the business is by no means brisk, and does not tempt men to go rabbiting. The consequence is that farm labour is not now at such a premium.

STOCK MOVEMENTS.

FORBES.—500 sheep, Lake Cowal to Homebush, Low, owner; 330 head cattle, Oberon to New Park, Keenan; 1400 sheep, Keevan's Bridge to Condobolin, Thomas Brothers; 7000 ewes, Brewarrina to Hillston, Carr.

MRS. CARROLL, A PIONEER.

SHE TELLS OF HER REMARKABLE CURE OF INDIGESTION BY USING A HOUSEHOLD REMEDY.

Mrs. Ann Carroll, of Waverley House, 403 Ann-street, Brisbane, is one of the pioneers of Queensland, mother of a grown-up family, hard-working, cheerful, and as healthful in appearance as any woman of her years to be found in this Commonwealth. She hails from Ireland, but came to this country many years ago. Mrs. Carroll is well known and appreciated in Queensland, where she has successfully conducted restaurants at Maryborough, Bundaberg, and Brisbane. She is also one of the fortunate people who have been cured of chronic indigestion by using Mother Seigel's Syrup.

Writing on 3rd June, 1905, Mrs. Carroll says:—"For a long period the state of my health occasioned me great anxiety. Chronic indigestion caused me dreadful pains in the back, chest, and stomach. The constant strain wore me down, and I became miserable and dejected. Doctors' medicines and advertised remedies were alike in failing to afford me any relief. Such was my condition in 1893.

"In that year I was living in South Brisbane, near the Victoria Bridge, when the great flood occurred. The flood, it will be remembered, swept away the Victoria Bridge. My house was flooded up to the second story, and all my furniture and household effects either destroyed outright or badly damaged. After the water had subsided, my family and I had a hard task in clearing away the foul-smelling mud and debris. In consequence, my complaint was so much increased that my condition became really serious. About this time I chanced to read a pamphlet which described some cases resembling my own that had been cured by Mother Seigel's Syrup. I was so much impressed by what I read that I resolved to try if that medicine would benefit me at all. After taking one bottle I had no doubt whatever about the matter, for I felt better in every way.

"I continued to take the Syrup, and was soon rewarded by increased appetite and the power to digest food naturally, without pain. My strength gradually returned and finally my cure was complete, the entire process taking some eight or nine months. During the past ten years there have been occasional slight returns of my complaint, but a few doses of Mother Seigel's Syrup never fails to promptly put me right again. The more serious symptoms of indigestion, such as severe pain in the back and chest, never trouble me now."—Advt.

Messrs. Mason, Struthers, and Co., Ltd., the New Zealand agents of the "Alfa-Laval" cream separators, have just received word from the manufacturers, the Aktiebolaget Separator, Stockholm, that they have taken up the manufacture of a new milking machine, invented by a Mr. Ljungstrom, a Swedish engineer. This machine is said to be a hydraulic hand milking machine, which can also be fitted for machine power, but it works according to different principles to those at present on the market. Protracted trials in Sweden have had very favourable results, we are told. The reputation which the Aktiebolaget Separator Company rightly enjoys in all dairying countries seems to us to vouch for the excellent qualities of the new milking machine which the company intends to place on the world's market.—Advt.

SCIENCE NOTES.

W. G. P.

RONTGEN RAYS IN SURGERY.

It was only in the December of 1895 that Rontgen read his first paper announcing the discovery which enables one to see through a brick wall, or view composedly the mysterious happenings of one's own inside. Yet nowadays the life of the old-time surgeon, always groping in the dark, seems a nightmare to the specialist, and a whole library of literature dealing with the application of the rays to surgery and therapeutics has grown up. Seldom has a more revolutionary secret been placed in the hands of science; for the rays enable an accurate diagnosis of such things as fractures, dislocations, and the presence of foreign bodies to be made in nearly every case, and they have, in addition, proved to have curative properties in the treatment of several forms of disease. In the early days of the rays they had a considerable drawback—that long exposure was needed, and a peculiar affection of the skin—an X-ray burn—was the result. Although nothing is felt at the time the effects of such a burn develop in about ten days, and are decidedly unpleasant. This accident is now seldom to be feared. A good skiagraph for diagnosis can be taken in less than ten minutes, and in cases of long exposure for curative purposes care is taken to protect all but the parts needing treatment. One of the more recent developments is stereoscopic radiography. Two graphs are taken by displacing the anode to right and left of the centre respectively, which, when viewed in a special stereoscope, make the picture stand out in relief, and thus show, for instance, the actual relation in space between the ends of a fracture.

It has been placed beyond doubt that the rays have a marked curative action. Closely allied in principle was the treatment by ultra-violet light, introduced by Finsen, but it is the opinion of experts that the Finsen light has no marked advantage over the X-rays, and many are therefore returning to the use of the simple X-ray apparatus. In the treatment of various unpleasant ailments, ulcerous growths, and the various forms of cancer, the rays have a good effect. After a good deal of argument it has been concluded that they have no marked effect on bacteria, at least directly. A culture of bacteria is not killed by the rays. On the other hand, in living tissue the growth of many bacteria is retarded. Under the increased activity due to the stimulus of the rays the cells of the tissue probably themselves destroy the bacteria; this being a business that special cells always have in hand, though sometimes they prove unequal to the task.

STARS AND SPACE.

Mr. J. Ellard Gore, who can always find something fresh and interesting to say when writing on astronomical subjects, recalls some curious facts about 'the distribution of the stars. It is a common mistake to suppose that the number of the stars borders on infinity. Actually only a few thousand are big and bright enough to be seen by the naked eye. Even the best photographic chart of the visible universe—that universe that the cunning of the telescope and the sensitive plate conspire to see—will not show more than 100,000,000. Now, a hundred million is a large number, but it is very far from infinity, and, relatively, we may make it look even small. To use Mr. Gore's comparisons, the richest man in the world is said to have as many sovereigns; a ten-acre field of ripe oats will yield more separate grains; and for every star in the sky there are reckoned to be 15 human beings on this little fragment of an earth of ours. Perhaps a more striking example might have been chosen from physics. From consideration of the film of a soap bubble Lord Kelvin calculated it would contain two hundred million molecules in the length of an inch; or a cubic centimetre of water—say, a large spoonful—would have a number of molecules expressed by 10 raised to the 24th power. Closer approximations have been made now, but figures convey little to the mind. The thinnest line visible in a high-power microscope would need about three hundred molecules to stretch across it. Each of these molecules is made up of two or more atoms, and each atom is made up of at least 1000 electrons. The ultimate units of the smallest sparkling diamond, therefore, far outnumber the whole concourse of the stars.

Over what space do the stars extend? We want to understand first what we mean by the word universe. We can imagine no assignable limit to space, and there may be collections of stars separated from our own by unimaginable distances; so far away that they must for ever remain unknown to us. We may think if we like of space as of an infinite ocean, dotted with islands, each far out of sight of each, and each a universe. But the hundred million bodies of our star-chart hang together, and form some kind of congruent whole enclosed within a space at the least to be guessed at, and a space, again, however large, only a fragment of infinity. For a measuring rod we must use the distance light travels in a year. It goes some 186,000 miles in a second, so you can work out the length of the rod. Now, it must be supposed that the stars are mixed up promiscuously, big and little, with a great preponderance of the little ones, Kapteyn having calculated that out of any 15,000,000 more than 12,000,000 would be smaller than our sun. But since there is no reason why the big ones should be bunched together relatively close to us, some of the faintest, it is reasonable to suppose are really as big as the biggest. If we do suppose this we can easily calculate how far away we should have to place, say, Sirius or the sun, to make these as faint and feeble as the far-away stars. To reduce the sun to the limit of visibility you would have to take him 12,500 light years away, instead of keeping him at a distance of rather over eight minutes. And to do the same with Sirius, besides whom the sun is a pigmy, you would have to take him 23,000 light years away. That gives a possible upward limit to the extent of our universe. But the bulk of it is very much nearer. The Milky Way totals about 50,000,000 stars, and their average distance is regarded as not more than 3000 light years. In fact, most stars down to the 12th magnitude come within this comparatively narrow limit. The evidence is not quite easy to interpret, but there seems to be a real thinning out of stars at this point, a few giant sentinels standing as outposts far beyond. And this, after all, is what we should expect, for all the insight of science goes to show that, whatever other universes may be, ours is a unity forged from the same stuff of being everywhere, and everywhere, in life and in death, working out the same incomprehensible drama of existence.

KOCH AND TUBERCULOSIS.

A recent "Lancet" prints the Nobel lecture on the present state of the fight against consumption, delivered by Robert Koch at Stockholm. That eminent man reminds us that a real knowledge of tuberculosis dates back no further than 20 years. At that time it was not known that the disease was due to a bacillus, and, with fatal consequences to all around, it was supposed not to be infectious. Being a bacteria disease, of course, it is infectious, but, fortunately, it happens that the channels of infection are limited, and only knowledge and care are needed to avoid the danger. So far as fighting the disease is concerned, Koch insists that the only infection one need trouble about is that from other human beings. Moreover, the disease is not dangerous to others in all its stages. The main lines of defence are, therefore, stated to be (1) a compulsory notification of the disease, which will enable the health authorities to determine the danger of the special case; (2) the isolation of cases in the dangerously infective stages; (3) treatment in sanatoria of cases not beyond cure. Professor Koch does not speak very hopefully of the past results obtained by sanatoria, but attributes the poorness of results to the term of treatment being too short or too long delayed; (4) the instruction and supervision in their homes of poor consumptives by means of dispensaries; it is to the crowded poor that the scourge is most terrible, and the risk greatest, but even here simple precautions and the removal of the most dangerous cases will reduce mortality enormously.

THE AGE OF THE EARTH.

The age of the earth is a subject of very considerable interest to us, but unfortunately opinions concerning it are somewhat contradictory. In particular the physicists and the geologists fail so far to agree. It is obvious that the calculations of both must be very inexact for many unknown conditions must be left out of the problem as stated by either. The estimate of the earth's age that has for many years held the field is that by Lord Kelvin, who, arguing from the rate of cooling, held that the earth must have been incandescent a hundred million years ago. By a similar method Kelvin investigated the age of the sun. The discovery of radium and its heat-emitting property, added to the possibility that similar radio-activity may have played a large part, throws considerable doubt on the value of the temperature gradient as a safe guide, and this classical estimate has perhaps to be reckoned with many other achievements of mathematicians which somehow fail to square with nature. We may in the light of these new factors be much older than Lord Kelvin estimated. Professor G. H. Darwin calculates that the moon separated from us 57,000,000 years ago. We must, of course, at that time have been still plastic; but here again the reasoning is abstrusely mathematical, and some important factor may have been overlooked. Tait and Newcomb, on much the same lines, reckon that water first appeared as such some 10,000,000 years ago; and if this was so, it would be a backward limit for the beginnings of life. This time, however, is too short for the geologists. We know that our great rivers will raise the level of a sedimentary deposit by about 1ft in 158 years. Now we have a total depth of sedimentary rocks which has been estimated at 177,200ft. If things have gone on much as they do now—and the cataclysmic theory of history is at a discount—these rocks took 28,000,000 years to make. Again, even if we have no absolute scale of measurement, we can estimate the relative length of each of the principal geologic ages. One writer, Professor Davis, represents the post-glacial period by 2in. The Tertiary must then occupy 10ft, the Triassic—the age of big reptiles—50ft, the coal beds 100ft, and the Middle Cambrian—where the trilobites appear—400. This, of course, is a mere plan to suggest the relative extent of these epochs. If, however, the scheme is trustworthy, and we could fix the date of the Ice age, then we could turn the feet and inches into years. Croll's theory of the Ice age, making it depend on the eccentricity of the orbit, has for some time been under a cloud, and the tendency is to bring the ice age closer up—up to within 8000 or 10,000 years. If that is so, the Triassic age came, on Professor Davis' scheme, 2,400,000 years ago; the carboniferous 5,000,000; the earliest Cambrian fossils date back about 25,000,000; and we may consider the beginnings of life to have happened about 50,000,000 years ago—the life that is of the very lowest organisms—but several considerations will draw the estimate of physicist and geologist closer. The first is already willing to lengthen his; the second may find he can do with a somewhat shorter time. The biologist also will have something to say, but he cannot yet estimate the rate of variation well enough to make a reasonable quantitative guess at how long the process of evolution must have been at work.

MELBOURNE CONSERVATORIUM.

(BY D. J. C.)

In May, 1887, the late Honorable Francis Ormond, whose splendid generosity in the cause of education richly endowed so many Victorian institutions for the advancement of learning, paid to the Chancellor and Council of the Melbourne University the sum of £20,000 to found and endow a chair of music. The income produced by the investment of this sum was to be applied in payment of a professor, and to meet the ordinary expenses incurred in connection with the chair. In addition to this princely gift, the public subscribed a sum of over £5000, which was applied by the council in the formation of an endowment for exhibitions and scholarships in music. Sir William Robinson, formerly Governor of Victoria—himself an enthusiastic amateur musician—took a lively interest in the movement.

In March, 1891, the first occupant of the chair, Professor Marshall-Hall, arrived, and immediately entered upon his duties. Provision was made for granting the degree of mus. bach. and mus. doc., and in addition the diploma in music—the work prescribed for the latter being practical as well as theoretical music.

The course for mus. bac. and for diploma was made to extend over three years, with three annual examinations. The fees amounted to 12 guineas per annum for either course. Lectures were given by the Ormond professor, as he is entitled, in all theoretical subjects—(harmony, counterpoint, form, etc.)—to candidates for the bachelor degree or the diploma; but candidates for the diploma had to encounter the additional expense of obtaining their practical instruction (piano, violin, singing, etc.) from private teachers, such teachers being in no way under the control of the University or the Ormond professor.

When it is taken into account that many students, after paying a considerable amount in fees for private tuition in two practical subjects, had the disheartening experience of failing to pass the necessary examination in either one or both of these branches of their work, in order to complete their "year"—the failure to pass being found, when too late, to have arisen often from very inadequate instruction—it is obvious that candidates for the diploma laboured under a great disadvantage.

To remedy this disadvantage as far as possible it was proposed to establish a conservatorium in which all practical instruction would be given by men of acknowledged standing in their respective branches, under the direct supervision of the professor. This proposal was carried to a successful issue by Professor Marshall-Hall, who had the valuable assistance of Mr. W. A. Laver (now Vice-director of the Conservatorium) in arranging the details of the working of the institution.

In March, 1895, the Melbourne University Conservatorium first saw the light, 141 students being enrolled, 64 of whom were for the "full course." A rearrangement had naturally to be made in the scale of fees for diploma students. Instead of 12 guineas annually, minus practical instruction they were asked to pay 28 guineas, which fee covered all instruction, both practical and theoretical. The fees have remained at the latter figure ever since. Those for the bachelor course were unaltered, and still remain 12 guineas per annum.

The curriculum for "full course" diploma students provides for tuition in "chief study" and "second study," practical work, harmony, counterpoint, form, history of music, aesthetics, sight-reading, instrumentation, acoustics, and score-reading. In the "chief study" practical work (which may be either vocal or instrumental), each student is placed in a class with two other students, and shares with them lessons of two hours a week, thus receiving 40 minutes personal attention. In addition, the student receives one-hour lesson a week in a class of three in his "second study," which also may be either vocal or instrumental, but in which he is not required to attain to such a degree of proficiency as in the chief study. The academic year is divided into four terms of nine weeks each. All lectures are open to the public on payment of prescribed fees, ranging from half a guinea to five guineas, according to the subject chosen. In the matter of exhibitions, students are well cared for. Nine exhibitions of the value of £20 each, four of £10 each, and a prize of £10, are awarded annually to the most successful students. Bursaries of £10 each may be awarded to wind instrument students. But the most valuable exhibitions are those entitling the successful holders to three years' free tuition at the Conservatorium, their retainment being subject to the exhibitioners' satisfying the director as to their work and progress. At the present moment three such exhibitions are held by students. Students may obtain a loan from a fund, the nucleus of which was formed by a donation of £50 from Madame Melba.

In 1900, Professor Marshall-Hall retiring from the chair, Professor Peterson was appointed to fill the position. By zeal and ability he has succeeded in bringing the institution to a high state of efficiency, the most marked feature of his regimee being the establishing of "local examinations" in connection with the Conservatorium. These examinations, which are controlled by the University council, are proving of the utmost value in helping to raise the tone of music-study throughout the State. The profits accruing from the scheme are devoted to establishing additional exhibitions at the Conservatorium.

The teaching staff consists of the Ormond professor, who is ex-officio director, and 20 teachers, including those for modern languages and elocution. The director receives no payment beyond his salary as professor; the teachers are paid at a certain rate per hour for actual work done, and their engagements are annual agreements, terminable at short notice on either side. The fees received are carried by the registrar of the University to a separate account, and no payments may be made from the ordinary funds of the University. In proof that the Conservatorium is entirely self-supporting, the following statement of the average receipts and expenditure for the last four years may be cited:—

The average amount received annually in students' fees and sundries during that period was £2328; payments to teachers was £1648; and working expenses totalled £651. Included in the working expenses is the sum of £340, expended in the purchase of new pianos in 1904, an outlay which will not be required again for some years.

While the advantages to students of being able to get the best tuition available at a reasonable cost under the supervision of an able director, and of leaving the place when their course is completed with the Hall-mark of the University, cannot be overestimated, there are other advantages which only an institution of this kind can supply. Some of these are:—The course of study is carefully systematised; the range of study is of much greater extent than is possible under ordinary circumstances; and, above all, a centre of musical life is formed, round which gather students of all the different branches of art, whose intercourse with one another has a most stimulating effect upon their work.

IN THE GARDEN.

PROPAGATING PLANT CUTTINGS.

It has been well said that with the aid of temperature and moisture anything almost in the shape of a cutting can be made to root. Gardening lore, written and unwritten, is full of instances of extraordinary feats of rooting. Many Australian gardeners, both professional and amateur, are very expert at operations of this kind. Simple as it may appear to the uninitiated, the preparation and striking of cuttings is not an easy matter. As in seed-sowing, the numerous apparently trifling details which contribute to success must be rigidly carried out. In the case of soft-wooded plants, such as fuchsias, zonal pelargoniums, petunias, lobelias, heliotropes, etc., only a few cuttings should be taken off at a time, and they should not be allowed to droop at all, for, although they may afterwards strike root, they will be longer about it, and will not be so even in growth as if they had never drooped. Verbenas, cupheas, and some others of like habit will strike root equally well from any part of the stem, and therefore to cut them at a joint is a waste of time and material, but most plants strike best when cut just below a joint.

The more leaves there are left on a cutting, provided it can be kept from flagging or damping, the sooner it will strike root. It must not, however, be inferred that a large cutting with numerous leaves will strike quicker than a small one, but that if two cuttings are alike when taken off the plant, and one of them has more leaves left on than the other, the one with the greatest leaf surface, other things being equal, will be likely to root first. If flagging takes place, however, the result will probably be reversed. The simplest and best propagating frames are merely boxes with panes of glass laid on the top; in these nearly all soft-wooded and tender plants may be propagated by cuttings. Place 3 or 4 inches of light soil in the bottom of the box, pressed rather firmly, spread a little sand about a quarter of an inch thick over the soil, and make it even with a piece of board. It is best not to water unless the soil is dust-dry until after the cuttings are in, and place the box where it is to remain, when it should have a copious supply from a fine rose; if sufficient to last until the cuttings are rooted all the better. The base of the cuttings should be made to rest firmly on the soil at the bottom of the hole. The best preventive for any of the cuttings damping off is to remove any decaying material every morning. If this practice is followed out, it will be found that a few minutes will suffice to look over a great number of cuttings; indeed, no more time is occupied than when they are looked over perhaps twice a week, and the difference in the number lost from damping off under the two modes of treatment is very great. It must be remembered that while the cuttings must be gently and thoroughly watered when put in the box or frame damping off must be guarded against, but if the soil is sweet and the box clean and air given, there will not be much loss from that, and the cuttings will soon root. The operator should bear in mind that until roots are formed no healthy growth of foliage can take place; therefore the object should be to promote the speedy formation of roots prior to making any demands on them for the foliage.

The cuttings of pelargoniums should be short-jointed and quite firm to the touch, and be about 3in long. The lower end should be cut immediately below a joint, and have its lowermost pair of leaves removed. Fuchsia cuttings should be taken off the current year's growth; that is, shoots formed since the new year. They should be 3in long, and prepared similar to zonal pelargoniums. Petunias and heliotropes should have their cuttings taken from young growth, and prepared in the same way. Lobelias may often be divided by means of a sharp knife, and removed with roots attached. In all cases press the base of the cutting firmly against the bottom of the hole made by the dibber, otherwise the cutting may fail to root.

The subject of the proper material in which to root cuttings has engaged the attention of the best gardeners, and, although good sharp silver sand forms a component part of the material, yet other substances are specially recommended to be used. One of the most admirable contrivances for a cutting pot in the way of drainage, and as a means of equalising moisture, is to invert in the cutting pot one of a smaller dimension. Thus, in an 8in pot a 4in may be inverted, and the interstices from the bottom to the margin filled up with fine broken freestone. Over this some finely pulverised brick rubbish should be placed, and as a finisher one-half inch of clean white sand. In such the most difficult striking varieties of pelargoniums may at least have a fair chance of rooting, there being but little risk of their damping off owing to excellent drainage and the fine porosity of the soil about the base of the cuttings. As an absorbent of moisture a large mixture of granulated charcoal might be judiciously mixed with the soil for rooting difficult cuttings in. Proficient gardeners give their testimony decidedly in favour of the brickdust material, and assert that, provided the cuttings are in anything like favourable condition, the rooting is pretty sure. In many cases sawdust can be used with marked success in striking cuttings. It is very commonly used for this purpose in the French nurseries, and by its use many thousands of plants for the Paris markets are advanced through their early stages. After a long sea voyage cuttings packed in sawdust have been found splendidly rooted. In propagating all plants from cuttings the conditions of greatest success are those that provide for the encouragement of the root-forming process, while bud growth or the development of foliage is wholly restricted.

There are several ways of treating rose cuttings. Some plant them in the open ground, some in cool greenhouses, and some in frames. In the open ground the soil should be sandy, and care should be taken not to leave too large a portion of the cutting above the ground. The cuttings are best taken in the autumn or early winter from the last season's growth, choosing healthy, vigorous, well matured shoots for the purpose. Those kinds that do not readily strike root from cuttings, such as cloth of gold, and others, are best propagated from layers.

The best way of increasing any very choice variety of pansy is by cuttings. But the cuttings must be from around the crown of the plant without flower buds, and not pithy or hollow. In making them remove the bottom leaves, so as to have a bare joint, and put them into a compost of loam and leaf soil, with sand sifted through a fine mesh sieve, press the soil about them gently, and give a good watering. Hundreds may be rooted in this way and placed ready for blooming. Many fail to root cuttings of pansies simply through not selecting the cuttings with sufficient care. Avoid the strong shoots, and take the young shoots that spring from the base, and a very large percentage will grow if they are kept moderately moist.

SALVIAS.

Few plants give so great a return for time and labour expended as this very extensive genus of plants, so widely varied both as regards stature, flowers, and foliage. Most of the salvias flourish well in the open ground. They are showy, can give as great a profusion of bloom as most plants used in our flower beds, besides giving a variety not surpassed by any other genus of plants in general cultivation from the most lovely blue, through many shades of purple, scarlet and yellow, to pure white. By themselves sufficient variation may be had to make a most beautiful flower bed, and in this way many prefer to grow them, as much for the novelty as the effect. That gay old autumnal flowering plant Salvia splendens is not too frequently seen in gardens, yet few plants are more effective, for specimens some 4ft high, and as much through may be formed in a single season. All that is necessary to do is to strike a few cuttings in the autumn, winter them with care, and plant out in rich free soil in an open sunny situation as soon as danger of frost is over. Mulch with rotten manure, and water in dry weather, and you will get fine specimens well set with flowers by the time the more tender plants of the garden show signs of inclement weather. As this plant forms an immense amount of fibres, it does not, however large the specimens may be, in the least suffer by the removal. Give a good watering, and place in a sheltered position for a few days, and not a leaf will discolour, and the flowers will continue to expand without apparent check. The shoots, however, are very brittle, so that some care in handling must be exercised. As soon as the old plants have finished blooming throw them away, and rely entirely upon young ones for the next season's display. The following varieties would make a fine showy collection:—S. splendens (red); S. bethell, a rapid grower (rosy pink); S. azurea, with narrow linear leaves and charming deep blue flowers, is a desirable plant, a native of Carolina; S. patens, a good plant, free with its numerous large and celestial blue flowers; S. alba (white) is very pleasing, making a handsome companion to the type S. coccinea, an excellent plant of the scarlet type. Salvias of a hardy nature are so varied that many a collection would be considerably improved by a careful selection. Besides in the case of those who combine a little pleasure with a little profit in keeping bees in their garden these salvias act as loadstones to the busy workers.

WORK FOR THE PRESENT MONTH.

The spring flowers coming into bloom, such as anemones, ranunculas, etc., should be sheltered from cold, cutting winds, and rough weather. If not already done, perennials and biennials should be divided, and planted. Climbing plants will require attention this month. A little careful pruning and tying will be useful. Pelargoniums can be successfully propagated now by cuttings. Carnations should be placed where they are to bloom, and early blooming varieties throwing up flowering stems should be supported. Primulas must have a plentiful supply of water when it is necessary to water them, but none at all when the soil appears fairly moist. It is giving water in dribbles which ruins in many cases these fine winter flowering plants. Begonia tubers which have been stored through the winter will soon need careful watching. Not until they start naturally should there be any attempt to induce growth. The pruning of roses should be completed during the month.

FISHERIES MATTERS.

Mr. F. Farnell presided at the Fisheries Board meeting on Wednesday, and welcomed Mr. R. T. Donaldson, M.L.A., as a new member, vice Mr. W. R. Campbell, deceased.

An oyster reserve was ordered to be proclaimed at George's River fronting Peakhurst Park, near Como Bridge.

The Kuring-gai Chase trustees asked that all applications for oyster leases on the Chase frontages should be sent to them for report and approval or otherwise. The board declined to do this, but agreed to supply the trustees with particulars regarding the leases.

It was decided to ask the Chief Secretary to consider the desirability of destroying fish-eating birds, in view of the large amount of destruction wrought by them. The board suggested some time ago that bonuses be paid for the heads of shags and other fish-eating birds.

Residents of the Brunswick River district wrote urging that the river should be closed to netting for five years, except during Lent. The matter was left in the hands of the chairman for investigation.

Net-fishermen having protested against the leasing of certain hauling grounds for oyster culture on the Clarence River, the board decided to allow only the deposition of oyster shell on the areas for the catching of spat, so that the nets could be hauled upon them.

The Greenwell Point local inspector reported that several oyster leases on the Shoalhaven estuary had not been cultivated. It was decided to call upon the lessees to cultivate them within three months.

By the steamer Mokoia last week 48,750 trout ova arrived from New Zealand, and proved to be a fine lot. They were taken to the Prospect Hatchery and counted by Inspector G. Glading, who found they averaged 250 to the liquid ounce. The cost of the ova was 12s 6d per thousand. A second shipment of 55,000 is due in Sydney to-day by the Victoria. Inspector Glading has also stripped from locally-reared fish about 16,000 eggs.

A large specimen of the Port Jackson shark (cestracion phillippi) was authorised to be sent to the Agent-General for the State in England for transmission to the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons.

Inspector Barclay reported having seized a net in the closed waters of Port Hacking. Ranger J. Gray, of the National Park, also reported having seized a net in closed waters. Inspector Aldrich found a net in Cockle Creek, Brisbane Water. Prosecution was ordered in two cases.

A report upon the flounders brought from Tasmania in the transport tanks of the Wakatipu showed that the new arrivals were a fertile batch, ranging from seven to twelve inches each. The fish landed at Gunnamatta Bay on July 27 numbered 1100, and two days after entering the ponds they shed 200,000 ova. There are now 2000 flounders in the pond, and all are healthy. It was estimated that each fish would yield 100,000 ova in a season. So far 1,550,000 ova have been secured, the largest take being 640,000 in one netting on Wednesday.

IN A DEAD FAINT.

STRETCHED OUT FOR DEAD.
MRS. A. M. COTTRELL, ALBURY.
BLOOD ALL GONE TO WATER.
WEEKLY FITS OF HEART FAILURE.
DYING WITH DROPSY.
BEST OF HEALTH TO-DAY.
DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

"My husband says he'll never forget the day he came home and found me stretched out for dead," said Mrs. Agnes Maria Cottrell, Hovel-street, Wodonga, just across the River Murray from Albury, N.S.W. "Without any warning I went off in a dead faint, and the neighbours never thought that I'd come to. After that hardly a week went by without me having a faint. You never saw anyone so weak and thin. I hardly had a drop of blood in my body. My hands and feet were always stone cold, even when I sat before a roaring fire. It all came from my heart, for it had hardly the strength to keep life in me. Every month I got worse. My body started to swell up, and the doctors said it was dropsy setting in. It was only when they gave me up that Mr. Cottrell got me some Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a last hope. In less than two months they built me up till you can see for yourself what a strong healthy woman I am to-day.

"For a long time my health had been wretched," Mrs. Cottrell said. "My appetite got poorer and poorer. Some days I wouldn't have as much as a biscuit. The little I did eat turned sour on my stomach, and brought on a bilious attack. I felt too sick and wretched to hold my head up. Headaches kept me on the rack for days. My forehead used to burn like fire. The dull throbbing pains above my eyes never stopped day or night. My nerves went to pieces, and I jumped with fright from no cause at all. I could not get out of my head the thought that something dreadful was going to happen, I was so downhearted that I could take no interest in my housework. Every day I grew weaker. Soon I could hardly put one foot before the other. Six and seven times a day I had to lie down and rest.

"Doctors' medicine made me worse instead of better. Every week I grew paler and thinner. My cheeks fell in, and dark circles came under my eyes. Even my lips and gums turned white. One glance at me showed that I had hardly any blood at all. You could almost see through my hands. When I held them up to the light you could count nearly every bone in them, and the veins showed out in big green lines. I looked the picture of death.

"Soon I was too weak to do a hand's turn," Mrs. Cottrell went on. "It was as much as I could do to dress myself. All day long I had to loll about the house. I hadn't the strength even to set the table. The least exertion made my heart jump, and left me gasping for breath. Then, one day, without any warning, I went off into a strange sort of fainting fit. The neighbours all thought I was dead, and they sent straight away for my husband. When he reached the house I was just able to breathe. I was so cold and white that he really believed I was a corpse. It was hours before they brought me round—and then I was so weak and helpless that I told them I wished they had let me die in the faint. After that I got these bad turns nearly every week. Each one left me weaker and less able to stand another one. Mr. Cottrell worried day and night over me. He said there must have been something very wrong with my heart for me to have these faints one week after another.

"At last the end drew near," Mrs. Cottrell added. "My arms and body swelled up, and wherever I pressed my finger the flesh turned white, and a big dent stayed behind. Mr. Cottrell called in another doctor, and he said it was dropsy setting in. He told him that I was too far gone for any doctor that lived to do me any good. It was only a question of a few weeks more with me. Still I lingered on, getting weaker and weaker. At night I lay awake wondering how I would die. Then one day a friend told my husband about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—and he sent in to Albury and got some from Blackadder, the chemist. I took three boxes before I felt any good from them, but after that I could feel the new blood tingling all over my body. My appetite picked up, and I gradually grew stronger. I kept on taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and every dose put new life into me. Little by little the dropsy went down. Six boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills made me as strong and healthy as any woman could wish to be. When the neighbours saw me working about my garden again they said my cure was a downright miracle. You would never think that three years ago everyone was waiting to hear of my death. I owe my life to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured Mrs. Cottrell's case just as they cure all diseases that are caused by bad blood. In fact, they actually make new blood. They do just that one thing—but they do it well. They don't act on the bowels. They don't bother with mere symptoms. They won't cure any disease that isn't caused originally by bad blood. But that is the cause of all common ailments such as anaemia, decline, general weakness, backaches, headaches, indigestion, rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, partial paralysis, and locomotor ataxia. If offered a substitute, send for the genuine to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Sydney—2s 9d a box, six boxes 15s 3d, post free. Letters asking for medical advice will be answered free.—Advt.

Bronchitis, Lung Troubles.

It is for troublesome coughs and chronic catarrhal affections of the respiratory and digestive organs that Angier's Emulsion has been most widely and successfully used. Made with our specially purified petroleum, it has a wonderfully soothing and healing effect upon the mucous membrane of the lungs and air passages, by which it relieves the cough and breathing, allays the bronchial irritation, and promotes easy expectoration. Added to this is its marked beneficial effect upon the organs of digestion and its influence as a general tonic. It promotes appetite, aids digestion, and builds up strength. It is this combined soothing and tonic effect of Angier's Emulsion that makes it superior to any other remedy in the treatment of stubborn coughs, bronchitis, and all lung affections. The testimonials published below are typical of hundreds received from all parts of the world.

Angier's Emulsion

(PETROLEUM WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES.)

THE MOST PALATABLE OF ALL EMULSIONS, AND A GREAT AID TO DIGESTION.

BRONCHIAL AND STOMACH CATARRH.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN CLERGYMAN.

Dear Sirs,—After suffering from bronchial catarrh and stomach catarrh without relief for several years, I was advised by an eminent authority to try Angier's Emulsion. With a view to the benefit of those similarly afflicted, I have much pleasure in stating that, after taking your medicine for some weeks, I have been entirely cured of both the above troublesome complaints, and have also become stronger in every way than I have been for many years, and this after a recent severe attack of influenza. I can confidently recommend all who are troubled with similar ailments, or indeed with any general debility, to take your excellent preparation of petroleum. It is a medicine of no modern invention, but was known to the ancients as one of the most efficacious remedies, and is quite a different thing from the many quackeries extensively advertised.

(Signed) REV. H. K. HASLAM.

COUGH COMPLETELY CURED. GAINED 32 LBS. IN WEIGHT.

CHRONIC BRONCHITIS FIFTEEN YEARS.

Beach-road, Papakura, Auckland, N.Z.

Dear Sirs,—I have been a great sufferer from chronic bronchitis for fifteen years. Two years ago I left the Waikato Hospital as incurable. I was very short of breath, and so weak that I could not walk far without a rest. I had been spitting up blood for some time, and made sure that my time here was short. About that time I commenced taking Angier's Emulsion. By the time I finished the first bottle I felt a little better, and after the second bottle I was very much improved. My wife then bought six bottles, and by the time they were finished I was quite another man. When I left the hospital I weighed 124lb. I now weigh 156lb., and I can take my food well and sleep well. The cough from which I suffered so much is all gone, and I have not spit blood since I used your Emulsion. I am able to drive out in cold weather, and never feel any bad effects. I still keep taking the Emulsion morning and evening, and shall always keep a supply in the house. A friend, Mr. A. W. Graham, of Hamilton, was very ill. Three doctors were called in consultation over his case, and they said he could not live many days. I persuaded him to give your Emulsion a trial, and its effect in his case has been quite as remarkable as in mine. I am well known here, having been 39 years in Auckland and Waikato.

(Signed) ALEXANDER ALLAN.

THE RESULT HAS BEEN MARVELLOUS.

FROM A JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

The Lodge, Hamilton, Waikato, N.Z.

Dear Sirs,—Your letter dated September 1st is before me. In it you state having received from a friend of mine, Mr. Alexander Allan, a most enthusiastic report of the benefit he has derived from the use of Angier's Emulsion, and stating that I had taken the Emulsion with almost equal benefit. Mr. Allan's statements are quite true. He had great difficulty in persuading me to try the Emulsion. I considered it only waste of money trying new remedies. However, my friend was so persistent that I purchased a bottle, and the result of using it has been simply marvellous. I have not only benefited myself from using Angier's Emulsion, but all those to whom I have recommended it are satisfied with the results of using it. You have, therefore, my authority to publish this letter in support of what Mr. Allan has stated in favour of your Emulsion.

(Signed) WM. A. GRAHAM, J.P.

SOCIAL.

Although no very large or important social gatherings have taken place during the week, every day has brought some entertainment, either in the form of tennis, croquet, or golf, which could be thoroughly enjoyed, as the weather proved so beautifully fine. Then there were luncheons, afternoon teas, and dinners innumerable, so that the days passed quickly and pleasantly. His Excellency the Governor was away in the country for a few days, and during his absence Miss Rawson paid a short visit to Mrs. Macarthur Onslow at Camden, and returned to Sydney on Wednesday. His Excellency and Miss Rawson have since their return to town been kept busy attending various meetings, and other official duties.

Miss Rawson presided at the bi-annual meeting of the National Council for Women at the Y.W.C.A. Hall on Thursday afternoon, when there was a large attendance. Amongst others on the platform were Mrs. Jenkins (the recording secretary), Mrs. Goldschmidt (hon. treasurer), Miss Rose Scott (hon. international secretary), Mrs. Aronson (hon. State secretary), Mrs. Hugh Dixson, Mrs. Nolan, and Dr. Mary Booth. Miss Rose Scott read a report furnished by Mrs. A. Pollard, of a meeting of the delegates from the National Councils of Women, held at the Women's Institute, London. Much time was used in discussion on a motion,—"That this meeting of the National Council of Women in New South Wales views with grave concern the announcement by cable that cultured women in England are being urged to come to Australia for employment in agriculture and horticulture, and instructs the international secretary to write to Lady Aberdeen to tell her that those industries do not afford a livelihood for such women." The immigration of domestic servants and farm servants was to be encouraged, but there were many difficulties in the way for women to make a profitable living in agriculture and horticulture. The resolution was carried unanimously. Miss Krout gave an interesting address on "Women Journalists in America," and gave a short account of the rise of the sensational school of writing known as "yellow journalism," which owed its origin to the special type of millionaire in California. Miss Krout said she thought the tone of journalism in America, on the whole, compared most unfavourably with that of the Australian press. Mrs. David was to have read a paper on "Domestic Training," but was absent through indisposition. A hearty vote of thanks was given to Miss Rawson for presiding, and at the conclusion of the meeting Miss Rawson, Miss Krout, and the members of the committee were entertained at afternoon tea by Miss Heard, the secretary of the Y.W.C.A.

Lady Darley has issued invitations to an "at home" at her residence, Quambi, Woollahra, on Monday afternoon next, the visitors being invited to meet Miss Peacock, the delegate from the central council of the Girls' Friendly Society in England, who is now on a visit to Sydney. Miss Peacock arrived yesterday morning, and in the afternoon was entertained by the presidents and councils of the Girls' Friendly Society and the Mothers' Union at a reception given in her honour in St. James's Hall, at which the Archbishop of Sydney presided.

Colonel and Mrs. Douglas Mackenzie arrived from Hobart last Monday on a short visit to Sydney for the purpose of saying good-bye to their youngest daughter, Miss Lute Mackenzie, who leaves for America in the Miowera on Monday next. Miss Mackenzie has joined the William Collier Comedy Company, and will make her first appearance on the stage in New York shortly after her arrival.

Mrs. Ryrie gave a large afternoon tea party at the Victoria Barracks on Thursday last as a farewell to her sister. The R.A.A. Band played as usual on the lawn, which added to the enjoyment of those present.

We have been requested to state that the Lady Mayoress will not hold her usual "at home" at the Town Hall on Monday next.

Last Monday afternoon Miss Mitchell was "at home" to a large number of guests, who were invited to meet the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. O'Ferrall, of the Melanesian Mission, at "Wallaroy," Edgecliff-road. The Rev. Mr. O'Ferrall, who only arrived from the islands on Saturday, and who is seeking a well-earned and much-needed rest, was introduced to the visitors by the Rev. Wallace Mort. In a short address Mr. O'Ferrall explained the objects and work of the mission, and expressed a hope that some of those present would become regular subscribers to the mission, instead of only giving spasmodically. After the address the visitors, who numbered over 100, were entertained at afternoon tea by Miss Mitchell, and was assisted by Miss Dorothy Mitchell and Miss Bisdee.

The hon. treasurers of the Lady Rawson Memorial Fund have received a cheque for the sum of £54 from the Mothers' Union, Sydney Diocese, per Mrs. H. C. Dangar, as a donation from the union to the above fund; a cheque has also been received from the scholars of Bedford College Ministering Children's League for the sum of £7 10s. A letter has been received from the Mayoress of Goulburn stating that a fund has been initiated in that district in connection with the movement. Further contributions may be sent to the hon. treasurers, Town Hall, Sydney.

Last Thursday afternoon Mrs. Christian entertained a large number of friends at afternoon-tea at her residence in Onslow-avenue, Elizabeth Bay. The entertainment was given as a farewell to her daughter, Mrs. H. Morris, who leaves for Brisbane next week, Major Morris having lately been appointed to the military forces in Queensland. About 100 guests were present, and after tea much amusement was caused by "Musical Consequences," in which a story was recited, a pause made every few minutes, and filled in by a few bars of a song or dance, which had to be correctly guessed. The prize was won by Miss Mabel Icely, after keen competition. Amongst the visitors were Mrs. and Miss Russell French, Mrs. Antill, Mrs. G. Airey, Mrs. A. Cox and the Misses Cox, Miss Morehead, Mrs. King, Mrs. Littlejohn, the Misses Stephen, Mrs. and Miss Iceley, the Misses Mitchell, Mrs. Crace, Mrs. S. Christian, Miss Skinner, Mrs. W. Hixson, Mrs. Massey, and Miss Dibbs. Everyone wished Major and Mrs. Morris a pleasant sojourn in the northern State, and said "au revoir" and not good-bye.

At Trebatha, Darling Point, Mrs. Tremaine Rodd gave a "handkerchief" tea on Tuesday afternoon to Miss Freda Roberts, eldest daughter of Colonel Roberts, whose marriage to Mr. John M'Rae, of Wellington, New Zealand, will shortly take place. Miss Roberts, who only recently returned from England, was the recipient of numerous specimens of dainty embroidered linen handkerchiefs, and received the congratulations of her many friends. A vocal and musical programme was contributed by Mrs. Vincent Ryrie and Miss Saumarez-Smith during the afternoon, and was much appreciated.

A most enjoyable "at home" was given by Mrs. J. C. Williamson at Tudor, Elizabeth Bay, on Tuesday, when a large number of guests spent a pleasant afternoon listening to an attractive musical programme, or in strolling on the fine lawns and through the conservatories. Mrs. J. C. Williamson wore a becoming dress of Ma Mie Rosette silk, with handsome Oriental embroidery of point d'esprit lace. Her hat was of tulle and satin straw to match, with a wreath of small roses of the same shade. A programme of music and singing was contributed to by Mesdames Emery Gould (Melbourne), Fitzgerald, M'Donald, Echeard, Lyons, Miss May Sumberbell, and Misses Williams and M'Donald. Afternoon-tea and strawberries and cream were served in the large dining-room, the tables being decorated with exquisite roses of cream and deep crimson hue. Mrs. J. C. Williamson was assisted by Mr. Williamson in entertaining her guests, who included many members of the Collier Comedy Company, in whose honour it was chiefly given as a farewell before leaving Sydney.

The third of a series of dances organised by a committee of young people was held in the Lane Cove Town Hall on Wednesday, July 25, when there were about 100 visitors present. The hall and supper-rooms were artistically decorated with flags and palms.

The Masonic Lodge of Annandale held their second annual ball at the Colonade Hall, Annandale, on Wednesday, July 25. About 130 visitors participated in a most enjoyable dance.

The annual ball of the Manly Masonic Lodge (St. John) was held in the Victoria Hall, Manly, on Wednesday evening last, and the attendance numbered over 200 ladies and gentlemen. The committee consisted of Wor. Bro. W. C. Mingay, chairman; Bro. R. E. Adrian, hon. treasurer; Wor. Bro. L. Johnson, hon. secretary; Wor. Bros. D. W. Custer and J. Rankin, and Bros. E. Luce, W. M. Harrison, and E. E. Sayer acted as masters of ceremonies. There were several visitors from the Grand Lodge, Sydney, and the function was a pronounced success.

The Balmain District Cricket Club held its annual ball at the local Town Hall on Wednesday evening. The dance was a great success. The attendance was good, but the hall was not too crowded, which made the dancing easy, and contributed towards making the evening thoroughly enjoyable. The decorations had been left in the capable hands of Captain W. Ellis, of the Adelaide Steamship Company, who personally superintended their erection. Evergreens and many flags were disposed in most attractive designs throughout the hall and its approaches. On entering the hall the visitors were attracted by the club colours—black and gold—artistically draped through the chairs. Messrs. G. Carrick, T. Roberts, and Captain W. Ellis were the honorary secretaries, and Messrs. E. O'Keefe, A. Robilliard, C. Franks, and F. Bennett were the masters of ceremonies.

The annual ball of the Sydney Rowing Club will be held in the A.B.C. Rooms on Wednesday evening, the 15th inst. This fixture is regarded as a popular event in aquatic circles, and as many tickets have already been disposed of it is confidently anticipated that the reunion will be as successful as on previous occasions. The Sydney Rowing Club is the premier rowing body, and during the evening Mr. Q. L. Deloitte, the president, will unfurl the championship pennant.

The Paddington Town Hall presented a very bright and gay appearance on Tuesday evening, when the members of the Sydney University Sports Union gave a most enjoyable ball. Hitherto the attendance at this popular dance has been by subscription, but this year the guests were invited by the members, all of whom were energetic in their endeavours to promote the enjoyment of their friends. The hall was effectively decorated with a profusion of palms arranged round the walls, intermixed with bright flags and handsome dark red curtains; and the supper tables were decorated with masses of golden wattle, jonquils, and marguerites. The guests numbered about 450, and were received by Mr. and Mrs. H. Maxwell, Mr. Maxwell being the president of the University Sports Union.

On Wednesday evening, in connection with the Congregational Church at Mosman, the Rev. A. H. Austin arranged an "at home" for attendants and visitors. The church was crowded, and the Rev. Mr. Austin described the progress and many interesting features in connection with the good work done. During the evening, under the direction of Mr. R. A. Piper, the choirmaster, a choice selection of music was rendered, which was contributed by the following ladies and gentlemen:—Mrs. Harbut and the Misses Edwards and Marjorie Davis. Several quartets and part-songs were rendered by Messrs. Piper, Allum, French, and Hinton. Messrs. W. H. Clarke and Harold Hinton rendered solos, and a pianoforte selection by Mr. W. H. M'Carthy brought a most pleasant evening to a close. Mrs. Harbut was an efficient accompanist.

The Town Hall, Liverpool, was the scene of festivities on Wednesday evening, July 25, the occasion being the annual ball in connection with the Liverpool Lawn Tennis Club. About twenty couples, including a few metropolitan and suburban visitors attended. The hall was prettily decorated, and the general arrangements were excellent. Shortly before midnight an adjournment was made to the council-chamber, where a supper was served, after which dancing was resumed.

An enjoyable dance was given by the "Warringah" committee at the Oddfellows' Hall, Manly, on Friday, July 20, the hosts being Messrs. A. E. Austin, B. Belbin, L. G. Hayes-Williams, L. Henderson, R. Hedley, C. L. Murray, G. Nott, A. Paterson, J. Paterson, S. Penfold, F. C. Roberts, R. Treatt, F. Watson, C. Vallack, and P. Vivian. The hall was beautifully decorated with palms and flags for the occasion.

A quiet wedding was celebrated at the Pitt-street Congregational Church on Saturday, June 30, when Miss Elizabeth Alice (Lily) Minchin, daughter of the late Mr. George Minchin and of Mrs. Minchin, of Concord, was given in marriage by her brother to Mr. Bathurst W. Carroll, of Berkeley, Manildra, third son of Mr. W. J. Carroll, of Summer Hill, Orange. The bride was attended by one bridesmaid, Miss Myra Stephen. The Rev. R. A. Thompson, B.A., assisted by the Rev. A. P. Campbell, B.A., performed the ceremony, after which the wedding party adjourned to the A.B.C. rooms. The bride was the recipient of a number of handsome wedding presents.

A wedding was celebrated at St. Brigid's Church, Marrickville, on July 18 by the Rev. Father Cahill (Tumut), assisted by Fathers Benedict and Alphonsus (Marrickville), between Miss Lillie Bullock, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Bullock, of Marrickville, and Mr. John Richard Kiley, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Kiley, of Red Hill station, Tumut. The church was prettily decorated by the bride's cousin and friends with flowers and palms, a large floral bell, and arch. The bride wore an Empire dress of ivory embossed Merveilleux, with trimmings of accordion-pleated chiffon, and rose point lace, an embroidered tulle veil, and wreath of orange blossoms. There were two bridesmaids in attendance—Miss Margaret Cole and Miss Josephine Kiley (sister of the bridegroom). They were dressed respectively in effective dresses of cream Liberty silk and crepe-de-chine, trimmed with Valenciennes and guipure lace; and wore pale pink roses in the hair. They carried bouquets of pink and dark red roses with pale blue streamers. The bride's train was carried by her cousin, Miss Thelma Bullock, who wore a dainty frock of cream silk and a silk bonnet. The bridegroom's present to the bride was a pearl dagger brooch; the bridesmaids received pearl and turquoise pendants, and the little trainbearer a gold bangle. Mr. F. Kiley was best man, and Mr. H. G. Bullock groomsman. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Bullock entertained about 90 relatives and friends at a dance in the Manchester Unity Hall, where the wedding breakfast was served. The bride's going-away dress was a fawn Eton coat with corselet skirt and a white felt hat trimmed with tulle and feathers.

The Congregational Church, Redfern, was the scene of a double wedding on July 18, when Miss Rosella Williams, third daughter of Mr. Charles Williams, of Redfern, was married to Mr. Frederick W. Buik, second son of Mr. James Buik, of Redfern; and Miss Florence Elizabeth Williams, fourth daughter of Mr. Charles Williams, of Redfern, and Mr. Arthur John Radford, eldest son of Mr. John Radford, of Redfern, were married, the ceremonies being performed by the Rev. F. Binns. The brides, who were given away by their father, wore dresses of pale cream silk voile trimmed with Valenciennes lace and insertion, with embroidered tulle veils over a coronet of orange blossoms, and carried shower bouquets with tulle streamers, which were gifts from the bridegrooms. The bridesmaids were Miss Gertrude Williams (sister of the brides), Miss Edith Buik, Miss Radford, and Miss Florence Radford. They were dressed in Persian lawn, trimmed with white chiffon and lace, and carried shower bouquets, the gifts of the bridegrooms. There were also three little bridesmaids—the Misses Doris and Una Williams (nieces of the brides) and Miss G. Abbott (cousin of the brides). They were dressed in white muslin, and carried crooks with pale pink and heliotrope ribbons, and wore gold brooches, gifts from the bridegrooms. Mr. W. Carrad and Mr. J. Sippie acted as best men respectively. The groomsmen were Mr. H. Williams and Mr. G. Abbott. After the ceremony about 140 guests assembled at the Railway Institute, and were entertained at the wedding breakfast. The brides were the recipients of many valuable and useful presents.

At Trinity Congregational Church, Strathfield, on Thursday, July 19, Mr. Mark Cowley Lidwill, only son of Captain J. A. Lidwill, Melbourne, was married to Miss Constance Sydney-Jones, youngest daughter of Sir Philip Sydney-Jones, "Llandilo," Strathfield. The Rev. George Littlemore, assisted by the Rev. Walter Matheson, B.A., and the Rev. Dr. Fordyce, officiated. The church was beautifully decorated by Mrs. A. J. Nott, assisted by girl friends. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a trained dress of ivory chiffon satin, the bodice draped with Limerick lace, and Limerick lace veil and wreath of orange blossoms. She also wore a diamond and pearl brooch, the gift of her aunt and cousin, and her emerald ring and shower bouquet were the gifts of the bridegroom. She was attended by five bridesmaids—Miss J. Sydney-Jones, Miss H. Riley, Miss Myra Browne, and the Misses Muriel and Edna Lloyd Jones. The elder bridesmaids wore dresses of rose-du-barri crepe de chine trimmed with Paris lace, and white crinoline hats with shaded roses and white feathers. They carried shower bouquets of Princess Alice carnations and wore pearl and enamel pendants, both being the bridegroom's gifts. The children wore frocks of cream muslin and lace with rose-du-barri sashes, and small Dutch lace bonnets with shaded roses. They carried small posies of carnations, and wore pearl and turquoise brooches. Dr. Noel Conolly was best man, and Mr. D. O. Sydney-Jones and Dr. H. Alsop groomsmen. After the ceremony a reception was held at Llandilo by Sir Philip Sydney-Jones and Miss Sydney-Jones, the latter wearing strawberry crepe de chene and a pale blue hat with large osprey. Miss M. The numerous and handsome presents were viewed by about 200 guests.

A marriage was celebrated on July 16 at St. John's, North Sydney, by the Rev. H. C. Vindin between Mr. Houston Steward, fourth son of Mr. H. S. She also wore a white hat with ostrich feathers, brought by her sister, Miss Julie Davis, from South Africa. The bridegroom's presents were a diamond and turquoise pendant, a ring with a large topaz (the bride's lucky stone) set with diamonds, and a shower bouquet. The church was decorated with tall palms and arum lilies in profusion, and the seats reserved for the guests had knots of flowers and ribbons. Though invitations to the reception had been given only to relatives, many friends attended the church. After the ceremony a wedding tea was held at "Fingar," North Sydney, Mrs. Burton Dibbs acting as hostess. A wedding bell of white camellias hung in the centre of the room, where the bride and bridegroom received the congratulations of their relatives and wreaths of carnations tied with true-lovers' knots of white silk and festoons of greenery were on the walls. The bride's table was decorated with white daisies and maidenhair ferns. Though hearty wishes were expressed for the future of the young couple no speeches were made, but the bride sang three songs, the compositions of her teacher, Guy d'Hardelot, to the delight of her guests. The going-away dress was of wine-coloured chiffon velvet, worn with a hat with lighter coloured feathers, and mole furs with ermine tails. Many valuable presents were brought from England and many were received here. Numerous telegrams and three cables arrived during the afternoon.

A wedding was solemnised by the Rev. E. C. Beck, at St. John's Church, Darlinghurst, on Saturday, July 21, when Mr. Leslie B. Levy, second son of Mr. I. B. Levy, Undercliffe, Hunter's Hill, was married to Miss Edith Harris, youngest daughter of the late Mr. C. A. Harris and of Mrs. Harris, Metaville, Darlinghurst. The Melita Choir sang the bridal hymn, "The voice that breathed o'er Eden," as the bride entered the church. She wore an Empire dress of ivory chiffon voile, with Maltese lace and true lovers' knots of bebe ribbon, and a wreath and veil. Her shower bouquet and diamond ring were the gifts of the bridegroom. The bride's two sisters, the Misses Lucy and K. Harris, were bridesmaids, and wore corselet dresses of cream serge and cream hats. Their shower bouquets and their rings were the gifts of the bridegroom. The groomsmen were Messrs. Harold and Norman Levy, brothers of the bridegroom. The solo, "Oh, rest in the Lord," was sung by Mrs. Alfred Backhouse. A reception was subsequently held at Florence and Co.'s rooms, King's-cross, Darlinghurst, where the bride and bridegroom received the congratulations of their friends.

The Baptist Church, Bathurst-street, Sydney, was the scene of a wedding on July 4, when Mr. C. W. Leggo, of Paddington, was married to Miss J. C. Cocks, of Manly, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. James Barker. The church was beautifully decorated with palms and evergreens, and a large wedding-bell, beneath which the bride stood, and from which, at an appropriate moment, a shower of confetti fell. The bride was attended by two bridesmaids—Miss W. Cocks and Miss B. Cocks, sisters,—and the bridegroom was supported by Mr. E. A. Leggo as best man, and Mr. F. H. Leggo as groomsman. At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding breakfast was served in the Y.W.C.A. Hall, Castlereagh-street, where a large party of friends assembled. WRITES:—

To the Proprietors,
Bonnington's Irish Moss.

Dear Sirs,—When last in Dunedin, I was suffering from a severe cold, which greatly interfered with my professional duties. Having been advised to try your well-known "Bonnington's Irish Moss," I procured a large bottle, and after taking only a few doses, my voice was completely restored. I now recommend it to all my professional friends.—I am, yours truly,

ERNEST FITTS.

A MELBOURNE MAN'S TESTIMONY.

"290 Rathdown-street, Carlton, March 25, 1905. Messrs. Bonnington and Co. Dear Sirs,—In forwarding you this unsolicited testimonial re your famous 'Bonnington's Irish Moss,' I beg to state that some years ago, whilst in an adjacent State, I contracted a very severe cold. I tried everything that I considered good, without any appreciable effect; in fact, the cold became worse, and when I state that the phlegm was mixed with blood you can form some idea of the severity of the cold. At this critical stage, when I was almost in a state of despair, a friend of mine advised me to try a bottle of your 'Irish Moss.' I did so, and the first dose gave me relief, and in a day or two I was nearly my old self again. I took altogether three (3) of your small bottles, and was completely cured. Since then I have not used anything else, and it has had the same effect with my wife and little ones. It seems to give instantaneous relief. You are perfectly at liberty to use this as you think fit, as I consider your 'Irish Moss' cannot be too well known; and, further, I shall be only too pleased to recommend it personally, for I consider it undoubtedly the Best Remedy extant, and consider you have conferred a lasting boon on humanity. Trusting that your famous remedy for colds, etc., will meet with the success it deserves,

"I remain, yours gratefully, M. M. HALE."

A VENTRILOQUIST'S OPINION.

"Walgett, N.S.W., July 3, 1905.
"Messrs. Bonnington and Co., Sydney.
Dear Sirs,—I write a line to let you know that I have just taken 'Bonnington's Irish Moss,' and it has cured me of a very bad cold. I had tried other remedies, but they had no effect. I work with my voice as a singer and a ventriloquist, which is my profession. I have been 30 years on the stage, and have never had a cure like your 'Irish Moss' to clear the voice and give such relief in so short a time. I do not write this for gain, but for the benefit of the public, and you can make whatever use of my name you like. I am known all through this country, and I trust it will do you good by advertising your remedy. I shall advertise it in every town through this State in my ventriloquial act.—Yours truly, R. ANSON (Ventriloquist), Pope's Comedy Co."

MISSION WORK IN LIVINGSTONE'S LAND.

The annual meetings of the London Missionary Society, shortly to be held at Sydney, ought to have a great attraction and interest to every friend of foreign missions, and to all students of anthropology.

This society has a work established in the centre of Africa, on the south shore of Lake Tanganyika, and one of their missionaries, the Rev. Harry Johnson, who has resided in this little known part of the world for 10 years, will speak of the people and the work carried on amongst them.

The story of the Tanganyika Mission ought to be amongst the most fascinating of missionary records, because of its origin, its situation, and its people.

The Lake Tanganyika Mission of the London Missionary Society was established as a memorial to the famous missionary explorer, Dr. David Livingstone. He was the first white man to visit Tanganyika's southern shore. He opened the country in which this work of philanthropy is carried on. He single-handed filled in a great part of the map of this portion of Darkest Africa, previously unexplored and unknown. He died amongst the very people whom the members of the Tanganyika Mission are seeking to elevate, morally, intellectually, and socially. Thus, because of its intimate connection with Africa's most famous missionary explorer, this mission should be second to none in interest.

The situation or sphere of this mission should make it attractive to all. Tanganyika is one of the lakes that form the heart of the Dark Continent. It is the central lake of this central system. Out from the lake's region, northward, flows the Nile into the Mediterranean. From the lakes westward flows the mighty Congo into the Atlantic. From the lakes region eastward flows the river Rodumi into the Indian Ocean, and the Zambesi and the Shiré rivers flow from the lakes district in a southerly direction. Thus, geographically, Tanganyika, the centre lake, is in a sense the heart of Africa.

This lake is an inland sea, for though it is only one of many lakes the length of Tanganyika is equal to the length of England and half of Scotland together; or, in other words, equal to the distance from Aberdeen to Dover. It is the longest lake in the world, being about 60 miles longer than Lake Michigan. Or to give it an Australasian comparison, Lake Tanganyika is longer than is the length of the State of Victoria. It is a lake full of unsolved problems, for it is a marine lake, though 2700ft above the sea level. This Tanganyika problem would alone make the sphere an interesting field of study.

The people of this region, called Awemba, are a primitive savage race, belonging to the same African family as the Zulus. They have many of the characteristics of their southern kinsmen; they are warlike, cruel, and very superstitious. Until the past few years the Awemba have retained all their old barbarous customs. Slavery has been common; massacres have been frequent. Human sacrifices, infanticide, mutilating, and the trial by ordeal have been stopped only within the past six years.

These South Tanganyika races, from the standpoint of missionary work, and also of anthropological study, give special opportunities, for amongst them the missionaries have been the first to settle, and to pioneer the way for Christian institutions, civilisation, good government, and commerce. The mission work in this part of wild, weird Africa has made great strides, but at a great cost, for besides loss of health on the part of numbers of workers, no less than twenty missionaries have willingly laid down their lives in an endeavour to evangelise these natives, dwelling in the land of Livingstone's death, and around the shores of the Lake Tanganyika, one of the attractive and fascinating inland seas in the heart of savage Africa.

SNOWY MOUNTAINS NUMBER OF THE SYDNEY MAIL.

ON WEDNESDAY NEXT,

A SET OF NEW PICTURES.

The "Sydney Mail" of Wednesday next will contain a set of half-a-dozen or more large pictures recently secured in the Snowy Mountains. Nothing of the kind has hitherto been published in Australia.

We suggest that the issue will be an excellent one to post to friends abroad to refresh their ideas on the subject of Australia as a picturesque and beautiful country, with a wonderful variety of scenery. Even in Australia there are many who do not realise the glories of their own country. If the Snowy Mountains were as well known as we would have them be, there would be more heard of Kiandra, Yarrangobilly, and Kosciusko, and less of distant islands.

THE NEW RAILWAY STATION.

Next Wednesday's issue will also contain some striking illustrations in connection with the opening of the Central Railway Station.

AN ISSUE FOR HOME AND FOR FRIENDS ABROAD.

THE ANTI-GAMBLING CRUSADE.

The simple fact that an earnest movement is going on among the public and in the Legislatures of New South Wales and Victoria at the present time for the restriction of the gambling habit may be allowed to speak for itself. Popular opinion in the two principal States has at last revolted against the abuses and extremes associated with the business of gambling, since that is what it has become. At different times we have seen legislation directed against the practice, but if its object was prevention it has dismally failed. Much capital and many ingenious wits are behind the professors of gambling, who minister to the public in this connection under various forms. The game is too remunerative to be given up, and the profits of the professional gambler who does not gamble much himself are so enormous that he can afford to pay for the best professional advice and assistance, and to buy the best information. The consequence is that the very laws nominally passed to repress him and the vice he encourages have been so fenced round and interpreted by legal decisions that the professional has but to keep within the letter of these to find his trade, to all intents and purposes, a protected profession. The restrictions which either very well-meaning or very designing people have professed to place upon him have been turned into a kind of ring-fence, within the circle of which the professional gambler may pursue his nefarious and corrupting occupation with impunity, and even with credit. It is idle to expect to be able to suppress gambling by a few raids or prosecutions under such circumstances. A crusade directed against the Chinese fan-tan players or other small fry is popularly regarded as nothing more than a bit of humorous by-play or make-believe. The professors of the art and those who notoriously practice it on a larger scale go free, and the mere manner in which they flaunt themselves in public acts on the public mind in much the same way as a more or less immoral object-lesson. Warning on the one side is offered, and florid prosperity on the other—and in the meanwhile the young and the foolish and those otherwise easily misled, draw their own usually erroneous conclusions.

If there is a difficulty in the way of suppressing or restricting gambling because of the manner in which the practice has been buttressed up by legal decisions in this left-handed way, there is a not less troublesome one in the shape of that obstinate instinct which can only be gratified by the act of gambling in some shape or other. "Why," ejaculated Mr. Bent in the Victorian Legislative Assembly the other evening, "people will bet about everything—about which fly will fly first—or about which mosquito will buzz the loudest?" When a horse-race is not available a pony-race will do, and enterprising bettors may be found, we have no doubt, ready to make a book about anything. If they do they will experience no difficulty in finding people with whom to make bets, and this appears to have been the case for as long as human history has any record. "Gaming is an enchanting witchery, gotten between idleness and avarice," wrote the sagacious Cotton more than two centuries and a quarter ago, and he might quite justly offer the same observation on the Randwick flat to-day. We cannot gainsay the universality of the practice, and it is a mere waste of time to argue upon the subject. We are bound in the first place to take facts as they stand, if we are to approach this question of gambling in any serious spirit. Having done that, and conceded all that is necessary, it will be time to begin to consider what may best be attempted for the purpose of checking the evil. It is a matter which must be approached with a candid mind, and with some knowledge of the tricks and arts of the gambler's trade and the extent to which he is able to use the law for his own protection. Mere hysteria, or a blind desire to sweep the evil out of existence by a single blow, would be likely to do far more harm than good.

It would be well, also, if the public mind could be freed from a certain agglomeration of cant which has collected round this particular subject. Some people carry their abhorrence of gambling to such a pitch as to make it include everything. They hold that a person gambles and makes a bet with an assurance company that he will live for a longer or shorter period, every time a life policy is taken out. In the same way the man who holds for a rise in the price of wheat or butter, as well as he who buys or sells on the fluctuation of the stock or mining market, is a gambler also. They might as well say that an individual making an investment for the future instead of spending his ready cash on himself in the immediate present is as much a gamester as he who stakes his money on the fortunes of dice or cards, or ventures it on the result of a horse race. But in all this we are getting perilously near to the cant of the subject, just as those people do from a different direction who strive to bar debate on the gambling evil in general by boisterous interruptions respecting the practice of gaming in clubs. It may be quite true that as much money changes hands in these institutions as anywhere else, and also that the gambling spirit may enter into stock exchange and other speculative transactions as into any other form of investment dependent largely on the element of chance. But the raising of such questions becomes nothing more nor less than a subterfuge and an evasion of the real question when we speak of a crusade against that form of gambling which makes prey of the ignorant and the inexperienced. Society cannot protect itself as a whole against gambling, whatever it may attempt through the punitive agency of the law in the way of suppression in public. But it can put forth the powers it undoubtedly possesses to influence the Legislature in the interests of the thousands of young people who are caught every year in the meshes skilfully spread for them by those who live on the vice. It is society's duty to protect the defenceless. It may be argued that laws are not made in the interests of the foolish, and that it is no part of the Legislature's duty to take grandmotherly precautions to safeguard people who share the common obligation to protect themselves. But glib generalisations of this character have no real bearing on the subject. What everyone knows and feels is that the occasion of gambling is thrust in the face of every schoolboy, and there is no restriction at present on the mean practice of gambling with minors. The three great and pressing reforms are: (1) to reduce the amount of racing, and to place racing under responsible management; (2) to punish betting with minors; and (3) to permit betting only on racecourses. We are glad to find that Mr. Wade's bill offers us an approximation to two of these conditions.

FRANCE REFUSES SOCIALISM.

It happens by one of the coincidences of history that the year, which has been made memorable for the Russian people by the failure of their first attempt at Parliamentary government, has, among their allies, the French, witnessed the settlement of the two main issues in the political life of the Republic. M. Waldeck Rousseau and the Ministers who followed him in rapid succession have carried a number of reforms of a material kind, and have for this reason gained the bulk of their support from the masses of the people, but if we may accept the defence of these Ministers put forward in their speeches their measures were not regarded as ends in themselves. They were considered to be one aspect of the policy designed to bind the nation to the Republic, of which the other side was the disestablishment of the Church. Gambetta's famous and much misunderstood saying, "Clericalism is the enemy," meant nothing more than that the Church had conspired with monarchists and others so often that to vote for a disestablishment was the duty of every good Republican. In the succeeding years Republicans have been divided on questions of method, and succeeding Ministers have been taxed in order to carry out a great change by diplomacy instead of by civil war, but after the last election it is no longer in question that both in method and in principle the nation is on the same side as its leaders, and as a result of the recent conference it is now apparent that the Church recognises their decision. The settlement of this quarrel must mark the end of a definite stage in the history of parties in France, for the combination of groups in the Chamber, called the Bloc, if it has never for long supported the same Ministry, has for many years been united in support of one principle.

The immediate result of the change has been to throw into pronounced antagonism M. Jaures, the ex-Professor of Philosophy, who now leads the Socialist party, and M. Clemenceau, the great journalist, who is now Secretary for Home Affairs. But for accidental circumstances it is probable that this inevitable conflict would have been postponed, for the Government after the general elections had announced its support of two laws providing for old-age pensions and for the imposition of the income-tax. The crisis, however, was precipitated by the Courrieres disaster and the consequent strikes in Paris and the Pas de Calais. M. Clemenceau, the ally of M. Jaures, through the Dreyfus campaign, has by his policy lost the support of the organised workmen, and has been driven to declare the fundamental difference between himself and the Socialists. Whereas he formerly acted with them in a warfare against privileges, military or clerical, he is their opponent when they obstruct and plunder the houses of men who take the places of others out on strike, and he has further excited them by the introduction of soldiers into Paris, where it was feared a general strike would be declared on May Day. With all the bitterness which is aroused by the supposed case of an apostate turned preacher, M. Jaures, in a debate in the Chamber, assailed these administrative acts, and at the same time denounced the proposals of the Ministry as palliatives but not remedies for existing evils. In exact detail he laid down the conditions of a new order, and promised to place the detailed plans of his party before the Chamber in a series of bills before the end of the session. The great proprietors, whether of land or means of production, were to be bought out in the interests of the State; their property was not to be confiscated, but they were to be recompensed with what is vaguely described as a right to buy, not stocks or workshops but the product of social activity thus transformed and nationalised.

M. Clemenceau had an easy task in defending his administration. He had secured social peace by methods which were justified by the principles of the Revolution. He had himself maintained, and with much difficulty taught his subordinates to maintain, the right of the individual to work or to strike, and the right of the State to intervene when violence is threatened. This was his answer to the guild of workmen whose object had been so to disorganise the Government as to make the idea of patriotism untenable. In his main thesis M. Clemenceau followed the line of argument which has become familiar to English students in the later work of Mill, though the examples by which he supported it would have astonished Mill's contemporaries, or, indeed, would astonish his modern disciples. If the only alternative to a socialistic State was the existing order then M. Clemenceau, like Mill, would choose socialism. He holds, however, that the part of a reformer is not to cut himself off from history, but to build on the foundations of the past. Advance will be made not by the theorist, but by the opportunist who will balance the effect of each change by a correction of the evils it leaves untouched. On these lines the authors of the Factory Acts followed the liberating work of Cobden and Bright, and a succession of Ministers in France has made liberty not merely a privilege to compete at any odds, but a positive right to individuality. There is not one alternative to socialism but a hundred, and no one can predict from which of them civilised communities will in the end appropriate most. Humanity is still so intent on the old game of "cheat the prophet" that a reformer with a system is more likely to involve mankind in rebellion and bloodshed than to secure universal happiness.

The speeches of these two leaders were marked by a power of eloquent and concise expression for which Englishmen would have to go to Burke for a parallel. The impression they give to an Australian interested in similar controversies is that in all our debates half the trouble is caused by vagueness of definition. The French have this advantage that for them neither of the advocates shirks the difficulties of his ideal. M. Clemenceau is altogether opposed to centralisation. Mr. Jaures believes in it, and does not rest on the fallacy that though administration will be carried out by imperfect instruments, yet State control will accustom the people to regard the State as a universal parent. Quite as instructive as the debate was the support which M. Clemenceau received from the Chamber, who voted by 378 votes to 78 that his speech should be placarded throughout the country, and refused his opponent a similar honour. M. Clemenceau, who has destroyed many Ministers by his pen, can now maintain his own as the champion of Radical France against the Socialists. There is no people in the world among which the instincts of ownership and of thrift, the instincts to which the idea of State proprietorship or State property is most repugnant, are so deeply rooted as among the French. A sound land system and adequate protection for workmen have encouraged among them that passion for continuity which binds men to the land, and makes the right of inheritance one of the chief motives for their exertion. At the same time there is no people that has shown a greater devotion to the State than was shown by the French after the losses of 1870. The French Parliament must be the envy of other Parliaments in its freedom from constitutional and religious difficulties, and the French people must be an encouragement to them to believe that progress can be made without abandoning the work of history.

To-day's "Herald."—Mr. Lucy touches on the sympathy of the House of Commons with the Premier in his absences from the business of Parliament, due to his wife's illness. The King's Sanitarium for Consumptives at Midhurst, Surrey, is described. Mr. H. G. Wells is still at large in America, and seems to be drawing copious stores of edification from his pilgrimage. Especially it would appear that the American is troubled by his outlook under individualism. "Hal o' the Wynd" discourses on the old mansions and gardens of Sydney, and observing as we all must that these gracious old places are vanishing before the "march of improvement," he pleads for a memorial of them ere it be too late. "In Arden" is the title of a paper on one of those pleasant country resorts so many of which are fortunately near to Sydney. A short sketch of the further proceedings of the Government tourist party from Kiandra to Tumut will be of interest, in view of the despatch of another party to the State's Antarctic region. "Science Notes" discuss the Rontgen rays, Koch's latest views of tuberculosis, the starry hosts, and the age of the earth. "In the Garden" will be found to embrace seasonable notes for the cultivation of many garden favourites.

The Cadet Movement in England.—Efforts are being made to extend the cadet movement in England, and with this object in view the secretary of the National Service League in London wrote to Senator Dobson in June last, desiring to be supplied with details as to the working of the Public school cadet system in Australia. The following is an extract from the letter received by Senator Dobson on the subject:—"I should be extremely obliged if you could, if possible, secure for me photographs of the cadet battalions of each State of the Commonwealth. I want to have a big series of slides giving illustrations of military training of every kind in every part of the Empire, as well as illustrations of foreign armies, manoeuvres, etc. Photographs of cadet training and anything in the nature of patriotic ceremonies, such as saluting the flag, etc., would be particularly valuable." Senator Dobson has placed himself in communication with the military authorities in each State, with the view of obtaining the required photographs.

Home Rule for Ireland.—The Irish envoys were welcomed at the Town Hall last night by an enormous gathering. Cardinal Moran presided, and had Mr. Devlin, M.P., and Mr. J. T. Donovan on his right and left respectively. The burden of the evening's labour fell on Mr. Devlin, who charmed his hearers with a speech of nearly two hours' duration, and delivered with that enunciation and intonation which make the public speaking of the educated Irishman so fascinating. Florid touches and pathetic cadences roused the listeners to an ecstasy of delight, and even convinced opponents of Home Rule might have been excused for opening their hearts and shutting their critical ears to the voice of the speaker. The substance of the address necessarily strongly appealed to the audience, and it would be difficult to imagine a more enthusiastic meeting. Mr. Holman, the member for Cootamundra, moved a resolution of welcome, and he was accorded an ovation which would have gladdened the heart of any great champion. Mr. Donovan made a short speech in reply, saying that already their mission had won thousands of converts in Australia. The dominating note of the speeches was an abiding belief that the fight for Home Rule was about to end in victory, and Mr. Donovan went so far as to say that the next delegation would come to Australia to thank Australians for having assisted to give autonomy to Ireland.

The Dorrigo Lands.—In connection with the proposed setting apart of the Dorrigo lands for conditional purchase lease, arrangements have been made for two guides to direct inspecting applicants, one to be stationed at Bobo Plain, or thereabouts, and the other at the Wild Cattle Creek end, near Dorrigo. Mr. E. Loxton has been appointed for the former, and Mr. T. J. Navin for the latter end. The guides are conversant with their respective localities, and will afford any information, and point out the surveyed blocks to intending applicants. They will also be in charge of the accommodation huts, which it is expected will shortly be completed for the convenience of inspecting prospective settlers.

North Newtown School.—A deputation representing the Newtown Council recently waited upon the Minister for Public Instruction with regard to the insanitary state of the North Newtown (Bligh-street) Public School. It was stated that the buildings were very much in need of repair, and that the time had arrived for the erection of new buildings to take the place of the existing wooden structures. The Minister has informed the council that plans for new buildings have been prepared, and it was intended to proceed with the work as soon as the estimates are passed. In the meantime steps will be taken to provide at once the new sanitary arrangements in connection with the new buildings, and the preliminary work will be put in hand without delay.

Total Eclipse of the Moon.—Mr. H. A. Lenehan, F.R.A.S., Acting Government Astronomer, directs attention to the total eclipse of the moon that will occur this evening. The moon will enter the earth's shadow at 9.11 p.m., and will be completely eclipsed at 10.9 p.m. At 11.51 p.m. the total phase ends, and the last contact with the shadow is predicted to take place at 50 minutes after midnight. Between the hours of 9.30 p.m. and midnight every opportunity should be taken by those having sufficient optical means to observe the disappearance and reappearance of small stars during occultation.

Law Business.—As the Bank Holiday, which, according to date, fell on the 1st instant, is to be observed on Monday next, the various jurisdictions of the Supreme Court and the Arbitration Court will not sit on that day. The High Court has decided to follow suit, and make the holiday a dies non, as far as legal work is concerned.

A Nominal Seniority.—Among the points of etiquette which govern the inner working of the Bar, the one perhaps most rigidly observed is that of seniority. This fact caused some embarrassment to a junior member yesterday, who announced to the Full Court that he appeared in a case in conjunction with another barrister who is also on the threshold of his forensic career. The Chief Justice inquired who was the senior of the two, and the learned gentleman addressed, after some hesitation, replied, "Well, I suppose my colleague is; at any rate, he was admitted about two minutes before I was." Mr. Whitfeld suggested that the two juniors might be bracketed as legal twins.

Technical Education at Camperdown.—The Minister for Public Instruction, Mr. B. B. O'Conor, replying to representations made on behalf of the Parents' Association in connection with the Camperdown Public School, has stated that it is the intention of the department to make some alterations in the teacher's residence there, so as to provide two class-rooms. It is proposed to use one of these as a manual training-room, and the other as a needle-room, in connection with the Camperdown school, the rest of the building already being occupied by the cookery classes established there.

School Libraries.—Mr. Donald E. Fraser ("An ex-Out-Back Exile") writes to combat the assertion that Public school teachers have little time or inclination to endeavour to turn the minds of pupils from literature of the Deadwood Dick type. He maintains that hundreds of teachers have both the desire and the ability to do so, and now that the new syllabus has allowed them greater freedom to use more humanity and less mere mechanism in their work, they are sedulously encouraging the love of clean literature. A potent medium for this encouragement is the school library movement, which has grown with gratifying rapidity until now 90 per cent. of the schools have libraries, even far away Tibooburra, Milparinka, and Barrigun boasting such institutions. Mr. Fraser concludes with an appeal to parents and the public generally for a steady stream of literary supplies, laying special stress on the acceptableness of contributions of Australian books and papers.

The Tugboat Industry.—The award of the Arbitration Court, between the Sydney and Manly Ferry Employees' Union, and Messrs. J. and A. Brown, tugboat proprietors, which was pronounced towards the end of last year and modified a few months ago, will probably be made an award between the claimant union and Messrs. Fenwick and Co., also tugboat proprietors. A dispute with Messrs. Fenwick and Co. was before the Arbitration Court yesterday, and it was asked, on behalf of the union, that the modified award in Brown's case should be made an award with respect to their industry. Mr. Broomfield, for the respondents, said he would say nothing with respect to the application for obvious reasons, but would leave the matter entirely in the hands of the Court. The President, Judge Heydon, said the Court would make a pronouncement early next week—probably on Tuesday.

Fish for School Museums.—Some time ago the Naremburn Public School started a museum to which the Fisheries Board consigned some specimens of our best known fish. The example of the suburban school has been followed by that at East Kempsey, where the head-master, Mr. Lobban, has made arrangements for the effective display of ichthyological specimens. The Fisheries Board this week decided to furnish the North Coast school with 47 species of fish in order to encourage interest in the fisheries of the State. The fish will be in bottles in a state of preservation, but their natural colours will not be found at all well preserved.

Pressure on Fish Agents.—The Fisheries Board has for a long time been endeavouring to compile records of the fish received in the Sydney Markets, but the furnishing of returns by fish agents has been so irregular that the task has proved one of considerable difficulty. The board, therefore, at its meeting on Wednesday, decided to exercise the powers conferred upon it by sections 16 and 17 of the Fisheries Act, and take action against all fish agents who do not send weekly returns. The sections upon which the board relies are to the effect that all persons selling or exposing for sale fish or oysters at any fish markets shall, if so requested, furnish in writing to the board a weekly statement of all fish and oysters consigned to or sold by them. The Act provides also that the quantity of each species of fish, and the waters whence they came, shall be given. Any person failing to furnish such statements every week is liable to a penalty not exceeding £2. A similar provision is made in the Act in respect of shop-keepers who receive fish direct from fishermen without their passing through the market.

Royal Art Society.—The council of the Royal Art Society, presided over by Mr. W. Lister Lister, held a meeting on Thursday evening, at which it was arranged that the annual dinner should be held in the exhibition rooms on Saturday, August 25, the show to be open to the public on the 27th. Much routine business was transacted, and 23 new members were elected and others nominated for next meeting.

Plague Rats.—The almost daily discovery of plague rats in what is regarded as the infected area of the city is causing considerable concern to the authorities. One wharf in particular is a source of great trouble. Since the beginning of the year 108 plague rats have been found, and practically the whole of them have come from the Darling Harbour area, while a very large percentage were caught at the particular wharf referred to, where the conditions were unusually congenial for rats, and render the spot a breeding ground not only for the rodents but for plague.

Naval News.—H.M.S. Pegasus, which has been on a cruise among the islands of the New Hebrides Group and Noumea with Sir Everard F. im Thurn (High Commissioner for the Western Pacific and Governor of Fiji) on board, returned to Suva yesterday. H.M.S. Challenger, which recently received her new crew at Singapore, arrived at Albany yesterday from Fremantle, and will remain in port there for a week. The United States cruiser Baltimore resumed her voyage to Manila from Townsville on Thursday.

Slippery Streets.—A deputation representing the Women's Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the Cabmen's Union, the Vanmen's Union, and others waited upon the Lord Mayor at the Town Hall yesterday for the purpose of drawing attention to the accidents caused to horses through the slippery state of the wood-blocked streets. The complaint is an old one, and admittedly a difficult one to deal with. On the one hand, the shopkeepers and others are continually complaining of the dust nuisance, and when the streets are watered the blocks become greasy, and horses are frequently brought down in consequence. It was held that valuable animals at times had to be destroyed through accidents caused by the slippery roads. Alderman Allen Taylor, in reply, expressed sympathy with the deputation, and promised to bring the representations made before the council.

Objections to Extensive Oyster Leases.—Recently the Fisheries Board decided to lease 10,000 yards of foreshore in Pittwater to an enterprising man for oyster-fattening beds. The area was not continuous, but scattered round Pittwater, Bayview, Newport, Careel Bay, The Basin, and Saltpan Point. Several objections were, however, received to the leasing, residents having water frontages urging that there would be depreciation of their property, interference with their water approach, and deprivation of net-fishermen by taking away their hauling grounds. They also pointed out that unsightly stakes and stones would be laid on the leases in connection with oyster culture, and that the sewage from houses round this arm of Broken Bay would make the oysters dangerous food. Mr. F. Farnell (chairman of the board) and Mr. J. A. Brodie (chief inspector) paid a visit to the place a few days ago to investigate the validity of the objections, and reported that none of the objections was tenable. Provision had been made for boat access to properties abutting on the lease, the hauling grounds were not to be leased, the Navigation Department had no objection to the erection of ballast walls to protect the oyster banks at Careel Bay and Saltpan Point so long as they did not extend further out than low water mark, and there was no danger of the oysters becoming affected by sewage. With this report before it the board decided to grant the majority of the leases, but set apart Towler's and Lovett's Bays and other parts used by the public for public oyster reserves.

The Canadian Mail Service.—The new turbine steamer Maheno, of the Union S.S. Company, has made another quick run to Vancouver, having arrived there on Tuesday morning last, two days ahead of time. Considering that she remained at Suva for more than a day waiting for the connecting steamer from Auckland, and also made a call at Fanning Island, the performance is an especially creditable one.

It is advertised that the list of electors for the shire of Kanimbla will be ready and open for inspection at Lawson for 14 days from August 11. Lists can also be seen at the office of Gordon and Gotch, Pitt-street.

The annual meeting of the N. S. Wales auxiliary of the London Missionary Society is advertised to be held on Thursday evening next. His Excellency Sir Harry Rawson will preside. The list of speakers includes the Rev. H. Johnson, a missionary worker from South Africa.

Last evening at St. James's Hall Professor Woodhouse delivered the fifth of a series of University extension lectures on the history of Greek sculpture. The subject chosen was "Lysippos and the Early Hellenistic Age." Miss Rawson and a Government House party attended.

"A" and "B" companies of the St. George's English Rifles Regiment held a social at the Victoria Barracks last night. The affair was largely attended by the members of the regiment and their friends.

A meeting of the Electrical Association was held last evening in the Royal Society's Rooms, Elizabeth-street, presided over by Mr. F. C. Webb (president). There was a good attendance. Mr. F. B. Shenstone read an interesting paper on "Tramcar Equipments and their Maintenance."

The monthly meeting of the North Sydney Women's Branch of the People's Reform League is advertised to be held on Tuesday.

A number of business men assembled at No. 57 George-street yesterday afternoon for the purpose of witnessing a trial of the Poolman smoke purifying apparatus. It is claimed that the invention will clear smoke of all soot, and can be applied to any class of furnace. The apparatus, which includes a spray of water and certain chemicals, works upon the rising smoke, the liquid laden with soot particles being led away from the bottom of the chimney.

In connection with the boat race on the Parramatta River to-day, a 10 minutes' tramway service will be in force on the Abbotsford line and 20 minutes on the Burwood-Mortlake line. A special service will also be run to the Cricket Ground in connection with the football matches.

We have been asked to call attention to a public notice in our advertising columns announcing the dates and places when and where provisional lists of electors for Kuring-gai Shire may be inspected, together with ordinances under which qualified electors whose names have been omitted from the rolls may claim enrolment, or make objection to any name which may have been wrongly inserted.

The Railway Commissioners notify that commencing Monday next an additional tram will run on Elliott-street to Darling-street wharf line, leaving Elliott-street at 10.50 and Darling-street wharf 11.14 p.m. daily (Sundays excepted).

"A Passenger" writes to complain that on Thursday morning a compartment of one of the passenger cars on the 7.30 a.m. train Sydney to Parramatta accommodated seven dogs, to the annoyance and inconvenience of passengers who had taken their seats. The dogs accompanied three men.

A correspondent complains of an injustice to pupil teachers in the new educational regulations, which provide that teachers who pass the final examination after four years' of service should have a year's training at the Training College without charge, but also without salary. The salary does not amount to £1 a week, and without it many teachers would be placed in a position of great difficulty.

FIRE AT CLARENCE TOWN.

STEAMER BURNT TO WATER'S EDGE.

CLARENCE TOWN, Friday.

A great fire broke out at Clarence Town at about 3 o'clock this morning. The flames are supposed to have originated in the stokehold of the steamer Cooreel, 64 tons, belonging to the Williams River Steam Navigation Company. The fire spread so quickly that nothing could be saved from the vessel, which burnt quickly to the water, and now lies a total wreck on the opposite side of the river, whither she was towed to save her from obstructing navigation.

The large iron store facing the wharf was completely destroyed with its contents, consisting of groceries, drapery, and farm produce. The brick store and the company's offices were entirely burnt out, the walls only being left standing. The steamer Cooreel was insured for £2000 in the Royal Insurance Company, and the buildings were insured for £800 in the Mercantile Mutual Insurance Company. These sums cover only about one-third of the losses sustained.

Dungog and Clarence Town storekeepers and publicans are heavy losers, also farmers, who lost a great quantity of hay and chaff, which they had purchased to keep their stock alive.

Fortunately the company's steamer Favourite was available to take up the Cooreel's trip to Newcastle to-day.

RUSSIA'S WAR FOR FREEDOM.

MUTINIES IN BALTIC FORTRESSES.

MACHINE GUNS MOW DOWN THE REBELS.

CONSTERNATION IN ST. PETERSBURG.

OVER-ZEAL LEADS TO A FIASCO.

OUTBREAK AT CRONSTADT

ALL NEWS CENSORED.

LONDON, Aug. 3.

Two thousand five hundred sailors and 400 soldiers at Cronstadt mutinied, and a state of war has been proclaimed. Telegrams describing the mutiny have been forbidden.

The official statement is that only two naval battalions quartered ashore revolted at night. Infantry with quickfirers dispersed sailors and civilians attempting to break through the gates of the arsenal.

The mutineers then took refuge in Fort Constantine, where a red flag was hoisted. The bombardment of the fort led to its surrender.

The casualties included four captains killed, and Admiral Baklemyscheff and two captains wounded.

Later.

It has been ascertained that the mutineers on reaching the Constantine battery did not receive any help. The artillerymen, who were surprised in their sleep, defended their own officers and the guns. Thus the mutineers were compelled to meet the fire of the machine guns with rifles.

Four rounds from the big guns secured the surrender of the rebels. Thereupon seven men were courtmartialled on the spot and shot forthwith for murdering their chiefs.

The cause of the outbreak at Cronstadt is admittedly entirely political.

SVEABORG FIASCO.

FINNS' MISGUIDED ZEAL.

PREVENTS DIVISION OF TROOPS.

It is now apparent that the outbreak of sailors and soldiers at Sveaborg was preconcerted, and was intended to attract a large number of troops from St. Petersburg, and thus facilitate the mutiny at Cronstadt, and possibly in the capital; but the misguided zeal of the Finnish Red Guards in damaging the railway impeded the movements of Russian troops, hence the collapse of the revolutionaries' plans.

The only result of the revolutionaries' fiasco at Cronstadt will probably be to drive the Government further in the direction of reaction.

Two companies of sappers and miners at Skatudden, a portion of Sveaborg fortress, joined the mutineers. They entered the officers' quarters, and killed Colonel Alexandroff, commandant of the miners. They also killed the second in command, and captured other officers.

The mutiny at Sveaborg was crushed after the battleships Czarevitch and Slava had subjected the fortress to a terrible bombardment.

WARSHIPS SEIZED.

CONSTERNATION IN THE CAPITAL.

LONDON, Aug. 4.

Portion of the crew of the armoured cruiser Pamyat Azova, 6734 tons, mutinied near Reval. They killed the captain and four officers.

The cruiser Asia also mutinied at Abo, on the Gulf of Finland, hoisted the red flag, and started for Helsingfors.

Later.

The loyal section on the Pamyat Azova subsequently gained the upper hand, and delivered to the authorities 150 mutineers.

It is asserted at St. Petersburg that four mutinous warships from Helsingfors have arrived at Cronstadt, and that the guns of the fortress were trained on them, but they did not fire.

The utmost alarm and apprehension prevail at St. Petersburg.

GENERAL STRIKE IMMINENT.

LONDON, Aug. 3.

A conference of all revolutionary bodies at St. Petersburg yesterday decided to proclaim an immediate general strike.

ASSASSINATION AT WARSAW.

STATE OF SIEGE WANTED.

Reuter's correspondent at Warsaw telegraphs that Lieutenant-General Scalon, the Governor-General, threatens to resign unless the city is put in the strictest state of siege.

BRITISH SOCIALISTS' SYMPATHY.

A CALL FOR FUNDS.

At a meeting of the British National Committee of the International Socialist Congress, held yesterday under the presidency of Mr. A. Henderson, M.P., it was resolved to offer cordial sympathy to the labour and socialist organisations of Russia in their efforts to rouse civilians and the military to resist and overthrow the cruel tyranny of the Czar and the bureaucracy.

The meeting also resolved to urge the British people to subscribe funds to aid the movement for freedom.

ANTICIPATING MURDER.

A reactionary newspaper at Moscow published the news of the murder of M. Hertzenstein, a wealthy member of the late Duma, 12 hours before it was perpetrated on the beach at Terioki.

THE MUTINY AT DASHBULAGH.

The garrison at Dashbulagh, in the Caucasus, which murdered its commander and eight other officers, and assumed the administration of the district, surrendered when a body of Cossacks arrived.

SOCIALIST PRINTING WORKS.

A great Socialist printing establishment has been discovered at Moscow. It was engaged in reproducing the manifesto of the members of the dissolved Duma who held a conference at Viborg. Twenty persons were arrested.

PREVENTABLE DISEASE.

TEN MILLION STERLING WANTED.

LONDON, Aug. 2.

Professor Ray Lankester, of the Royal Institution of London, addressing the British Association for the Advancement of Science, advocated the expenditure by the Government of £10,000,000 per annum for the investigation of, and attempts to destroy, disease. The professor said that thousands of people died every year from preventable disease.

COLONIAL MARRIAGES BILL.

The Goodwood Cup closed with an entry of 171, of which 42 escaped the forfeit declared in March last, but with the exception of St. Amant, Rydalhead, Gorgos, Plum Centre, Plum Tree, Polymelus, Rouge Croix, and Llangibby, the candidates had not achieved much fame on the racecourse. The winner, Plum Tree, was bred by Mr. A. W. Cox, and is by his Majesty's horse Persimmon from Cauliflower, by Common from Ethel Agnes, by Bend Or from Tiger Lily, by Macaroni. During the current season he secured the Red Rose Stakes of £887 at Manchester, and thereby incurred a penalty of 5lb for the Cup. Plum Centre, who ran second, was bred by Lord Alington, and is by Persimmon from Fuse, by Bend Or from Fusee, by Marsyas, and was purchased as a two-year-old by his present owner for 110 guineas. Last season he won a couple of races, worth £2025, the more important of which was the Prince of Wales Stakes, worth £1575, at Ascot. Gorgos, who occupied third place, won a couple of races, worth £3160, as a two-year-old, and this season distinguished himself by annexing the Two Thousand Guineas.

THE FIRE ON THE PITCAIRN ISLAND.

GERMAN SUBMARINE.

A submarine for the German navy was launched at Kiel to-day. The vessel has a speed of nine knots when submerged, and 12 knots when travelling on the surface.

The first submarine built in Germany was launched from the Germania yards on August 30, 1905. She is a sister vessel to the one now launched, having a displacement of 180 tons, with a length of 128ft, and a submerged displacement of 240 tons.

The annual meeting of the Animals' Protection Society of N. S. Wales was held on Thursday, and was presided over by Mr. C. H. Myles. The report showed that there was a considerable diminution in the number of street exhibitions of cruelty to animals, thus affording evidence of the beneficial results of the society's operations. The society had been unremitting in its efforts to develop public feeling against pigeon shooting and the use of the bearing rein. The report was adopted, and the office-bearers elected for the year.

SOUTH AFRICA'S FUTURE.

AN EMPIRE CONCERN.

GOVERNMENT'S AUDACIOUS EXPERIMENT.

LONDON, Aug. 3.

The Montreal "Gazette," in referring to the Constitution granted to the Transvaal, writes that the future of South Africa concern Australasia and Canada equally with Great Britain, and "it is not for such a reckless and audacious experiment as the latest Constitution that we gave so proudly the blood of our bravest."

ORANGE RIVER COLONY.

MURMURS OF DISSATISFACTION.

DISTRUST OF BRITISH FAITH.

Ex-President Steyn, in the course of an interview, stated that he had been watching the Liberal party, and lately he had seen approaching a new era of good understanding between Great Britain and Afrikanders. This fair prospect was now overclouded. Nevertheless all would be well if Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman was only awaiting the report of Sir West Ridgeway's committee on the political conditions in the Orange River Colony before granting a Constitution.

Mr. Fischer, another prominent State officer of the late Orange Free State, said he hoped there would be no delay in granting a Constitution to the Orange River Colony, otherwise distrust in British faith would be re-awakened. It was idle to pretend that if treaty engagements were not kept there would be that cheerful co-operation with the Imperial Government which a responsible Ministry now called to office would give.

AFRIKANDER OPINION.

EXPECTATIONS NOT FULFILLED.

"Ons Land" (the leading Dutch newspaper of Cape Colony) says although the Constitution is an improvement on that of Lord Milner and Mr. A. Lyttelton, the former Secretary of State for the Colonies, yet it in no way fulfils the reasonable expectation of the Boers. It is regrettable, the paper adds, that a degree of mistrust of the Boers is still apparent.

ELECTION IN JANUARY.

Mr. Winston Churchill announced in the House of Commons last night that elections in the Transvaal would take place not later than January.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

THE COUNCIL OF DEFENCE.

NO ENCROACHMENT ON CABINET.

LONDON, Aug. 3.

The Appropriation Bill was read the second time in the House of Commons last night. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman stated that his former fears lest the Committee of Defence should encroach on the Cabinet's responsibility had been allayed. His experience was that the committee was a most satisfactory institution.

CENSUS OF PRODUCTION.

The Census of Production Bill providing for the collection of statistics of the home trade of the country, and of freight earnings of the British mercantile marine engaged in the oversea trade, was read the second time in the House of Commons last night.

The preparation of a scheme for compiling statistics of the home trade of Great Britain and of the freight earnings of the British mercantile marine engaged in the over-sea trade, with due regard to the privacy of the individual firms and shipowners, has engaged the attention of Mr. Lloyd George, president of the Board of Trade, ever since he took office eight months ago. Legislation conferring compulsory powers was found necessary to obtain the requisite information, hence the bill whose second reading has been carried. Questions asked in the House of Commons regarding this matter, the political correspondent of the "Times" points out, call attention to two great gaps in British official statistics, for, as has been frequently pointed out, records of imports and exports, while affording an important indication of the tendency of trade, cover only a small fraction of the whole industrial activity of the country, and, moreover, the absence of any returns as to the gross earnings of our mercantile fleet leaves us without any accurate information as to one of the most important branches of our so-called "invisible exports." It is hopeless to expect that manufacturers will be willing to give monthly and annual returns of their home sales so as to provide the basis for official returns of home trade comparable with the Board of Trade returns of foreign trade. Nor would it be possible to interpret the results, if such results could be obtained, as the aggregate would include many items over and over again. So far, then, as regards statistics of home trade, the Government cannot hope to do more, even by the aid of compulsory legislation, than to make a periodic inquiry at intervals, say, of five or ten years, of the nature of a census of manufactures. Such a census is periodically taken in the United States, and, although the results have been subjected to some criticisms, there can be no doubt that the volumes embodying them are a mine of information with regard to many departments of industrial activity for which in this country we have no equivalent. Probably if it were decided to institute an industrial census in the United Kingdom it would not be thought desirable to make it quite so elaborate as the United States census.

VICTORIA.

IMPORTANT FIND OF GOLD.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Good gold was struck to-day in Cathcart gold mine, Ararat. A rise put up from one of the drives struck splendid wash, giving prospects of ore to 3dwt to the dish. A 2¼oz nugget was got, it is believed, from the same place. The gold is apparently from the Heather Bell lead, which has long been looked for. The find is regarded as of great importance.

BACTERIA IN BED MATTRESSES.

A complaint from Western Australia that a bacteriological examination of flock for beds disclosed innumerable bacteria to the square inch, has actuated the Board of Health to insist on municipalities having proper inspection of these factories. Dr. Norris said to-day that the methods adopted were primitive, not to say farcical, and councils would have to be pressed to issue bylaws which will effectively deal with the matter, and secure uniform procedure.

A MANSLAUGHTER CASE.

Judge Box to-day sentenced Ellen Sykes, who was convicted yesterday of the manslaughter of a young married woman whom she had attended in her confinement, to 12 months' imprisonment. The prisoner is 72 years old, and an appeal was made on her behalf that she be treated as a first offender, but it was refused.

PROFESSOR KEMP SENTENCED.

Professor Kemp, horse trainer, otherwise John Daly, was convicted at the Benalla Sessions to-day of horse stealing, and was sentenced to three years' gaol, with hard labour.

THE V.R.C. AND BOOKMAKERS.

The V.R.C. committee met to-day and considered the decision of the Victorian Full Court in the case of Colman v the V.R.C. The official intimation given was that the committee would appeal to the High Court against the decision.

IRELAND'S HOPES.

PROMISE OF SPEEDY FRUITION.

SPEECH BY SIR ANTONY MACDONNELL.

LONDON, Aug. 3.

Sir Antony MacDonnell, Under-Secretary for Ireland, in the course of a speech at Dublin yesterday, expressed his firm belief of the fruition in 1907 of many of the hopes which the best of Irishmen had for many years entertained. It would be a fruition of so much that Irishmen, if true to themselves, would make it a source from which the whole of their hopes might be fulfilled.

THE IRISH ENVOYS.

GREAT PUBLIC RECEPTION.

THE CAUSE OF HOME RULE.

AN ELOQUENT ADVOCACY.

The Irish Home Rule envoys, Messrs. John Devlin, M.P., and J. T. Donovan, were publicly received by a great gathering of citizens at the Town Hall last night. It recalled the mighty assemblage that welcomed Mr. Redmond some months ago; it was tremendously enthusiastic, and widely representative. Irish citizens of all social ranks and grades, clergy and laymen, men and women, were seated on the platform, in the galleries, and in the body of the hall. A charge was made for admission to the platform and the reserved seats, but the body of the hall was free to any who sought entrance. When the two envoys entered the hall, escorted by a guard of honour, and preceded by Cardinal Moran and Archbishop Kelly, the crowd raised its voice in a ringing welcome.

WORDS FROM THE CARDINAL.

Then Cardinal Moran, as chairman, presented the two envoys—representatives of the Irish party in the Imperial Parliament—who, he said, were that evening the representatives of the whole Irish people. That meant much, for the Irish people were an indomitable race, and particularly indomitable in their zeal for the cause of Ireland. He meant the whole Irish race, who wherever placed were one in love, one in resolve that the days of sorrow and misrule shall cease in Ireland. He would before introducing the speakers refer to the time when Gladstone—(cheers)—introduced into Parliament the great measure for the disestablishment of the Protestant Church in Ireland. That was in 1868. A meeting of the representatives of Orange lodges was held in Dublin, and a motion was passed stating that if the bill were passed the Act of Union would be torn to shreds, and not a vestige of its binding force would remain. To the great joy of the friends of honour and justice and liberty the upas tree was cut down. Were Irishmen not now entitled to take the word of their friends that the Act of Union was void, and nothing more than an empty name? (Cheers.) The Cardinal went on to say that no collection would be made that night, but he hoped that at a further meeting which the envoys would address an opportunity would be presented to their friends of subscribing. (Cheers.)

MR. DEVLIN'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Devlin, who was received with cheers, said he could not express his gratitude for the warm and generous welcome accorded by that mighty meeting to his colleague and himself. He had long looked forward to meeting the Irish people in Sydney, who through 20 years had given consistent and loyal support to the great cause of Ireland. The mission to Australia was not alone to ask for future support, but to return gratitude for all that had been done, and to express the gratitude of the people they represented to that prince of the Church, Cardinal Moran—(cheers)—who was the noblest and mightiest champion of Ireland in Australia. He referred to the past work which Australia had done in the noble cause. He and his colleague were received in Australia by Premiers of the States, by mayors of cities, by representatives and agents of all classes. What was the meaning of that change—a change not only in Australia, but in every part of the British Empire? It showed that there was a wide-spreading recognition that the security of the Empire, the contentment of the Irish people, the universal communion of things of common interest, demanded that this great conflict that had lasted between two great peoples should soon be ended, and the spirit of love and affection should take the place once held by oppression and discontent on either side. (Cheers.) He did not come to appeal to the Irish hearts, their natural passions, their deep-rooted prejudices, because so long as the descendants of the grand old Celtic race lisped the name of Ireland it would always be an enchanting inspiration. (Cheers.) But he came to discuss the question not as if it were an Irish question, but as if it were a question affecting any other country. He appealed to them therefore, to go with him into an analysis of the history of the last 100 years, and see whether the cause could not be justified on logical reasoning. Good government, said the present Prime Minister of England, was no substitute for self-government, because people would rather be governed badly by themselves than be well governed by people of another race. (Cheers.) If it was said that the Russian Government could govern England better than the English could, would there be an Englishman who would say, "let us be governed by Russia"? Would New South Wales accept from Victoria better government than she could provide for herself? (No and applause.) But he was asking for self-government for Ireland, not as a substitute for good government, but as a substitute for bad government. (Applause.) A hundred years or more ago Ireland had a Parliament of her own—a purely Protestant Parliament in a purely Catholic country. Imperfect as it was, it was in 18 years responsible for progress that was the wonder of all Europe—progress industrial, commercial, and agricultural. That constitution was stolen from Ireland by corruption and fraud. Now, what had England done for Ireland in the last 100 years? He quoted Lord Dunraven's statements on the subject, and proceeded to describe the method of the government of Ireland from England. Whenever in England there was any difficulty and the authorities did not know what to do with their friends they transported them to Ireland and left them there. (Laughter.) He spoke of the difficulty Irish members had to get public works done, and eloquently pleaded for pity for poor Irish fishermen whose lives had been lost through the lack of coastal works. He told how members had eloquently appealed to Mr. Chamberlain for harbour works, and how Mr. Chamberlain had sat silent till at length he warmly acknowledged that there should be a harbour at the glorious Woodford Bay. Then he sat down. Irish members shrieked with laughter because there was no such place as Woodford Bay. (Laughter.) Woodford was one of the most inland towns. (Laughter.) How well Ireland was being governed from England was shown by the neglect of the Government to give harbours where they were urgently required, and the promise instead to place a great harbour where there was no bay. (Laughter and applause.) In the absence of good government the Irish people were going away, and Ireland bitterly regretted being robbed of the best asset any country could have—her strong, physical, and virtuous Irish population. The emigrants were not the poorest, but the flower of the land. And they did not go to the colonies of the Empire, but to America. Forty thousand a year, strong and virile, were lost to the Empire, and went to increase the strength of the mightiest Republic. (Applause.) He did not impeach the system alone on the movement of population. What were the symptoms of successful government? Sound institutions, good social and economic conditions. (Applause.) To-day in Ireland one citizen out of every 100 was a pauper in a workhouse. Eighty thousand agricultural persons were compelled to live and rear their families in one single room to each family. The British Government had been appealed to to erect cottages for them; the answer was that the British Government had no time, and the exchequer no money. What did it matter to them that good men and virtuous women were bred like that? They had no money! They should have thought of that before they went to South Africa—(cheers)—where they spent millions of money and thousands of lives for no good to England or to South Africa, except to make a way for a horde of Chinamen. (Applause.) If anyone asked why were the Irish not more loyal than they were, the answer was that you could not expect unbounded loyalty to people who thought more of John Chinaman in South Africa than of Irish peasants in Ireland. (Great cheers.) A Parliament of their own would do all those things for themselves, and build up the destinies of their race at the same time. Through Ireland to-day empty mills and silent factories stood as monuments to the decay of Ireland's industrial power. Irishmen wanted Ireland for the Irish, just as Australians wanted Australia for Australians; they wanted their constitution just as the South African colonies were to be given theirs. Self-governed units of the Empire were ever the most powerful and the most loyal. Ireland was discontented and unhappy because she had been refused that freedom and those rights which had done so much to glorify and establish in strength the segments of the Empire elsewhere. (Cheers.) There was a Home Rule Government in power, and a Home Rule party in Parliament. The party which had a majority of 300 in the Parliament were pledged to Home Rule, and it must come. (Cheers.) The Lord Lieutenants of Ireland had nearly all come back pledged to Home Rule; the Chief Secretaries were similarly affected; the Under-Secretaries and in every branch of Government the men were living impeachments of the system they were sent to carry out. They were all satisfied that if Ireland was to be saved for the Irish and made a loyal part of the Empire it would only be by the concession of that claim for freedom for which she had fought with tenacity unparalleled in the history of the world. (Loud cheers.) He dealt with the argument that if Home Rule were given it would mean a religious ascendancy in Ireland, and advanced premises in refutation of it. Ireland was the only country in the world that had been insulted by a charge of that kind. Of the 80 members sent to Parliament 20 were Protestants. (Cheers.) He urged in glowing terms the religious tolerance of Ireland, and told of the work done in the Irish Home Rule cause by Irish Protestants. The men who made such a charge insulted not only the Irish Proestants of to-day, but they insulted the glorious memory of the dead. The last reason advanced against Home Rule was that the Irish had not the ability to govern themselves. He would take the centre of knowledge and ability—the Imperial Parliament—and taking the Irish members would pit them against the best of the other members, and he was sure that the comparison would be to Ireland's advantage. (Cheers.) Then there were the experiences of the Irish in other lands—in America. In every arena of intellectual and physical activity Irishmen were found doing their duty to their God and to themselves, and loving old Ireland still. (Loud cheers.) He had not been a half-hour in Australia before he saw monuments to the zeal and genius and citizenship of Irishmen. He had seen what the race had done and could do in making for universal strength and national prosperity. Was it any wonder, then, that he was moved by a more and more bitter hatred for that system forced upon his people, and was more anxious to labour unfalteringly for the restitution of those rights which would give his countrymen power to do for Ireland what his countrymen had so splendidly done for all Christian and humane purposes in every part of the world. (Cheers.) He would fight to give an opportunity to Irishmen for applying their genius, their patriotism, their love of devotion, to that land wherein was centred their every hope, every ambition, and every passion. (Loud cheers.) That was the story; it might be a gloomy story, but, thank God, for Ireland a dark night was passing away. (Loud and prolonged cheering.)

A RESOLUTION OF WELCOME.

Cardinal Moran called on Mr. Holman, the member for Cootamundra, to move the first motion. For some minutes he was unable to proceed owing to the warmth of the welcome extended to him. He then read a motion expressing the friendly feeling of the people of New South Wales, and recording their abiding loyalty to the cause so ably espoused from that platform. He said he was not an Irishman, but he endorsed every sentence and letter of the resolution, and he believed the last stage of this long-sustained and glorious struggle was now approaching. (Cheers.)

Mr. F. B. Freehill seconded the motion, which was carried.

Mr. J. T. Donovan, who was splendidly received, acknowledged the compliment. He said they had already made thousands of converts in Australia, and all people were coming to see that there was no sectarianism in the Home Rule advocacy. (Loud cheers.)

A vote of thanks was passed to Cardinal Moran.

STUD SHEEP SALES.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Some splendid prices were obtained for Tasmanian stud sheep at to-day's sales. The top figure was secured by Mr. Charles Grubb for his stud merino ram Magician II., rising 5 years. It was knocked down, after some spirited bidding, to Mr. T. Parramore, for 450 guineas. Mr. H. Gatenby, also a Tasmanian, secured 200 guineas for a two-year-old ram by the same sire as Mr. Grubb's; and Mr. James Gibson obtained a similar price for a three-year-old merino ram by Clinker. The same owner obtained 110 guineas each for two rams, and 100 guineas for another.

The principal sales for New South Wales breeders were as follow:—Merinos: Sir Samuel M'Caughey, Goolgumbla, 1 stud ram, 3 years, by Problem, J. H. Sargood, 25 guineas; 1 ditto, Neil and Ferrar, 27 guineas; 2 ditto, A. S. Chisholm (each), 36 guineas; 1 ditto, Neil and Ferrar, 25 guineas; and several at lower rates. Border Leicesters: Alex. THE NEW STATION.

OPENING ARRANGEMENTS.

In deference to the publicly-expressed objection to the opening of the new railway station on a Sunday, it has been arranged that an official opening will take place to-day. Members of both Houses of the Legislature have been asked to be present, and, in addition, the leading officers of the departments, Railway Commissioners, and Public Works Constructing Branch will be in attendance. General public invitations are not being sent out beyond to a few whose official position renders it appropriate that they should be present, such as the Lord Mayor and the town clerk.

To meet the convenience of those invited to take part special trams will leave Circular Quay (foot of Loftus-street) for the new station direct at 10.30, 10.40, and 10.45 a.m., and they will draw up at the entrance to the new station. Others who may not find it convenient to use the special trams may drive up to the main entrance, via Hay and Pitt streets, or those who are taking part in the ceremony, and will travel on foot, may enter from Pitt-street, nearly opposite Rawson-avenue.

The first train from the new station will leave at 11.15 a.m., and run as far as Parramatta, so as to correspond with the running of the first train when the line was opened to Parramatta a little better than 50 years ago. The train will consist of first-class cars, and special tickets at 2s 6d each return (which passengers will be allowed to retain as mementoes) will be issued for the train. Passengers intending to travel by this train will enter via the subway from Elizabeth-street, on the eastern side.

In regard to the ceremonial opening, a key will be presented to the Premier, who will open the station, and the first ticket will probably be issued to him. The first train will be formally started by the Minister for Public Works. After the departure of the first train there will be a few speeches appropriate to the occasion.

The new station will not be open for general inspection on Saturday or Sunday, as there still remains a good deal to be done in regard to detail arrangements, more particularly with the transfer of the electrical appliances, which would entail some little risk if the general public were moving about while the necessary changes were being made.

VEHICULAR TRAFFIC ARRANGEMENTS.

The chief entrance for vehicles with passengers will be by a new roadway, commencing at Pitt and Hay streets. All vehicles will leave by Pitt-street, at intersection of George-street. Vehicles with passengers coming from western side of station may also enter by this gate. A special yard, with entrance from George-street, near Devonshire-street subway, is provided for outward luggage only. Another yard is provided for inward luggage, with entrance and exit from Pitt-street, opposite Christ Church. A further yard and entrance from Belmore-road, at north-eastern end of the station, are provided, and will be chiefly used on occasions of suburban race meetings and other special traffic. A cab-rank has been provided to hold 80 cabs within the principal enclosure, and extending along the wall on eastern side of Pitt-street. The Inspector-General of Police has arranged for a separate stand for four-wheeled cabs, which are found so convenient in other cities for the conveyance of families with luggage. The stand is within view of the platform, and also within easy hailing distance.

THE COMMONWEALTH.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTERS.)

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The House of Representatives was engaged practically the whole of to-day with the Bounties Bill. The measure has a few opponents, but on all sides of the House there are supporters of the principle of State assistance to new industries by means of a bounty. Mr. Chanter and some others dwelt upon the willingness of Mr. Reid to assist in the establishment of the cotton, and certain new tropical industries, as an indication that all Australia had at last come round to the protectionist view of things, but the limitations imposed by the schedule—in the case of condensed milk, the bounty being equal to some like 5 per cent. on the selling price—are not generally associated with any wildly extravagant protectionists all the same. The total sum that may be granted under the bill is half a million sterling, spread over 10 years, and the Minister, probably encouraged by the support accorded the measure, desired to get the expenditure of the whole sum authorised straight away, but objections were raised to this course, and after the bill had been taken into committee, and the Minister had submitted an amendment, progress was reported. The Postmaster-General obtained leave to introduce his Penny Postage Bill.

The House spun out time until the mail contract was received from the Senate, which had spent the day in closely examining the bill clause by clause. Several amendments were made, the principal one having reference to Parliament approving of any subsequent arrangements that might be made with the company. The contractors have agreed to this proposal, and the House of Representatives concurred in all the Senate amendments, so that the contract has been ratified. The House of Representatives adjourned till Tuesday, and the Senate till Wednesday.

TELEGRAPH MESSENGERS.

Mr. Brown, M.P., has given notice of a bill to amend the Public Service Act, under which telegraph messengers may be compulsorily retired at the age of 18 years. The principal clauses of the bill prescribe that messengers shall cease to be employed as such unless the Public Service Commissioner extends the period. The Commissioner may extend the age from 18 to 20 years in any case where the messenger has passed the prescribed examination, and any messenger, if eligible, may be appointed to or transferred to any other position in the Public Service.

SPIRITS DUTIES.

Under the duties proposed by the Minister for Customs Australian brandies and whiskies will have protection equal to about 5s 10d or 6s per gallon. The duty on imported spirit is charged without regard to its strength. Case spirit, usually 16 per cent. under proof, will, under the new duties, pay 15s per gallon, but the duty on Australian spirit is calculated by the Customs at per proof gallon. Thus Australian spirit 16 per cent. under proof would pay 9s 2d per gallon excise, as against 15s per gallon on imported spirit.

LEATHER BRANDING.

The Minister for Customs met a deputation from the master tanners of Victoria to-day on the question of leather branding under the Commerce Act. He promised the deputation that he would consider a suggestion that the Government brand should be applied to leather containing not more than 5 per cent. of glucose, sugar, soap, oil, and other materials used in its preparation. Great care would have to be exercised before any alterations were made.

FIJI.

SUVA, Friday.

H.M.S. Pegasus, with the High Commissioner for the Western Pacific, and Governor of Fiji (Sir Everard F. im Thurn), on board, returned to-day from a cruise among the islands of the New Hebrides Group and Noumea.

TICK ON THE BORDER.

TWEED HEADS, Friday.

In consequence of the tick discovery here yesterday, the stock inspectors have made a minute examination of cattle to-day within the quarantined area, and they found ticks in many other beasts. The ferries are closed, and all gates secured. Business people are placed at great inconvenience and expense to supply orders beyond the town boundary owing to the quarantine regulations.

Mr. Jas. Sommerville, headmaster of the Longueville Public School, is leaving the district to take charge of the Brookvale school (near Manly). Prior to his departure, and as a mark of appreciation and esteem, he was the recipient of a piece of plate, presented by the teachers and scholars. Mrs. Sommerville was also presented with an article of jewellery. Mr. Campbell, headmaster of the Woolwich school, fills the vacancy at Longueville.

The president of the Metropolitan Fire Brigades Board of Melbourne, Mr. Aikman, M.L.C., entertained at dinner last night the members of the board and principal officers of the brigade, to meet the newly-appointed deputy chief officer, Mr. H. B. Lee. The toast of "Our Guest" was proposed by the chairman, who said that Mr. Lee had been chosen for the position out of 120 candidates, and mentioned that he had served for 15 years in the Sydney fire brigade.

Mr. B. F. Rushton, district locomotive superintendent at Petersburg, South Australia, has been appointed acting Chief Mechanical Engineer of that State to carry out the duties now performed by Mr. Thomas Roberts, who will shortly leave to act as consulting engineer in England for the Australian States.

Mr. H. R. Clack, who successfully carried on business in Brickfield Hill for nearly a quarter of a century, died at his residence, Minerva, Gower-street, Summer Hill, yesterday morning. At the last half-yearly meeting of the members of the Stonehenge Lodge, United Ancient Order of Druids, Past Arch Druids Messrs. W. G. Bieler and H. A. Hart were each presented with a handsomely framed diploma for services rendered to the lodge. The presentations were made by Grand President Turnell and Grand Guardian Starkey.

L. H. (Lancers). Colonel Vernon presided. The toast of "Our Guest" was proposed by Brigadier-Colonel Burns, and supported by Brigade-Major Brunton, both of whom warmly congratulated Colonel Cox on his well-merited promotion. The toast of "Our Retiring Colonel" was proposed by Colonel Cox, and responded to by Colonel Vernon, who, in the course of his remarks, stated that when he was offered the command of the 2nd Brigade A. L. H. he would have preferred to remain with his old regiment, but he felt that he should not stand in the way of the promotion of such a worthy officer as Colonel Cox. A number of other toasts were honoured, and an excellent musical programme was carried out.

A gathering of members and friends of Rose of Sharon Lodge, 116, U.G.L., N.S.W., took place at Baumann's Cafe on Thursday evening, 26th ult., to bid farewell to Bro. H. E. Jones, who has been secretary of the lodge for some years, and is now leaving for New Zealand. On behalf of the members of the lodge, the Worshipful Master, Wor. Bro. Jas. Swan, presented Bro. Jones with a handsome travelling bag, suitably inscribed, and a purse of sovereigns; and a set of silver-mounted toilet brushes and comb for Mrs. Jones. Mr. W. T. Willington, with whom Mr. Jones has been connected in business, presented him, on behalf of the firm, with a valuable dressing-case. Mr. Jones thanked those present for their good wishes.

QUEENSLAND.

LOCAL AUTHORITIES CONFERENCE.

BRISBANE, Friday.

The local authorities' conference was continued to-day. The following resolutions were carried:—That it should be recognised and established as a principle of local government that local authorities have a right to Government endowment upon an equitable basis; that as the New South Wales Government bears the expense of putting down bores, wells, etc., every 20 miles on stock routes from the Queensland border, it is unfair that local authorities should be called upon to do this national work in Queensland territory now that the Government endowment has ceased; and that the conference recommends to the serious consideration of the Queensland Government the advisableness of undertaking such work itself, or granting endowment to such local authorities as do undertake such work.

STATE AIDED SUGAR MILLS.

It has been announced that the Government has foreclosed on lands associated with Gin Gin mill. TATTERSALL'S SWEEPS.

In the Legislative Assembly this afternoon, the member for West Launceston asked the Premier if it was his intention during this session to bring in legislation necessary to refer the question of Tattersall's Sweeps to a referendum of the people. The Premier replied that for reasons already definitely stated in his address to his constituents he had no intention of submitting any question by direct referendum to the people.

THE VETERAN SCULLERS.

OLD-TIME PERFORMANCES.

Richard Augustus Willoughby Green was born at Greenwich, Sydney, August 2, 1836. He began to row about 1850, and retired in 1876, having rowed about 150 races. He won the first Australian sculling championship; was the first to race over the Parramatta River course; beat the English scullers Deward, Candlish, and White. He rowed in many pair-oar races, four-oared races, whale boats, Naval Brigade crews, and stroked the first crew that competed in an intercolonial race. He was the first Australian to row in England, and there he met R. Chambers on the Thames for the championship of England, but was beaten, partly because of illhealth. Until the advent of the late William Hickey he had a most successful career.

Michael Rush was born in Ireland in 1844, and while a resident of the Clarence River district began to row when about 24 years of age. As an amateur he won many races, and becoming a professional in 1870 he put up a great record during the following 14 years. He beat W. Hickey for the Australian championship, and rowed many races against Trickett, Laycock, and others. Towards the end of his career he beat W. Beach, after a very hard race. This was in 1883. In June, 1877, he was beaten by E. Trickett for the championship of the world, this being the first race for the title in Australia. He rowed in heavy boats, light skiffs, best boats, and in double sculling races. In 1883, on the Clarence, he was beaten by Laycock for £1000 stakes.

Elias Connell Laycock was born in Pitt-street, Sydney, in August, 1844. He began to row in 1874, and was a wonderful man from the start, and being over-confident tackled the best men of the day. His first win was in 1875, and he scored many wins up to his retirement ten years later. He rowed Rush several times, and in all kinds of boats. In 1879 he rowed Trickett for the world's championship on the Parramatta, but was beaten. In 1880 he visited England, and there beat T. Blackman, G. H. Hosmer, J. H. Riley, Wallace Ross, and others, and won the final heat of the Hop Bitters prize, getting £500. In February, 1881, he was beaten by E. Hanlan for the championship. In 1882 he again visited England, and beat R. W. Boyd on the Tees. He won the championship belt given by Anniversary Regatta, also the championship of Victoria. In 1884 he rowed Hanlan on the Nepean for the championship, but having broken one of his legs a year before, he was not able to do much good.

Henry Pearce was born in August, 1851, in England. His rowing career began when he was a lad, but he was not much known until about 1874, when he became very successful in heavy boats. He has rowed in this class of boats against all the great men of his day, also in skiffs, best boats, and in fours. He visited England in 1882, where he was beaten twice by J. Largan, one race being for the championship of England. Being a fisherman, he has been in boats nearly all his life, and was fishing on the Hawkesbury the day J. Stanbury was born, his mate being the father of the ex-champion.

Charles Reynolds was born in 1850. He did not row until over 30 years of age, but when he did start he was successful at once in double sculling. He became a fine skiff rower, and won a number of handicaps and other races at regattas. He rowed Beach a great race for a little over a mile, and led him that distance. In 1883 he won the "Punch-Deeble" prize in very fast time on the Parramatta, and soon afterwards retired. For many years he has worked in a quarry on the Lane Cove River, and is a very powerful man.

William Beach was born in England, September 6, 1850. He began to race in 1879, and nine years later had retired with the best record of any man in the world. His first race in Sydney was in December, 1880, and he won a skiff handicap on the harbour. A few days later he was beaten by H. Pearce, and a month afterwards by N. M'Donald. Then he started to win matches, and by the end of the year was recognised as a wonder. His first race in best boats was in the best of company, and Rush beat him by a half-length. He beat Trickett five times with eight starts, and was, when Hanlan came here in 1884, the best man we had. In August of that year he defeated the great Canadian for the championship, and in March following again beat him. Later in the year he beat N. Matterson for the title—he had already defeated Clifford, and there was no one else to row him. In 1886 Beach went to England, and there he, in the space of less than four weeks, beat G. W. Lee, G. Bubear, J. Teemer, J. Gaudaur, and Wallace Ross, two championships, and the sculling sweepstakes. In the latter he won £1324 prize money. He took England by storm, and has ever since been regarded as an ideal athlete. Hanlan was in England at the time, and offered Beach £5000 to row him in America. The offer was declined. Hanlan came here, and was twice beaten by Beach, who then retired, an unbeaten champion. He rowed 33 races, and won 25, and never lost a match race excepting one—to E. Trickett.

Peter Kemp was born on the Hawkesbury River, November 15, 1853. We heard but little of him until 1884, but from that time he did a lot of rowing, and retired in 1892. He was a very skilful sculler, one of the best ever seen, and had good speed. When Beach retired in 1887, Kemp succeeded him, and in the following year put up a remarkably fine performance. He beat Hanlan twice, Clifford, Matterson, M'Lean, and others, but was beaten for the championship by H. Searle. He beat Matterson two days after Searle's race, laying £1000 to £300, the largest stake ever rowed for in a match. After Searle's death Kemp regained the championship by defeating the other claimants, but was beaten later on by J. M'Lean. Kemp has rowed three or four races since his retirement from big racing, and has kept in touch with the game all the while, so he has retained a good deal of his skill.

John M'Lean was born in the Shoalhaven district September 17, 1855, and is the youngest of the veterans, and the last to retire. When he was about 18 years of age he was winning races on the northern rivers, but he did not become known until about 1886, and it was three years later before he rowed on the Parramatta. He started by beating G. Perkins, an ex-champion of England, and after that we heard a good deal of him. He worked his way to the front, and in 1890 beat Kemp for the championship. He also beat J. Stanbury, but twice in 1891 was beaten by Stanbury for the championship. He was a good sculler, but came to the front too late in life to put up a record equal to the best of our veterans.

THE SCULLING CHAMPIONSHIP.

HOW THE COURSE WAS KEPT.

The Harbour Trust Commissioners have received the following letter from Mr. M. A. H. Fitzhardinge, who acted as judge on the occasion of the championship sculling race between G. Towns and Stanbury on the Parramatta River on Saturday last:—"I think it is only right that I should, through you, congratulate your officers for their excellent work in keeping a clear course for the scullers last Saturday. At my end of the course everything was kept in splendid order, and an uninterrupted course was given to the men. I hear the same good account all along the course. The officers in charge deserve the thanks of the public and of the competitors."

THE COMMONWEALTH PARLIAMENT.

THE SENATE.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTERS.)

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The President took the chair at 10.30 a.m.

A TOBACCO WORKER'S TROUBLES.

The MINISTER OF DEFENCE, in reply to Senator Gould (N.S.W.), said the matter of the dismissal of an employee of the British Australasian Tobacco Company over evidence given before the Tobacco Commission, was in the hands of the Law Department officers for advice.

Senator NEILD (N.S.W.): Is the Minister aware that the company has addressed the Government urging that an inquiry should be held?

The MINISTER OF DEFENCE: I have seen several reports in newspapers to that effect.

Senator GOULD (N.S.W.): The Minister will find that there has been a letter addressed to the Government.

AN UNOFFICIAL REPORT.

Senator KEATING, in reply to Senator O'Keefe (Tas.), said that detectives were specially employed in the Post and Telegraph Department. The matter of a detective's report published in a Tasmanian newspaper, which had not been given to the department, was now under inquiry.

SUGAR DUTY.

On the motion of Senator Stewart (Q.) it was ordered "That a return be laid on the table showing (1) the total amount of revenue collected since Federation by means of (a) customs duties on sugar; (b) excise duties on sugar. (2) The total amount paid as rebate and bounty to growers of sugar by white labour from the date of Federation to June 30 last. (3) The cost of paying the said sum as rebate and bounty.

THE MAIL CONTRACT.

Consideration was resumed in Committee on Senator Stewart's proposed amendment to the mail contract—for a stipulation to be included that the steamers should call at Melbourne, Sydney, Brisbane, and Hobart.

After a long debate the amendment was negatived by 24 votes to 5, the minority being Senators Stewart, Higgs, Dobson, Neild, and Guthrie.

The addition to article 3 agreed to in the House of Representatives regarding the period of transit was then passed.

Senator KEATING moved an alteration to article 6, which relates to the conditions as to an accelerated service to provide that they should be determined by mutual agreement, subject to the approval of Parliament by resolution.

The amendment was agreed to.

Senator GUTHRIE (S.A.) moved that article 7—"That during the prevalence of the south-west monsoons, the period of transit from Adelaide to Brindisi shall be extended by 36 hours"—be struck out.

The proposal was negatived by 23 votes to 5.

Senator CLEMONS (T.) urged that something should be done in regard to the article containing the term registered tonnage, otherwise the contractors, finding they had undertaken to build 20,000 ton steamers, would ask for the contract to be altered.

A long discussion took place in regard to the meaning of the term.

Senator DE LARGIE (W.A.) argued that 11,000 tons registered tonnage meant gross register.

Senator GUTHRIE (S.A.) contended that it meant net.

Senator CLEMONS (T.): The Government should have cabled last night to England and settled the matter.

Senator GUTHRIE: One reason why the contract was objectionable was that Mr. Croker, knowing all the disclosures of the Butter Commission, had not asked for a clause to protect the producers of Victoria.

The MINISTER OF DEFENCE said the Government considered that registered tonnage meant gross, and they were perfectly satisfied to get 11,000 ton ships. If the contractors liked to make them bigger all the better.

Senator GUTHRIE moved that the article be struck out.

On division Senators Guthrie and Stewart were the only members in favour of the motion, which was therefore negatived.

On the motion of Senator Keating, an alteration was made to article 15, dealing with the bearing of future federal legislation on the service, an insertion being made to make it clear that such legislation should have to "directly" relate to shipping, in order to come within the provisions of the contract.

Senator GUTHRIE (S.A.) proposed a new article to provide that should the ships be taken over by the Government it should be on their actual then values, ascertained by the usual process of valuation, without any regard to book values.

The proposal was negatived.

The remainder of the articles were agreed to, after which Senator Guthrie moved as an amendment to the original Ministerial motion that no contract should be let until there was a guarantee as to the cool storage to be provided, the maximum freight to be charged, and a guarantee as to the maximum temperature, so as to ensure effective preservation of produce shipped.

The amendment was negatived, and the resolution for the ratification of the contract was carried.

ADJOURNMENT.

The Senate adjourned at 4.45 p.m. till the following Wednesday.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Speaker took the chair at 10.30 a.m.

TARIFF REPORTS.

Mr. FOWLER (W.A.) asked the Minister of Customs if he would provide members of the House with complete reports of the Tariff Commission on those items that had been submitted.

The MINISTER OF CUSTOMS: Now that there was no necessity to keep them from the public he would lay them on the table.

INSPECTOR-GENERALSHIP.

The VICE-PRESIDENT OF THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL, replying to Mr. Kelly (N.S.W.), said that as no provision was made on the Estimates for the position of Deputy-Adjutant-General it would not be filled. Amendment of the regulations regarding the allotment of the duties of the Inspector-General and members of the Military Board was contemplated. The Deputy Adjutant-General was not responsible to the Minister for the efficiency of the troops. The district commandants were responsible for the efficiency of the troops under their command, and the Inspector-General reported on the districts for which the commandants were responsible. There was no likelihood of a situation arising in which an officer would have to report to the Minister upon the efficiency of his own administration.

A PRINTING MATTER.

The MINISTER OF HOME AFFAIRS, replying to Sir Langdon Bonython (S.A.), said the Government Printer at Adelaide had been afforded an opportunity of printing the South Australian electoral rolls, but demanded three months' time and £1250 for the work, as against two weeks' time and £600 asked by the Government Printer at Melbourne for the same work.

PENNY POSTAGE.

The POSTMASTER-GENERAL was granted leave to bring in a bill relating to postal rates.

BOUNTIES BILL.

Mr. KELLY (N.S.W.) resumed the debate on the Bounties Bill. He would not, he said, consent to spend £500,000 of the ratepayers' money without some guarantee that it would have beneficial results. The operation of the cotton bounty would be to subsidise not so much the growers, but the spinners, as there would be a glut in the Australian market.

Mr. M'WILLIAMS (Tas.) said he could not support the bill. It was designed to benefit tropical Australia at the expense of other parts. These bounties would not benefit primary producers. What had the Victorian butter bounty accomplished?

Mr. BAMFORD (Q.): It was a success.

Mr. MAUGER (Vic.): A complete success.

Mr. M'WILLIAMS: Had the bounty benefited the primary producers?

Mr. MAUGER: That was not your statement.

Mr. M'WILLIAMS: New South Wales and Queensland were surpassing Victoria in the butter industry with a bonus.

Mr. BAMFORD: The Victorian bounty did it.

Mr. MAUGER: Victoria led the way.

Mr. LONSDALE (N.S.W.): New South Wales led the way.

Mr. M'WILLIAMS said that he would endeavour to secure the amendment of the bill in committee.

Mr. SKENE (Vic.) said some of the industries proposed to be subsidised could be firmly established, and some of the products would find a good local market, whilst others would have to compete abroad. The bill opened up the question of "White Australia." An ominous phrase—effective occupation—was coming into use lately. If it was determined to shut out coloured labour from Northern Australia they might have to justify their occupation of the territory.

Mr. LONSDALE (N.S.W.) said the bill was another political placard. He would assist agriculture by teaching farmers the most modern methods of production, but it was absurd to suppose that the distribution of the amounts proposed in the bill would establish industries, unless all the conditions existed which would enable the industries to live. If those conditions did exist there was no need for a bounty.

Mr. WILKINSON (Q.) supported the bill. Cotton could be produced in Australia of as good quality as the cotton produced in any other part of the world. The industry would succeed without assistance, but a bounty would give it an impetus.

Mr. STORRER (T.) said he believed in the bounty system, and he gave the Government credit for an honest desire to establish new industries.

Mr. M'LEAN (V.) said that when the Government proposed to establish new industries they should have definite information showing whether local conditions were suitable for their establishment. He would therefore suggest a postponement of the committee stage of the bill until the Minister had collected the necessary information, and would vote for the second reading in the hope that the Minister would accept the suggestion.

Sir LANGDON BONYTHON (S.A.) said there was a great future for the olive industry, but although established 50 years ago, it was still in a struggling condition, owing to competition from abroad. He would support the bill.

Mr. FISHER (Q.) said it was particularly desirable that the northern portion of Australia should be settled, and he knew of no other way except by giving bounties to accomplish that object. The sugar industry was a shining example of the benefits of the bounty system.

Mr. KNOX (V.) said he would vote for the second reading of the bill. The bounty system was applied to the dairy industry of Victoria with splendid results. There was indisputable evidence that excellent cotton could be grown in Australia. An association in Lancashire was willing to send experts to any part of the Empire to provide information upon cotton production. The bill, however, was paltering with a great principle. Administration should be guided by experts in the industries proposed to be established.

Mr. SPENCE (N.S.W.) said that if there was any intention of assisting the manufacture of cottons they would have to remember that they would be brought into competition with a class of labour which he hoped would never be known in Australia. Seventy-five per cent. of the employees in the cotton factories of the United States were under 14 years of age. This was producing great degeneracy of the people.

Mr. BROWN (N.S.W.) advocated the establishment of an agricultural department.

Mr. FULLER (N.S.W.) said the bill proposed a farthing per lb on condensed milk. That would only amount to 5 per cent. on the selling price, and would be ineffective.

Mr. CHANTER (N.S.W.) said it was gratifying that all sides of the House were desirous of establishing industries in Australia.

Dr. CULPIN (Q.) said that in Queensland a cotton factory was kept alive by a bonus, but as soon as the bonus ceased the factory fell to pieces. There ought to be a penal clause to prevent that sort of thing.

The second reading was agreed to on the voices, and the bill was taken into committee.

The MINISTER OF CUSTOMS said that some of the items in the schedule were too small, and the amount of the bonus would be increased. He proposed to alter the amount of the bonus to £50,000 for 10 years, and to authorise the appropriation of £500,000.

Progress was reported.

DESIGNS BILL.

This measure was read the third time.

THE MAIL CONTRACT.

The House concurred in the amendments made by the Senate in the English mail contract.

ADJOURNMENT.

The House rose at 4.50 p.m.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT.

PROVISIONS OF THE NEW BILL.

VIEWS OF THE TOWN CLERK OF NORTH SYDNEY.

A considerable amount of interest is being taken in the various suburbs under municipal government in the Local Government Extension Bill, which has recently been laid on the table of the Legislative Assembly, more especially with respect to its general effect upon the annual revenue. The town clerk of North Sydney said that the principles governing local taxation as provided by the Local Government Extension Bill differed materially from those established under the existing Act, but whether the result would be generally beneficial to municipalities now constituted time and experience alone could reveal. In the light, however, of information contained in Mr. Garlick's comprehensive and lucid report, it would appear that the large majority of metropolitan municipalities would have no cause for serious misgiving. It had been generally admitted that the powers of taxation conferred on municipalities by the existing Act had been altogether inadequate to meet the obligations which the councils had to fulfil, and to compensate, in some measure, for this defect it was necessary not only to borrow, but to seek other sources of revenue, of which the charges for purely sanitary services had been the most important; and it was only by such means that the revenue and expenditure approximated.

Many suburban municipalities had experienced a small measure of relief by a regular increase of revenue due to the erection of new buildings, which resulted in an increase of the annual rental value and a correspondingly higher revenue each year. The borough of North Sydney had been especially fortunate in this respect, its rate revenue during the last five years having increased by an average amount of £1100 per annum. Increase of development, however, also created a necessity for additional expenditure, as roads had to be formed and otherwise improved, as they became closely occupied by dwellings, and every new work of this character further increased the work of ordinary maintenance.

Under the new system of rating on unimproved values an increase in the number of dwellings would not mean any more revenue as before, as no increase of the unimproved value will be immediately visible. To meet the increased demands for expenditure therefore a higher rate on the unimproved value or recourse to special local or loan rates would be necessary. Such an increase would not, however, mean increased taxation in the ordinary sense of the word, because the higher rate, though general throughout the borough, would only take the place of the additional rates obtained from new buildings. These, instead of being charged against those who made the improvements as hitherto, would be distributed over the whole borough.

In a general way the present rating by municipalities, apart from charges for special services, was about 1s 4d in the £ on the rental values, but as a further amount of at least 3d in the £ was really required to enable them to carry out all necessary and legitimate work 1s 7d in the £ was the amount that should be accepted for purposes of comparison when computing the sums to be raised under the system prescribed by the Local Government Extension Act. In North Sydney therefore the rate that would be required might be estimated approximately on this basis at 3½d in the £ on the unimproved value. While the general purposes expenditure of the municipalities might, however, be provided for by a rate on unimproved values any expenditure required for special purposes such as lighting, scavenging, contribution to Fire Brigades Board and street-watering might fairly be raised by a rate on improved values, thus reducing the rate on the unimproved value if considered desirable. What such a rate would amount to cannot be determined with any degree of correctness, as there was no reliable data on which to base a calculation, the information furnished by the councils to the Government Statistician being merely estimated.

Notwithstanding the remission of the land tax there would, it was evident, be some increase of municipal taxation, but generally speaking it would not be oppressive, and if municipalities were to discharge their responsibilities in an effective way it could not be avoided. The increase, however, would not be the result of this bill, but rather the result of necessity which had to be relieved.

YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

The general committee meeting of the Y.W.C.A. on Thursday was well attended, five new members being present. The table was strewn with literature. The report of the Leichhardt branch and the programme for August at the Central Institute were of special interest. The pressure of work in the city and the appeal for the organising of branches in no less than three country towns showed the great need of increasing the staff and training up efficient workers. Plans were discussed for lessening the debt by £2000, and so strengthening the position of the association. Seven new members were admitted, and also one life member.

NEWCASTLE.

ALLEGED THEFT OF TOBACCO.

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

At the Newcastle Police Court to-day Robert Slowgrove, hotelkeeper, and William Brown, carter, were charged with being concerned one with the other in stealing one case, containing 320 4oz tins, and 160 2oz tins of tobacco, of a total value of £30, at Newcastle, on July 26, the property of J. Ireland, Ltd. Brown was employed as a carter by J. Ireland, Ltd. The tobacco was removed from the railway goods shed at Newcastle, and the police, acting on certain information, visited the hotel kept by Slowgrove, where the missing goods were discovered. The two accused were committed for trial at the Newcastle Circuit Court on September 25, bail being allowed, self in £80, and two sureties in £40 each.

ARDGOWAN RESUMES HER VOYAGE.

The steamer Ardgowan, which went aground on the bar while proceeding to sea last night, and was subsequently refloated, resumed her voyage to Sourabaya at 2 o'clock this morning. While at anchor in the bight an examination of the vessel was made, but it was seen that no damage had been sustained. The steamer was docked in Sydney only two months ago.

COAL AND OTHER EXPORTS.

The following were to-day's clearances: Ashridge, s, for Melbourne, with 4750 tons coal; Glaucus, s, for Melbourne, with 1770 tons coal; Kadina, s, for Port Pirie, via Wallaroo and Kembla, with 3940 tons coal; Moeraki, s, for Wellington, via Sydney, with 1450 tons bunker coal, 15 tons coke, and a quantity sleepers and timber; Changsha, s, for Hongkong, via Sydney and ports, with 570 tons coal, 10 tons coke, 10 tons scrap iron, and 1 box gold.

The coal exported from Newcastle during the week ended to-day amounted to 87,413 tons. Commonwealth and New Zealand ports took 43,285 tons, while 44,128 tons were exported to foreign ports.

At the Sulphide works, Cockle Creek, 1367 tons of ore were treated during the week, yielding 1951oz of gold, 32,699oz of silver, and 348 tons of lead.

THE CRICKET DIFFICULTY.

SETTLEMENT PROBABLE.

Although members of the executive committee of the New South Wales Cricket Association and the suspended players, in reply to queries, have little to state for the public information, there are evidences that matters are progressing towards an amicable settlement of the difficulty between the players and the ruling body. The board of control is anxious to set the cables going towards England so as to ensure the arrival of an English team this summer, and no one was surprised to find that a meeting had been arranged between the players and the executive yesterday.

The parties met at the association rooms, Bull's-chambers, Moore-street, at 1.30 p.m., and the suspended men were courteously received. Interviewed after the conference, to which members of the press were not admitted, the Hon. W. J. Trickett jocularly said there had been no "meeting," and that there was "no quorum," but the genial smile which accompanied the words, and the cheerful faces of those who left the rooms, were an indication that whatever had taken place inside was on the much-desired track.

Mr. Noble, too, was asked if any settlement had been arrived at, but he replied that he did not know. As a matter of fact the players did not expect the executive to say much regarding its intentions, which will probably be made public before long. The meeting was well attended, the executive and suspended players assembling in force.

At the conclusion of the conference the association officials were very busy for some time, and Mr. Bowden, the secretary, informed a representative of the "Herald" that nearly all the players were present, and that as a consequence of the conference it had been decided to call a meeting of the association for 4.30 p.m. on Tuesday next. This means, in all probability, that the executive committee will have a recommendation to make to the full body.

CASUALTIES AND FATALITIES.

AN ENGINEER'S DEATH.

The death of John Barnett, 37, who was drowned in the harbour on the 1st inst, formed the subject of an inquest by the City Coroner yesterday. There was no evidence to show how the deceased fell into the water from the steamer Annie, and a verdict of accidental death was accordingly returned.

INVERELL, Thursday.

Mrs. G. Eisenmonger, wife of a winegrower five miles out, was returning from town yesterday in a sulky with a little girl, when the vehicle collided with a stump, capsizing and throwing the occupants out. The child escaped unhurt, but Mrs. Eisenmonger sustained a compound fracture of one of her thighs.

LISMORE, Thursday.

An inquest on the body of William Riordan, who was found in a street at South Lismore, and subsequently died in the hospital, was concluded yesterday. The medical testimony disclosed that a wound on the back of the head had caused death. The wound might have been caused accidentally by a fall. The wife of an hotelkeeper had seen the man about the place. He had no money. The police had also seen the man under the influence of liquor. The deputy coroner returned a verdict of accidental death.

THE WEATHER.

HEAVY FOGS EXPECTED.

Rain persisted over the south-western slopes during Thursday night, but the amounts registered were only light, and mostly under 10 points. On the southern tablelands Kiandra had an additional 22 points of snow water. No rain fell yesterday.

Mr. H. A. Hunt says that showery conditions are expected to desist for a day or two, and fine weather is anticipated generally, with the exception of a slight tendency for coastal showers. The high pressure system covers the entire continent, and its central area is overlying the States of South Australia and New South Wales.

The nights will undoubtedly be cold, and heavy fogs are favoured, more especially over the low-lying parts on and west of the tablelands. Quiet, variable winds are indicated.

At a meeting of the Southern Collieries Conciliation Board the Mount Keira deficiency place question was settled, and a claim from Mount Kembla for 1½d per ton allowance for night work was deferred. In reference to the miners' strike at Conrad Stannite Mines, a meeting of surface hands unanimously agreed not to join the miners, and not to influence the cause either way. MUNICIPAL.

BUNGENDORE, Friday.

The Bungendore Progress Association convened a meeting for the purpose of protesting against the action of the Minister for Public Works, in proclaiming that Queanbeyan be the principal polling-place for the shire of Yarralumla. Resolutions were adopted, and will be forwarded to Colonel Ryrie, M.L.A., for presentation to the Minister for Works.

WAGGA, Friday.

At a meeting of the borough council last night a letter was read from the secretary to the local Home Rule Committee, asking the council to give the Irish envoys, Messrs. Devlin and Donovan, a public reception, on the occasion of their forthcoming visit. After a prolonged discussion it was decided that, the council having abstained from giving public receptions in the past, it could not see its way to alter its decision in this case.

The local cabmen petitioned the council to refuse to grant further licenses to outside cabmen in connection with the forthcoming show, on the ground that it was the only opportunity the local cabmen had of making up for slack times. After a debate had taken place, a resolution in favour of the request was carried by one vote.

The borough valuers have presented to the council an interesting report, which indicates the progress of the borough. General rates show an increase of over £60 for the year, being the largest increase reported for 13 years. There was an increase of 49 in the number of dwellings, and shops, offices, etc. The estimated population of the borough last year was 5497; this year 5622.

The works committee submitted to the council at its meeting last night a proposal to raise a loan for £6000 to carry out permanent improvements within the borough. Alderman Rudd submitted a detailed schedule of works proposed, and pointed out that the money at present spent in temporary works would pay interest on the proposed expenditure on permanent works. Alderman Hardy called attention to the fact that three-quarters of the borough was unkerbed and unchannelled. The projected improvements were necessary from a sanitary point of view as much as anything else. The Mayor strongly opposed the proposed loan, on account of the present indebtedness of the borough. Fortunately, he said, the borough had a good name. On being put to the meeting a resolution in favour of the loan was carried, by six votes to four, and the matter was referred to the finance committee to suggest ways and means.

The Rev. Fathers O'Brien and Farthing, on Saturday, performed the opening ceremony of the new Roman Catholic Church at Obley. They are remarkable for their prolificness.

AMUSEMENTS.

MLLE. ANTONIA DOLORES' RETURN.

In the case of Mlle. Antonia Dolores, Milton's verse may be freshly called to mind, that "Short retirement urges sweet return." This rich-voiced singer, one of the very few visiting artists to whom the word "great" may be properly applied, made her farewell appearance here on March 12, 1903. The occasion was characteristic, as the devoted her last afternoon in Sydney to the cause of charity. At her matinee in aid of the Drought Relief Fund the net amount of £100 was realised. Now the world-wanderer is once more in Sydney. It is possible that there is no living singer who is known personally over as wide a portion of the earth's surface as Mlle. Dolores. Especially often has she appeared in the chief cities of the United States, the Australian Commonwealth, and New Zealand, and not less in the great centres of the United Kingdom, at London, Glasgow, Edinburgh, and Dublin. Elsewhere her tours have covered Central America, South America, South Africa, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Leipsic, Lausanne, Munich, Warsaw, Moscow, St. Petersburg, and Stockholm. Italy, Spain, and Greece have remained unvisited. In no place is the accomplished artist more certain of a hearty welcome than in this city.

Mlle. Dolores, who has with her her friend and companion, Mlle. Vaudour, will remain on board the Sierra, which is due from San Francisco at the wharf this morning, until 9.30, to afford musicians and others the earliest and most convenient opportunity of greeting her. The diva will then be made aware of her invitation from the Sydney Philharmonic Society, Sydney Amateur Orchestral Society, and Sydney Liedertafel to attend a reception in her honour at the Town Hall on Monday afternoon. The arrangements will involve her reception on the Town Hall steps by the presidents, conductors, and hon. secretaries of the musical associations in question, by whom she will be conducted to a dais in the hall itself. Introductions will follow, and words of welcome will be addressed to her. During the afternoon the full strength of the Professional Musicians' Band, under Mr. Devlin, the members of which offered their services, will play selections.

As regards the prospects of the Dolores concert season, Messrs. J. and N. Tait are able to announce that the booking at Paling's for the appearances next Thursday, Saturday, and on August 14 and 16, have exceeded every anticipation. Already about 2000 seats have been reserved for the four concerts, and many visitors from the country will be present.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.

Miss Tittell Brune and the members of Mr. J. C. Williamson's Dramatic Company arrived here from Ballarat yesterday, in readiness for their appearance at Her Majesty's Theatre this evening. Mr. Thomas Kingston is the new leading man of the combination. This actor has travelled far and wide since he was here four years ago as leading man with Miss Nance O'Neil, and his return will be warmly welcomed. "Dorothy Vernon," a new romantic play founded by Paul Kester upon Charles Major's novel, will be produced to-night, with beautiful scenery by Mr. John Coleman, showing portions of Haddon Hall and Rutland Castle. The cast will include the following artists:—Sir John Manners (son of the Earl of Rutland), Mr. Thomas Kingston; Sir Malcolm Vernon, Mr. Mervale; Sir George Vernon, Mr. J. B. Atholwood; Earl of Rutland, Mr. T. W. Lloyd; Perkin, the Earl's jester, Mr. Maurice Dudley; William Cecil, Lord Burleigh, Mr. Vivian Edwards; Sir William St. Loe, Mr. Harry Sweeney; Elizabeth Tudor (Queen of England), Miss Susie Vaughan; Mary Stuart (Queen of Scotland), Miss Helen Ferguson; Lady Vernon, Miss Ciara Stephenson; and Dorothy Vernon, Miss Tittell Brune.

THE WILLIAM COLLIER FAREWELL.

Mr. Wm. Collier and the artists he brought with him from America enjoyed a great send-off at Her Majesty's Theatre last night, when they made their farewell appearance here prior to their departure for Vancouver and San Francisco by the Miowera on Monday. A special programme was arranged for the occasion, and the crowded house thus saw the hilarious second act of "On the Quiet," as well as the whole of "The Dictator." Mr. Collier's finished method and the telling quality of his humour always employed with unstrained art, again delighted Sydney playgoers, and reminded them of the loss involved by the departure of an actor so distinguished. At the end of the evening there was a scene of enthusiasm. The curtain was raised several times upon the entire company, and half a dozen times upon the star alone, who was presented with flowers and various more or less absurd toys. Finally, as the applause continued, Mr. Collier remarked:—"I really don't want to attempt a speech. I never could make one—and you'll know it in a moment! (Laughter.) As you are aware, we passed through earthquake, fire, and water in the great disaster in San Francisco, where we arrived just in time to lose all we had; and then, after all that, we had to pass through Melbourne to get to Sydney, which was almost as bad! (Laughter.) Joking apart, I consider my engagement in this city one of the pleasantest of my life, and taking leave of you all I assure you I carry away the happiest recollections." (Loud cheers.)

THEATRE ROYAL.

"In London Town," officially described by the authors, Messrs. George R. Sims and Arthur Shirley, as a "forceful domestic melodrama," will be produced by Mr. Bland Holt at the Theatre Royal to-night. Mr. John Brunton has presented "a series of scenic contrasts," from which much may be anticipated, as the list of tableaux will show Five Tree Farm, Essex, the homes of the poor in London, Hyde Park by moonlight, near the Serpentine, a workhouse yard, and London roofs by night. In the cast Mr. Bland Holt will re-appear as Jack Parker, "a salty little sailorman in blue," with Misses Ross and Ireland and Mrs. Bland Holt, Messrs. Baker, Norman, Styan, and Brown in important characters.

THE HOLLOWAY DRAMATIC COMPANY.

Next Saturday evening the Charles Holloway Dramatic Company will open their season at the Criterion Theatre under the management of Mr. Edwin Geach. Miss Jennie Lee's version of "Bleak House" is to be produced, with new scenery and costumes of the period, and with Miss Beatrice Holloway in the all-important character of "Jo." Mr. Holloway will direct the stage, and the new cast will include:—Inspector Bucket, Mr. Jno. Hesford; Mr. Tulkinghorn, Mr. Robert Inman; Sir Leicester Dedlock, Bart., Mr. Godfrey Cass; Snagsby, Mr. Jefferson Tate; Chadband, Mr. J. P. O'Neil; Lady Dedlock, Miss Rosa Conroy; and Hortense, Miss Ethel Appleton. The plan will open at Elvy's on Tuesday.

TIVOLI THEATRE.

This afternoon and evening at the Tivoli Theatre, Mr. Harry Rickards' Company will include the closing nights of Brinn, in his new sensational machine-gun act, Vasco, the Mad Musician, in a varied turn, and Little Cliff, in new character songs. Miss Lilieth Leyton, who has done excellent comedy work here, enters upon her four last appearances in "The Lady Burglar," as she sails for England on August 11. Alexandra and Bertie will be seen in their novel aerial act, the comedy duo, Kelly and Agnes, make their re-appearance, Baby Watson joins the company, Miss Olive Lenton is in the bill, and a long list of artists includes Miss Maud Faning, Miss Nita Leete, and Mr. Tom Dawson. Next Thursday Seymour and Dupre, speciality artists from New York, will make their debut.

AMATEURS AT THE PALACE.

Vacant theatres have led to a rapid succession of amateur performances during the past two or three weeks. Last evening the Bank of New South Wales Musical and Dramatic Society came in quite gaily, though late in the day, for an innings at the Palace Theatre. They revived "The Pickpocket," which has done duty before on somewhat similar occasions, and is therefore tolerably familiar, not only to playgoers, but to players. The principal characters in the farcical piece are old Gregory Grumbledon, the hypochondriac of 20 stone, who begs his devoted young niece to "come some day and scatter flowers over his little grave," and Andrew, the superannuated Cockney waiter, whose declining days are being passed in service at the West Cliff Hotel in one of England's most dead-and-alive health resorts. The former of these was by far the best played part in the piece. Mr. A. B. Dickinson's make-up as the stout, red-faced, white-haired valetudinarian was excellent, and he acted the part cleverly. Mr. P. H. Brown caused laughter as the eccentric Andrew, and the cast included Mr. T. R. Halgs as Frederick Hope, Mr. C. A. Schubeak as Osmond Hewitt, Miss A. Dabelle as Mrs. Hope, Miss A. Sledge as Aunt Maria, Miss Elsie Prince as Freda Grumbledon, and other characters by Miss C. E. Gowland and Messrs. V. Neilly, J. D. Murray, J. A. M'Intyre, H. S. M'Kay, G. C. Cameron, and A. A. Arndell. The theatre was packed, and the applause freely bestowed. Mr. W. H. M'Carthy conducted the society's orchestra in selections during the evening.

JUBILEE SINGERS AT QUEEN'S HALL.

This evening, at Queen's Hall, the Fisk Jubilee Singers will present another new programme of favourite ballads, quaint plantation songs, and Jubilee choruses. A feature in the new entertainment will be a fresh series of films for the thaumaturgic moving pictures, which will show for the first time in Australia the Royal Wedding at Madrid, with the arrival of the Prince and Princess of Wales, the automobile fete in their honour, and the attempted assassination of the King and Queen of Spain, showing the horses of the Royal coach dead or wounded.

MISS MAGGIE M'CANN'S CONCERT.

This evening, at the Centenary Hall, the Highland Society of New South Wales will give a send-off concert to the favourite Scottish singer, Miss Maggie M'Cann, who is leaving Australia on her first visit to the United States. Miss M'Cann, whose list of "auld sangs" will include "John Anderson, My Jo," and "Behave yourself before Folk," a Gaelic song, and "Come under my Plaidie," will be supported by Misses Jessie Sheath, Lena M'Lachlan, Messrs. Kilburn Heron, Percy and J. J. Herford, the Burns Anniversary Choir, and the Pipers' Association.

V.R. MILITARY BAND MATINEE.

To-morrow afternoon, at the Town Hall, Mr. L. de Groen will conduct the Vice-regal Military Band in a classical recital. Selections by Edward German, Tschaikowsky, and Gounod will be played for the first time, as well as the popular "Semiramide" overture, "Ballet Suite," from "Le Prophete," and a "Lucia," Fantasia. Owing to the illness of Mr. W. B. Beattie, who was announced to sing, Miss Evelyn Selig has consented to take his place.

MISS ELLA CASPERS' CONCERT.

On Monday evening Miss Ella Caspers will make her first appearance at the Town Hall at a concert organised for the young Goulburn contralto by an influential committee. Miss Caspers, who intends to reside in Sydney for study and concert experience, is highly thought of by Mr. Watkin Mills, Miss Maggie Stirling, and others who have heard her, and her appearance cannot fail to be of interest. Her chief songs on Monday will be "Che Faro," "Abide with Me" (Liddle), and "Out on the Rocks" (Sainton-Dolby). Messrs. Rivers Allpress, Gerard Vollmar, J. L. Nield, J. Edward Sykes, and the Students' Choir from the Garcia School of Music will assist. The plan is at Paling's.

Sir William Lyne has telegraphed to Mr. H. N. Southwell (manager) that he has secured the patronage of the State Governor and Cardinal Moran and the Sydney College of Music will be represented at the concert.

THE EDWIN LEMARE RECITALS.

Mr. Edwin H. Lemare, who opens his recitals upon the Town Hall organ on September 1, is having a phenomenal success in Melbourne. This evening he will give his tenth recital on the renovated organ, of which he speaks in the highest terms. Amongst the crowded audience on last Wednesday night was Lady Northcote, and the programme included his own new "Symphony in D Minor." Nearly every number was encored.

THE WARD-GOOUD CONCERT TOUR.

Miss Mabel Ward and Mr. Reginald Goodd left last night for a short tour in Queensland. The contralto is engaged for the special concert of the Brisbane Musical Union next Tuesday, and both artists then sing with the two musical societies at Rockhampton, after which they appear in the same way at many towns on the journey back, reaching Sydney again August 28.

MR. OSWALD CROSBIE'S RECITAL.

Mr. Oswald Crosbie, a new tenor from the old country, who is well known in Bristol and the neighbouring counties, has arrived in Sydney, and will give a vocal recital at St. James's Hall on Saturday, August 18. Mr. Crosbie, who will sing "The Message," "Beloved, it is Morn," and an "Ave Maria" founded on a theme in "Cavalleria Rusticana," will be supported by well-known artists. The plan will open at Paling's next Saturday.

THE ATHENEUM.

There will be a complete change of programme at the Atheneum, Brickfield-hill, this afternoon and evening. The Great Parisian Theatregraph will show a new series of living pictures, and the Volteens, aerialists, Cooens and Trott, novelty comedy artists, and Gladys Conway, a juvenile song and dance artist, will make their first appearance in the vaudeville section. The entertainment will conclude with the farce "Father's got 'em."

STATE MILITARY BAND.

The State Military Band will give its fourth concert of the present winter series at the Town Hall on Sunday, August 19. Miss Ethel Liggins, Messrs. J. J. Herford, and H. Larsen will be the soloists, and the Whitefield Congregational choir and Hatton Quartette will assist.

CLAY'S VAUDEVILLE COMPANY.

Mr. Harry Clay's Vaudeville Company will resume at the Masonic Hall this evening in pursuance of their custom of rounding off the week's suburban circuit with a metropolitan appearance. New songs and new moving pictures are announced for to-night, when the artists will be Messrs. Anderson, Linden, Pope, Jones, Warsaw, Clay, and many others.

LAST DAYS OF THE CYCLORAMA.

The last two weeks of the Cyclorama, which has amused sightseers for so many weeks past, are now notified, as the great tableau of "The Battle of Gettysburg" is to be removed elsewhere, whilst the land itself is to be devoted to other purposes. A full brass band, illustrated songs, and new biograph pictures will be available.

CONCERT AT KENSINGTON.

Mr. Edward Farley provided a varied and interesting programme at the Kensington School of Arts on Thursday evening to a crowded house. Mr. Farley rendered in good style Molloy's "The Postilion." Mrs. Walter E. Baker was repeatedly recalled for humorous recitations. Mrs. Christie Simonsens gave a careful rendering of a serenata, with obbligato by Mr. George Dawson. Others who assisted were Miss Bodiment, Miss Fernander, Messrs. Gray, M'Lelland (accompanist), Mrs. E. Farley.

THE HAYMARKET HIPPODROME.

Mr. Cole's dramatic company at the Haymarket Hippodrome will produce a new nautical drama to-night, entitled "Rick the Castaway." The piece is an entirely new one, and contains many interesting episodes. The leading characters will be entrusted to Miss Vene Linden and Mr. W. H. Ayr.

Among the portraits of veteran scullers illustrated in this week's "Sydney Mail" there is one of H. Pearce and "Dick" Green. There is also an interesting illustration of a group of scullers on the Parramatta River, including some of the veterans and G. Towns and J. Stanbury. An excellent portrait of Towns seated in his boat appears on the same page.—Advt.

FINANCIAL.

TARIFF REVISION PROPOSALS.

The first proposals towards tariff revision are scarcely such as will commend themselves to any section of the community. Importers will not approve of the increase of duty that they are now being called upon to pay. Consumers will scarcely relish obtaining an inferior article for their money, while as for the Australian distillers, for whom it was understood that the present Government held a special brief, they will be hit harder than the others. As a matter of fact, the new proposals offer a direct premium to the importer of low-grade spirit, as against the local distiller, the former being granted a practical monopoly of this class of business. Generally, the proposals are ill-considered, and were apparently made public with undue haste. It was rumoured around wine and spirit circles yesterday that an inkling of the proposals had already leaked out in Melbourne, and that heavy duty payments in anticipation had forced the hands of the Government.

THE PROPOSALS DISCUSSED SERIATIM.

That portion of the proposals dealing with imports is the most simple. An increased impost of 1s per gallon is suggested. It is well known that spirits are retailed at fixed prices, viz., 3d and 6d per nobbler. Every increase in the duty thus operates to the disadvantage of the consumer, as it forces the publican to purchase a lower grade of spirit, adulterate, or sacrifice portion of his profit. Many years ago the import duty on spirits in New South Wales was 10s per proof gallon, and buyers at that time frequently purchaser a whisky worth £1 per gallon duty paid. Immediately the duty was raised to 12s, however, the buyer still wanted something that would cost him no more than the £1. In other words, he insisted in the extra duty coming out of the quality of the article. And so it will be on this occasion, and must ever be while the retail price does not vary. In connection with the excise proposals, the position is more complicated. Brandy made from grapes is to be charged at the rate of 11s per proof gallon. This is exactly the same rate as has been charged in the past, but there is now to be the additional restriction that the spirit must be made in a pot-still, or by similar process, must not exceed 35 per cent. overproof, and be at least two years in bond prior to the duty being paid. On blended brandy 12s is to be charged, a reduction of 1s per gallon, a concession to the blender against the pure-grape distiller, who has had no such reduction. As to whisky made from malted barley, and not exceeding 35 per cent. overproof, made in a pot-still or by similar process, having been at least two years in bond, is to be charged at the rate of 11s, against 13s, a reduction of 2s per gallon. On blended whisky 12s is to be charged, against 13s. On rum distilled from molasses 13s is to be the rate, which is the same as before; but there is here also the additional restriction of its having to be kept two years in bond. Gin, made from grain or grape-wine, will be unaltered at 13s with the same restriction as to age. Spirit (n.e.i.), that is white spirit, or grain spirit not previously enumerated, which has been charged at the rate of 13s, will now have to pay 14s, with the two-year storage provision. Spirits used for industrial and scientific purposes, subject to regulation, are to be charged at the rate of 14s, an increase of 1s. Methylated spirits will be free. These have been chargeable at the rate of 6d per gallon, which is still being levied until the proposals become law. Where reductions in duty are proposed, this is the usual course, and applies to the other reductions above mentioned.

THE EXCISE BLUNDER.

The most extraordinary item in the proposals is that dealing with "spirits, n.e.i., per proof gallon 40s." This consists of spirits that do not conform to the two-year storage restriction. How this provision is calculated to operate was pointedly illustrated yesterday. An entry was presented at the Customs-house for a shipment of Boomerang brandy, a well-known brand bottled in Melbourne, and the rate was stated to be 40s unless satisfactory proof could be given that the brandy had been in store for the necessary two years. And on colonial rum, distilled in Sydney, and with say, 1s 6d per gallon in bond, duty to the extent of 53s was asked, the spirit being 33 overproof. Were these very parcels sent for a sea trip to New Zealand, and brought back, they would come in under an import duty of 15s per proof gallon, there being no restriction as to age in connection with imports. In this way the local distiller is being penalised to the extent of no less than 25s per proof gallon, as against the importer of a spirit not in any way superior, and possibly inferior. Surely this was never intended by the Government! Protection for the local manufacturer may be debatable as a policy, but there will be few to give their adherence to a policy of protection for the foreigner.

THE TRADE VIEW.

Mr. Francis Bligh, chairman of the Wine and Spirit Trade Sectional Committee of the Sydney Chamber of Commerce, has supplied us with the following statement:—

I am against the whole proposal. It certainly would mean a falling-off in the revenue, without, as far as I can see, benefiting anybody in particular. I speak more in respect of spirits other than brandy. The distillation of this particular spirit may possibly give some employment to labour in the growing of grapes and so on. As for other spirits, the whole thing is a huge mistake. Thirty men would flood the Commonwealth with grain spirits. The question was gone into very thoroughly by the Victorian Tariff Commission some years ago. Then the import duty was 15s per proof gallon, and the excise 11s. The outcome of the commission was that the duties were reduced to 12s and 10s respectively, it being realised that a wider differentiation was not of benefit to the public. This same phase of the subject also cropped up in New Zealand some years ago, when it was decided, after exhaustive inquiries by the Government, that the best plan was to buy up all the distilleries and shut them up, after allowing fair compensation. They got their money back in two years. Sir John Quick recently stated that the capital of all the distilleries in the Commonwealth did not exceed £250,000. I believe it would pay the Government over and over again to buy these up, and do as New Zealand did. Looking at the matter from a more parochial standpoint, these proposals, if they become law, will fall with exceptional severity upon New South Wales publicans. Since January 1 this year their license fees have been increased in some instances from £30 to £150, and on top of all this their business hours have been restricted. And now this extra 1s per gallon on the import duty will have to be paid by the publican, or, if he cannot afford the extra tax, the general public will be made to suffer in the quality of the drink supplied to them over the bars.

The Wine and Spirit Association is entering a vigorous protest against the change, as also is the Chamber of Commerce. Reading through the report of the Tariff Commission, I notice that a strong feature was made of the two-year bonding provision. In the case of whiskies and brandies, I think this is a very good safeguard. In respect of the ordinary dark rum made from molasses, however, it is a mistake. All over the world this article goes into consumption very young. If these proposals are given permanent effect to, the Queensland distillers who at present turn out a very good article will have to close their bond door for two years before they can realise their product. Of course, this means an increased price. The two-year restriction in connection with whiskies and brandies is a sort of quid pro quo for the pull given to local distillers in the differential tax. At the same time I think the differentiation too great. A grain spirit can be made as cheaply in Australia as in any part of the world, and the importer has to pay freight and charges and loss of gauge in transit. As far as I can make out from the evidence before the Tariff Commission, this differential duty was wanted more to enable local distillers to overcome local prejudice than for the sake of protection usually so described. From a purely protectionist point of view there is not much to be made out of the spirit distilling industry. Years ago, in Victoria, we are told that thousands of tons of Gippsland maize would be thus consumed, but later experience showed us that the maize came from Argentina, or wherever it could be had cheapest.

MERCANTILE MUTUAL FIRE.

The Mercantile Mutual Fire Insurance Company held its twenty-eighth annual meeting of shareholders yesterday, Mr. Russell Barton presiding. The balance-sheet showed premiums amounting to £65,364, the balance at credit of profit and loss account being £17,348. A bonus of 20 per cent. upon premiums divided between policyholders and shareholders absorbed £13,072, leaving £4275 to carry forward. Messrs. John Pope and Walter Russell Hall were elected directors, and Sir W. P. Manning and Mr. James Robertson were elected auditors. A vote of thanks to the directors, officers, and agents for their past services was carried.

LONDON FINANCIAL CABLE NEWS.

Our cables indicate some weakening of the position of the Bank of England during the week, and a continuance of the withdrawal of gold from that institution. The money market, however, seems to be suffering from no tension, the open market rate of discount having indeed eased by 5-16 per cent., being now down to 3 per cent., or ½ per cent. below the bank rate. This easing in the value of money in London is of particular interest just at the moment to Australian bankers, who not only have already accumulated large balances there, but have to look forward to heavy additions when the new wool clip begins to come in in quantity. Consols are unchanged, while a large number of Australian securities have risen from 10s to 15s during the week. Merino tops have eased ½d per lb in the Bradford market. Metals have eased all round. Tin £4 15s, copper 17s 6d, and lead 6s 3d per ton. The price of wheat has been barely maintained.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The "Review" for July is to hand, and as usual contains much subject matter of interest to the banking and insurance world.

COMMERCIAL.

The month opened auspiciously in most departments of trade; in fact, with many distributing houses business has been exceptionally brisk. The turnover in groceries has been more than satisfactory, and prices for quite a number of lines, particularly fruits, very firm, with an upward tendency. An advance of 3d per gross in wax vestas appears imminent. Bi-carb. of soda ruled 5s to 7s 6d per ton higher. The forward market in cornsacks remained inactive; woolpacks were dull, and branbags were weaker. Wheat was quiet, but well held for 3s 6d per bushel. Flour was slow of sale at unaltered prices. New season's Queensland sugar was on the market, and judging by the samples the quality was first-class.

BREADSTUFFS.

A few hundred bags wheat were sold yesterday on a basis of 3s 5½d per bushel. Large lines were being held for 3s 6d. There are over 100,000 bags wheat stored at Darling Island, but fully half of this, it is reported, have been sold. Our London cable states that the home market is a shade easier, prices being barely maintained.

Flour was slow of sale at £7 15s for best city, and £7 10s for country brands, in bakers' parcels, with 5s per ton extra asked for distributing trade. At Darling Harbour yesterday 261 tons wheat and 73 tons flour were manifested to arrive.

Wheat Stored on the Railways.—The wheat stacked on railway premises, according to a departmental return, totals 560,946 bags, compared with 577,957 a week previous, and 758,645 bags two months ago. The wheat is stacked as follows:—

Country Wheat Loadings.—For the week ended Saturday last 27,631 bags wheat were trucked at country railway stations, against 24,266 bags in the previous week. The movement was chiefly on the Southern line, where 19,847 bags were loaded (Coolamon 2303, Henty 2650, and Brocklesby 2584); while on the Western line 6438 bags were loaded; and on the Northern 1346 bags. The quantity loaded during the 34 weeks of the season aggregated 2,672,082 bags.

A year ago the price of IC sugar was £21 15s, and two years ago £19 12s 6d per ton.

The Millaquin and Yengarie Sugar Company quote:—Millaquin 1A, £20 10s; No. 1 dry, £20 5s; A/X, soft, £20 5s; B/X, soft, £20; No. 3, yellow, £18 5s. This company's new sugars are now on the market and selling freely. The quality of the soft, No. 1A and No. 1, is excellent. New season's Fairymead is also being quitted as fast as it arrives. No. 1A is stated to be the finest yet shipped here.

Bonded stocks of sugar have been:—

*895 tons were converted into treacle during past quarter, there being 309 tons loss in refining operations, making a loss of 1168 tons for the quarter.

A year ago the sugar in bond was 5513 tons, and two years ago 15,388 tons.

The prices of German 88 per cent. beet sugar f.o.b. Hamburg, and for the first marks German granulated, as cabled from London, compare with the prices ruling for the corresponding week in earlier years as follows:—

	Beet. 88 per cent. Per cwt.	First Marks. granulated. Per cwt.
1903	8 3	10 9
1904	10 1	12 1
1905	10 0	12 3
1906	8 8	10 10

This week's quotations are 1d higher on the week for 88 per cent. beet and 2d higher for granulated.

Tea.—Sales included 70 packages Ceylons up to 9d, and 30 chests Ceylons at 5½d per lb. Messrs. H. W. Carey and Co. report having offered yesterday, at auction, on account of Messrs. Gibbs, Bright, and Co., 500 packages Ceylon tea. The catalogue largely comprised teas ex Dunera, but as samples were not available until noon, the major part had to be withdrawn for private treaty. Good common pekoe realised 5½d per lb, and broken pekoes up to 7½d per lb. Messrs. F. H. Dyer and Co. will offer at auction next Thursday, as advertised, 206 packages Ceylons, on account of Dalgety and Co., Ltd.; also on account of Messrs. A. Tange and Co. 286 packages Ceylons and 276 packages Indians. On Friday next Messrs. H. W. Carey and Co. will sell by auction, on account of Messrs. Scott, Henderson, and Co., 664 packages Ceylons, as advertised.

Groceries.—Sales were noted of 1300 cases Gold Medal milk at convention rates, also 250 cases Cressbrook milk at 8s 1½d. Twenty-five cases C. and B. vinegar went at 7s 9d. Fifty cases Cape Kariuk salmon were sold at 6s. Scroll was worth 8s 3d in talls. The first shipment of new season's Scroll is expected in October. The price of Gemma was advanced yesterday from 7s 6d to 8s for talls. Moir's assorted potted meats in 2oz tins were selling at 13s 6d to 14s. Tinned fruits were beginning to have inquiry, but prices, owing to the paucity of stocks, were irregular. Canned peaches were quoted from 10s 6d to 12s, and pears from 9s 6d to 10s. Some firms were not quoting. Condiments had slow sale.

The Price of Wax Vestas.—An advance of at least 3d per gross in wholesale prices for vestas was anticipated, the position, however, depending on movements at home. One cable conveyed instruction to sell no more until further advised, and local sellers are disinclined to quote. The causes of the advance appear to be that the industry has hardly been a profitable one for some time past, and that costs of materials have advanced, and, though early-bought stocks have delayed the full effects of the higher costs, the time has arrived when the position has to be dealt with. Ordinary vestas have been selling locally at 2s 4½d and 2s 5d, with Bryant and May's at 2s 8d per gross. Large wholesale sales of advertising vestas were made recently at 2s 2½d.

Dried Fruits.—Business included the sale of 140 boxes three-crown Renmark golden lexias in one line at 6½d, also 60 boxes three-crown extra sultanas at 7d. In currants, 250 half-cases to arrive ex Star of Scotland, were placed at 4½d, and 50 half-cases to arrive at 4 5-8d. Currants of first quality were scarce, and good Smyrna sultanas were in heavy demand at 6½d. As the home market was practically cleaned up, it was not thought that sultana prices would weaken before the new crop was forward. In dates, 350 boxes to arrive went at 3½d. There were many complaints as to quality. New fruit will not be on the market until the end of November. Twenty-five boxes peaches were sold at 1s, 25 boxes D grade apricots at 9d, and 30 boxes B grade at 10d. Evap. apples were very scarce at 11d in bulk and 1s in cartons. Pears were also in short supply. A cable from San Francisco received yesterday quoted choice apricots at 73s 9d c.i.f.e. to arrive in November, peaches at 47s 9d, and apples at 34s 6d, the respective laid-down costs being about 1s, 9d, and 7½d. One hundred boxes French prunes, to land ex Victoria, were easily quitted at 6½d.

Chemicals.—Twenty-five casks G grade rosin were moved at £9 10s per ton. N grade was worth £12. Carbide of calcium was selling in parcels at £18. Ten tons liquid silicate went at £8 2s 6d to arrive. Thirty tons bi-carbonate of soda have been placed during the past two or three days at £8 5s to £8 12s 6d, the last-named price now being asked by holders.

Metals.—Ten miles of J.C.M. 42 x 1½ x 17 wire netting were sold at £38 per mile. Sales were put through of Iowa barb wire, 12 gauge at £13 12s 6d and 14-gauge at £14 12s 6d to £14 15s. German fencing wire was moving out quietly at £8 7s 6d for No. 8 and at £8 17s 6d for No. 10. Two hundred boxes tinplates were quitted at 15s, and 50 casks Anchor cement at 10s 6d.

Oils.—Prices were unchanged. The Colonial Oil Company's prices of oils per gallon are as under: Snowflake kerosene, 10½d, ex store; benzine, 1s, naphtha, 1s 3d; and Pratt's turpentine, 3s 9d c.i.f.e., to arrive per steamer Willesden. The British Imperial Oil Company, Limited, quote as under:—Silverlight kerosene, 9½d; benzine, 1s; naphtha, 1s 3d; Motor car spirit, 1s 3d; gasoline, 1s 9d.

Jute.—Dealers in new season's cornsacks were still inactive. Prices were nominally 7s 4d delivered. The tone of the Calcutta cables received yesterday appeared to indicate a slight easing in values. One message quoted a small parcel at 7s 3d c.i.f. over three months. Thursday's Melbourne "Age" states:—"Calcutta prices are still very irregular, and while some firms quote from 7s 2½d to 7s 4½d c.i.f., we know definitely of a considerable business having been completed at much less money. The position is decidedly obscure. If all the quotations mentioned were actual, and the markets were as healthy as some cables would lead operators to believe, it is surprising that Calcutta has not bought back more freely from this market." Sydney importers were not inclined to believe that business had been done recently with Calcutta at lower prices than 7s 2½d c.i.f., although it was possible it represented transactions which took place some weeks back. Branbags were stagnant at 5s 4½ delivered on spot and 5s 3d to arrive next week in the Surada. For September-December shipments: A decline was noted from Calcutta the latest quotation being 4s 8½d c.i.f. Woolpacks were selling slowly at 2s 6½d to 2s 7d. Orebags had sale at 2s 1d for 16oz, and 3s 5½d to 3s 6d for 20oz.

At Darling Harbour yesterday 284 bales wool were manifested to arrive by rail.

The Sydney Meat Preserving Company, Limited, report the following sales this week, viz:—Local and interstate, 292 cases assorted meats, etc, at convention and export prices.

The Customs revenue received at Sydney yesterday was £14,300.

LONDON, Aug. 3.

WHEAT SLIGHTLY EASIER.

The hot weather in Europe and lower offers from America have caused a dulness in the wheat market, and prices have been barely maintained. The cargo of 25,515 bags wheat in the Aldebaran (freight 22s per ton), which left Sydney on March 23, has been sold at 30s per 480lb c.f.i. Cargoes are flat. For South Australian wheat, prompt shipment, 32s 6d per quarter is asked, and 31s 3d for Victorian and New South Wales cargoes, April-May shipment.

SHEEPSKIN SALES.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

TRADE IN SUSSEX-STREET.

A moderate turnover was reported in the produce markets of Sussex-street yesterday, and in most instances prices remained at late levels.

The maize market was slightly easier on account of the increased supplies. Holders were unanimous in asking 3s 11d, and a very fair amount of business was transacted at this figure. The arrivals from the North Coast have shown a decided improvement during the last few days, and this fact accounts for the lower quotation. In some cases agents were inclined to shade these prices for a good buyer, but only a few bags changed hands at the lower figure. Oats were without special feature. Owing to the scarcity, and the consequent high prices, there was not a great deal of business transacted. Blue and grey peas were scarce, and firm at quotations.

Chaff was firm owing to the comparative scarcity of supplies, and prices ruled firm, though no material alteration was reported. At the Redfern saleyards 24 truckloads were forward, and best cuts realised up to £4 3s 4d per ton. Lucerne was again scarce, and firm at late rates.

The potato market was well stocked, but a very large quantity of inferior sorts was on hand, and great difficulty was experienced in finding buyers for any but prime quality samples. Onions were unchanged at £8 to £8 10s per ton.

There was a much better demand locally for bran and pollard owing to the continued dry weather. Although the number of orders was not increased the volume was considerably greater. Consequently a firmer tone prevailed.

Current quotations were:—

DAIRY PRODUCE MARKETS.

The continued dry weather and the premiums offered for unsalted butter have combined to cause a great shortage in the supply of butter for the local market. There has also been a demand from some country districts. The strong westerly winds that have prevailed in the Hunter River district, which up to the present has been supplying its own requirements, have caused several orders from that part of the country to come to Sydney. BROKEN HILL WATER SUPPLY.

OFFER BY THE COMPANY.

BROKEN HILL, Friday.

A letter has been received from the secretary of the Water Supply Company, Melbourne, offering the company's works to the municipal council. The letter states:—"The directors have decided to recommend their shareholders to hand over the whole of their undertaking secured to them in Act under which company is now working, to the municipal council of Broken Hill for an annual payment of £23,600 for 12 years, commencing December 17, 1906, and ending December 17, 1918, such payment to be made in quarterly instalments of £5900, commencing March 17, 1907, the whole of the payments to be guaranteed by the Government of New South Wales. The amount decided upon is based on the payment to shareholders of interest at the rate of 7½ per cent. per annum on the par price of shares and a sufficient margin, which, if invested at the rates of 3½ per cent. per annum, will provide a sinking fund sufficient to repay the shareholders the present price of the shares on the termination of their lease, also the payment of income tax and other expenses.

"The profits of the company for the past two years show an average of £33,181 per annum. There has been a steady increase, so that there would, therefore, be practically no liability attached to the purchase either by yourself or the Government. You are doubtless aware that dividends at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum are now being paid to shareholders, and a sinking fund has been established, which at anything like the present rates of profit would be more than sufficient to repay the capital, but in view of the rate of interest being guaranteed by the Government, the directors are prepared to recommend shareholders to accept a lower rate of interest than is now being paid by the company. As the New South Wales Government is already interested in the negotiations a copy of this letter is being sent to the Minister for Public Works."

Aldermen generally do not approve of the terms.

WRECKED BY

FIVE YEARS' SICKNESS.

DOCTOR SUGGESTED OPERATION,

BUT PATIENT'S HUSBAND OBJECTED.

CLEMENTS TONIC CURES.

Mrs. E. Cole, of 78 Carlton-crescent, Summer Hill, relates her wonderful cure to a local reporter.

Mrs. Cole's opening remarks were:—

"A little over two years ago I was nothing but a wreck of what I had been, and of what you see me now, one of the main reasons being that for a good while I had been suffering with violent pains in my head, which nothing I had hitherto taken could alleviate."

"Did you obtain any medical advice?" asked the newspaper man.

"I consulted one of the leading doctors, and he could not say definitely what was wrong with me. However; he suggested an operation, but my husband would not agree to it, and I am very glad he didn't, too, as goodness knows what might have happened, and I got better without running that risk, you see. You would be surprised if I told you how much it cost me for medicine during my illness, and it was deplorable to see so much going away week after week for nothing at all."

"How long did your sickness last?"

"Going on for five years, worse luck; and not before getting Clements Tonic did I obtain any benefit from my numerous purchases. All that time I was as low in spirits as a woman could be—nothing cheered me, and if my life depended on it, I could not raise enough energy to work or anything else. Always following meals, too, a feeling came to my chest as if I was going to smother—oh! it was horrible; and flatulence was another great bother to me. The stomach felt as if nothing but wind was inside, so bulged out and uncomfortable, as though I had over-eaten, but the fact of the matter was that I could hardly eat enough to keep body and soul together, for my appetite had gone entirely. Now, would you believe that when I had drunk several bottles of Clements Tonic I was not like that at all—each of those tormenting sensations left me quite mysteriously, and you may depend I was very thankful, too. Yes, and Clements Tonic made me eat well—indeed, I used to surprise my relatives with the appetite I had gained, and the easiness with which the pains left my head was amazing. What a happy release that was, to be sure, for when those agonies had subsided I grew bright and contented in the belief that Clements Tonic would do still more for me."

"And were your expectations realised?"

"Yes, fully, for my physical condition was completely transformed. My heart used to palpitate and flutter to an alarming degree, but Clements Tonic made the action of that organ quite regular. I used to sleep poorly and have unpleasant dreams, but Clements Tonic made me feel so serene and restful that I never afterwards had any trouble in getting to sleep, and nothing disturbed me till I was called in the morning. Really, my life became a delight to me. Why, I had formerly been so nervous, so irritable, so thin and haggard looking that when I had been taking Clements Tonic only a few weeks my friends would not believe I was the same woman, the change was so great, and my eyes were all right again, for they used to feel swollen and the sight no good. And up to the present time my health has remained intact, which is surely sufficient proof of the genuineness of Clements Tonic.

THE P.H.L. PATENT PNEUMATIC HORSE COLLAR.

Coonamble, January 27, 1906.—I have used four of your Pneumatic Collars in daily use for over fifteen months, coach-driving in the Walgett district, and in changing horses have always used the same collars. I have pleasure in stating I can find no fault, and that the intense heat (often 120 degrees in the shade) we experience here has had no effect on them. My horses run cool, and sore shoulders are a thing of the past. The collars are practically as good as new now.—Yours truly, (Sgd.) L. M. COLLINS.

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

Yesterday's scratchings for the A.J.C. Spring Meeting were:—Epsom Handicap: Jollymont; Metropolitan, Grama and Jollymont.

Entries for the Moorefield Meeting, to be held on the 18th inst, close at 4 p.m. on Tuesday.

In connection with Monday's meeting at Canterbury Park Douro has been withdrawn from the Flying Handicap, while Protector has been scratched for all engagements.

Following are the latest scratchings for to-day's meeting at Rosehill:—Carlingford Mile: Gowrie. August Stakes: Lord Fitzroy. Rosehill Handicap: Vanadium. Flying Welter: Protector.

Messrs. Cadell and Co., under instructions from the executors of the late Mr. C. H. Fitzgerald, held a most successful sale of the Geraldine trotting stud at Dubbo on Wednesday last. The great sire Huon Junior, 18 years old, brought 405 guineas, his new owner being Mr. H. Taylor, of Wellington (N.S.W.). Imported Julia, though 27 years old, brought 71 guineas, her purchaser being Mr. Cameron, of Moree. Julia has been a most successful mare at the stud. She came to Australia in foal to California Nutwood, and the youngster foaled in Australia was, when a two-year-old, killed by snakebite. Of her other progeny sold as youngsters Lady Julian brought 200 guineas, Julia G. 200 guineas, Huon le Duc 250 guineas, a black colt now owned by Dr. Syme 200 guineas, and for Juliette Dr. Slate has refused 500 guineas. At Wednesday's sale Julia's yearling colt brought 78 guineas, and two-year-old filly 63 guineas. Lucia, a small brown mare with a 2.36 record, brought 100 guineas, and Huon Mite, a Vancleve pony gelding, 80 guineas.

The programme for the New South Wales Trotting Club's meeting on the 14th inst is published in our business columns. Entries close at 5 p.m. on Monday.

In connection with the bill introduced in the Legislative Assembly on Wednesday night, and which, among other things, proposes to restrict the number of race meetings held in the metropolis, members of the New South Wales Trotting Club have been considerably exercised in their minds as to how their club is likely to fare. The bill provides that no course where the racing track is less than six furlongs in circumference shall be licensed, but the track where the New South Wales Trotting Club holds its meetings is two furlongs short of the distance mentioned. Several of the officers of the club stated yesterday that some of the leading tracks in America are but half a mile round, and as the New South Wales T.C. is one of the very few clubs, in the strict meaning of the word, operating here, it will be interesting to note how that branch of the sport which it provides will be dealt with.

The Ascot R.C. has received 107 entries for its meeting on Tuesday next.

The programme for Tattersall's meeting in September is published in our business columns. The prize money amounts to 700 sovs., and is distributed over half a dozen events. Entries close with the secretary (Mr. J. B. Olliffe), or at the V.R.C. office, Melbourne, at 4 p.m. on the 27th inst.

Some surprise was felt by those interested in pony racing when it was found that one of the old tracks had been left out of the allotment of dates recently arranged. Subsequently it was announced that this was due to an alleged breach of the agreement by the club concerned, viz., Epping, with the other clubs. The point in dispute was submitted to arbitration, and it was announced last night that the gentleman selected had decided that no breach had been committed. Under the circumstances it remains to be seen whether there will be any change in the present arrangements.

Owners and trainers should note that entries for the Warwick Farm meeting on the 11th inst. close at 4 p.m. on Tuesday.

VICTORIAN SPORTING NOTES.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

It is not certain that The Sun will start in the Caulfield Grand National Hurdle Race. If he does he will be ridden by J. Smith. The Sun, it appear, was galloped on in the Jumpers' Flat Race at Sandown Park last Wednesday, and has been lame ever since. His condition had slightly improved this afternoon, but his trainer stated that unless the gelding improved considerably by to-morrow he would not risk a breakdown by starting him in the Caulfield Grand National Hurdle Race.

The owner having been ordered by the V.R.C. committee to change the name of Amherst II., has chosen the name of King Amherst, which has been allowed by the committee.

The following scratchings have been recorded for the Caulfield Grand National Meeting:—Steeplechasers' Flat Race: Bombastes, Canopus. Welter Handicap: Revolt. Balaclava Stakes: Revolt. Moondah Plate: Lord Allendale. Grand National Steeplechase: Belvoir.

ROSEHILL RACING CLUB.

AUGUST MEETING.

The opening meeting of the season 1906-7 in the metropolitan district takes place this afternoon at Rosehill, and, owing to the number of horses with important spring engagements that will be seen under silk, the sport promises to be more than usually interesting. The track is reported to be in excellent condition, and large fields may be anticipated in the majority of the races. The transit service by rail includes special trains starting from Redfern at 11.40 a.m. (horses and attendants), 12.20 (mixed), 12.52 (first), 12.55 (second), 1.0 (first), 1.8, 1.23, and 1.43 p.m. (mixed). The trains starting at 12.30, 12.55, 1.0, 1.23, and 1.43 p.m. will stop at Strathfield to pick up passengers. The sport commences at 2 p.m. with the Granville Stakes, in which E.K.W., Loch Lomond, Pompous, and Stoessel seem to have fair chances, and Pompous, Loch Lomond, and E.K.W. may pass the judge as named. The field for the Steeplechase will not be large, and at the weights Driscoll, W.H.A., Grattan, and Rise Up should have the settlement of affairs among them, while the numbers may go up for Driscoll, W.H.A., and Rise Up. An interesting race may be expected for the August Stakes, in which the most prominent parts may be played by St. Patrick, Savoury, Steel Trust, and Legion, and the places may be filled by St. Patrick, Savoury, and Legion. The Flying Welter should bring about a good contest among Go Soon, Magazine, Sarto, Forest Light, and Festive, while Sarto, Go Soon, and Festive may divide the honours. The talent engaged in the Rosehill Handicap includes several candidates for the big handicaps of the spring, and the chances of Starshoot, The Bairn, The Laird, and Bonnie Elsie seem the most attractive, while the situations may be occupied by The Bairn, The Laird, and Bonnie Elsie. The sport will be brought to a close with the Carlingford Mile, in which Rydalmere, Kestrel, Grafnax, Forest Light, and Levee seem to be nicely placed, and Forest Light, Grafnax, and Kestrel may pass the judge in that order. The programme is appended:—

VICTORIA AMATEUR TURF CLUB.

G.N. STEEPLECHASE MEETING.

The jumping campaign under the auspices of the V.A.T.C. opens at Caulfield this afternoon, and a very attractive bill of fare has been drafted for the occasion. The sport commences at 1.30 p.m., and, in the greater number of events on the card, large fields are foreshadowed. With the Moondah Plate the racing begins, and at the weights the most likely to figure prominently are Northwood, Lady Doris, Yanawaa, and Tortive, while Lady Doris, Northwood, and Tortive may fill the situations. Retrencher, Proceeder, Willy Wally, and Sweet Bird read as well as anything in the Balaklava Stakes, and the numbers may be hoisted for Retrencher, Sweet Bird, and Willy Wally. With 35 acceptors for the G.N. Hurdle Race, the field will be pretty well up to the average, and quality is fairly well represented. Florin, who heads the list with 12st 5lb, is reported to be in great heart, and though that impost has, in the history of the race, only been carried successfully once, the son of St. Swithin may be trusted to give a good account of himself. Solano is not attractive, but though pretty well penalised for his success at Flemington, Realm must be very dangerous towards the end of the journey, while Rattlesnake, who meets the V.R.C. winner on 14lb better terms than at Flemington, should be able to make things very interesting when the whips are being brought into play. The Shamrock has not been overrated when asked to carry 10st 12lb, while with a stone less on his back Corinthus should run well. Deering has been fairly treated with 9st 8lb, and on the same mark The Sun has no cause for complaint, and both may have something to say in the settlement of affairs, while Mercury may be the best of the light-weights. The race should be well worth witnessing, and the finish may be fought out among Florin, Realm, Rattlesnake, The Shamrock, Corinthus, and Deering, while the judge may declare for Rattlesnake, Realm, and Florin, unless separated by Corinthus. Black Sea, Blueskin, and Strathlodden may get home in the order given at the close of the contest for the V.A.T.C. Challenge Cup, while the most likely to battle out the Wilgah Steeplechasers' Flat Race are The General, Lilydale, Umutbee, and Officer, and Lilydale, The General, and Officer may claim the attention of the judge in the order written. With the Mornington Welter the sport will be brought to a close, and at the weights Belfry, La Siesta, Dick Lilley, and Gnarkeet seem the most attractive, while Belfry, La Siesta, and Dick Lilley may divide the honours. Subjoined is the card:—

MELBOURNE BETTING MARKET.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

There was fair business over the Caulfield Grand National Hurdle Race to-day. Realm was in good request all day, and any money offered at a better price than 3 to 1 was at once accepted. Red Sea was the popular pick. At 10 to 1 he was well backed all day, and Conqueror was supported at 100 to 8. The card was read at the Victorian Club in the evening. SOUTH AUSTRALIAN JOCKEY CLUB.

ADELAIDE, Friday.

The annual meeting of the South Australian Jockey Club was held to-day. Mr. John Barker occupied the chair, and in moving the adoption of the report and balance-sheet, remarked that after two years' loss it was satisfactory to know that the corner had been turned. Last season's racing had resulted in a fair profit, and it might be taken as a sign that they were on the road to continued better times. The report was adopted.

COURSING.

NATIONAL COURSING ASSOCIATION.

LUCKY CHARM, BALMY BREEZE, AND PENNANT WIN.

The final meeting of the N.S.W.N.C.A. for this season was concluded yesterday at the Woodstock enclosure, Rooty Hill. The weather was warm for the season; the attendance was moderate. The second ties of the Rooty Hill Hundred opened badly for backers of the favourites. After Kiloola had beaten Miss Raeburn in the opening trial three favourites went down. Backers laid 10 to 1 on Simon Pure against Dewy Mist, and lost. They again experienced a reverse in the next course, Last Choice defeating Schemer, on whom 3 to 1 was laid, and those who invested 2 to 1 on Pentridge against Diamond Bob also found their judgment at fault. Later in the day the favourite for the stake, Fine Answer, was beaten by Lucky Charm. There was some speculation as to whether there would be a "decider." Messrs. Loughnane and Carpenter had two still left in, Last Choice and Lucky Charm, and if these two had won their trials the Bathurst confederacy would have divided the big prize. In the final, as in a good many other trials, the dogs were crippled by the hard going, their painful though game efforts being plainly evident to the spectators. The result was a win for Messrs. Loughnane and Carpenter's Lucky Charm.

The St. Leger was won by Balmy Breeze, and the Champion Cup by Pennant. Results:—

BATHURST-SYDNEY ROAD RACE.

THE HANDICAPS.

The handicaps for the Bathurst to Sydney road race, which will take place on the 18th inst, have been issued. The event, which is being promoted by the Wallace Continental Tyre Company, will be held under the auspices of the League of New South Wales Wheelmen. There is every prospect of the contest being one of the best held under the control of the league for some time. Altogether 152 riders have accepted, and as the list of nominations includes some of the best road racers in Australia the record for the annual event should be broken. Looking over the handicaps it seems strange that Hagney and Mutton, good riders though they are, should be asked to concede such genuine champions as Brook and Larcombe 5 minutes' start. In the past the Goulburn crack has proved himself to be about the best rider New South Wales has produced for some time. Baulderstone and Hollis, with 10 minutes, should make a good race, but it is questionable if they can ever overhaul M'Mahon, the country rider who romped home in last year's contest. Corbett, who figures on the same mark as the latter rider, is better as a sprinter than a stayer. Of the 11 riders who figure on the 20 minutes mark Quinlan, Herd, and Power should prove the pick. These men have good marks, as have Mumford and Plunkett with 25 minutes. On the 30 minutes mark the two Robinson brothers are well treated, as they are both sterling riders. Higgins and Lyon have also good starts, and should make the pace a cracker. F. J. Robinson and J. Ford on 35 minutes are considered to have an excellent chance, and the same may be said of Hawley, of Victoria, and Glencross, who have the same start as the last-named pair. On the 40 minutes mark several riders are well placed, Sommerville's chances being mostly favoured. It is difficult to say anything about the men on marks above 45 minutes, as the majority of them hail from the country, and some of them may create a surprise. The following are the names of the riders and their handicaps:—F. S. Hagney, R. E. Mutton, scr; T. Larcombe, O. H. Brook, 5m; C. Baulderstone, W. H. Hollis, 10m; J. D. M'Mahon, L. Corbett, 15m; J. H. INTERCLUB PREMIERSHIP RACE.

The race for great Dunlop interteam race, promoted by the Dunlop Rubber Company, and held under the auspices of the Cyclists' Union, will be decided this afternoon over a 40-miles course, at Homebush. The event, unlike the heat and semi-final trials, will be a paced one, and will consist of a run from the Horse and Jockey to Granville gates and back four times. Racing will start punctually at 3.15 p.m., and if the roads and weather turn out favourable a record for the full course should be established. The opposing teams will be Eastern Suburbs and Enfield. Each club will have five representatives, four of whom will count at the finish. The race will be decided on points, and the club scoring least will be declared the winners of the valuable shield and medals.

CHAMBERLAIN CUP.

The Pioneer Motor Cycle Club will hold its fourth contest in connection with the Edward Chamberlain Cup this afternoon, over a five-miles course, on the Kingswood-Parramatta course. The finish will be at the Sherwood Council-chambers. Most of the prominent riders in Sydney and the suburbs have nominated, and there is every probability of an exciting contest, seeing that the winner of to-day's race may prove the ultimate possessor of the trophy. The contest for the cup is open to all motorists. At present Witham and Finlay, with 8 points each, have the best show, whilst Jarman, with a single win, comes next in favour. Should either of these three score a victory to-day it will almost be safe to predict for him an ultimate win, seeing that only two more competitions in connection with the race have to be contested. The following are the starters in to-day's race—M. G. Witham, 5-h.p. twin cyclinder Antoine; N. Saunders, 5-h.p. twin cylinder Sarolea; J. Elliott, 4-h.p. Antoine; H. J. Woods, 4-h.p. Antoine; A. J. Powell, 4-h.p. Antoine; J. Doherty, 4½-h.p. Buchet; H. M. Murray, 3 1-3-h.p. Buchet; W. Jarman, 3-h.p. Jarman; H. L. Fredricks, 3½-h.p. motor; J. Jarman, 3½-h.p. Jarman; Forest Finlay, 3½-h.p. Finlay. Witham, on his speedy double-cylinder Morent, will figure on scratch, and should make a record run. Last time he beat the Australian road record for the distance. The race will start shortly after 3 p.m.

PARRAMATTA AMATEUR BICYCLE CLUB.

An amateur cycling club was lately started in Parramatta. It is some years since an amateur club flourished in this district, and surprise has very often been expressed that such an important centre, possessing exceptional advantages both for the racing and the touring rider, should have been neglected so long. The town is fortunate in having fine roads stretching in every direction, and being so centrally situated as regards all the great road-racing courses, a well-managed amateur club ought to attract a large number of amateur riders resident in the neighbourhood. A delegate from the N.S.W. Cyclists' Union visited the new club this week, and it has been decided to affiliate with the union. A card of fixtures is being drawn up by the committee. The secretary of the club is Mr. J. Pickering, Thomas-street, Parramatta.

ROAD RACE AT ASHFIELD.

A five miles road race, promoted by Mr. Whitby, of Ashfield, will be run on [illegible] inst. It will be open to unattached riders. The race will start from Whitby's cycle works, and will be run over a 2½ miles course along the Liverpool road and back to the starting point. Entries will close on August 6.

MOTOR BOATING.

The success of the new "Baby Simplex" as a speed boat reflects credit on her designer, Mr. A. J. Knowles, who has departed from the accepted standard for speed boats, and has produced an entirely original craft. The hull is 24ft 6in long by 3ft 6in extreme beam, and the lines are so accurately worked out that she passes through the water even at high speed with scarcely a ripple. She is fitted with a 4-cylinder Simplex racing motor, which develops 12 h.p. at 500 revolutions and 30-h.p. at 1000 revolutions, at which power it is handicapped in the Motor Boat Club races. It is in the driving gear that the originality of the design is apparent. The shaft is run parallel with the keel, and is supported by three aluminium brackets, the ball-bearings taking the forward thrust of the double propeller, which is so situated that the lifting strain acts on the centre of buoyancy. The boat when at full speed lifts and skims along the surface of the water with a draught of only 2in. The proposed speed contests between Baby Simplex and other well-known speed boats in Sydney should prove interesting.

LANDS ADMINISTRATION.

THE CONSPIRACY CASES.

STILL ANOTHER ADJOURNMENT.

The cases in which W. N. Willis, W. P. Crick, and C. Bath are charged with conspiracy in connection with the Crown Lands Acts Administration, were again called on before Mr. C. N. Payten at the Water Police Court yesterday.

Mr. Garland and Mr. Pollock, instructed by Mr. Mant, for the Crown Solicitor, appeared for the Crown; Mr. Lamb, instructed by Mr. F. Y. Wilson for Willis, and Mr. H. Levien for Bath. W. P. Crick did not answer when his name was called, but Mr. Wilson intimated that he was on his way to the court.

Mr. Lamb applied for a further postponement on the ground that his client had not yet had time to go through the whole of the evidence given before the Royal Commission.

Mr. Garland said he recognised that there was a very large amount of evidence to go through, but the matter had now been postponed so many times, and the Crown had so frequently brought witnesses from the country, that he could not consent to any further delay. He understood that his Worship had been relieved of his other duties in order that he could hear the present case from day to day until it was finished.

His Worship: That is from Monday next. There is a betting case down for this afternoon, which I must dispose of by some means, as both sides are anxious to have it concluded. If I don't get through it to-day it is impossible to say for how long it will be put off. I will commence the conspiracy case on Tuesday.

Mr. Garland: Very well; if your Worship says so.

Mr. Lamb intimated that Mr. Crick had a Supreme Court case on for Wednesday, and his Worship would have to deal with another important case on that day. Would it not be better to start on Thursday, and then go straight ahead?

Mr. Garland: It must be distinctly understood that if an adjournment is granted to-day there must be no further applications.

Mr. Lamb: I can't give any undertaking. I am in the hands of my client, and if he wants a further adjournment I will have to apply for it.

His Worship said he had no objection to commencing on Thursday, if both sides agreed.

Mr. Garland said he could not consent. He had witnesses ready, and was prepared to go on at once. However, he was in the hands of his Worship.

At this stage the matter stood over for a while to allow of the appearance of Mr. Crick.

When he arrived Mr. Crick urged that the hearing should be begun on Thursday, and after further argument his Worship adjourned the case till that day, bail being granted as before.

THE SYDNEY CLUB RAID.

DEFENDANT CONVICTED.

At the Water Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Payten, S.M., the case was concluded in which Samuel Joseph West was charged with being found without lawful excuse on premises kept for the purpose of betting.

Mr. Mant (Crown Law Office) appeared to prosecute, and Mr. Lamb (instructed by Messrs. Crick and Carroll) for the defence.

Herbert Richardson Clark, solicitor, deposed that he acted for the Sydney Club in drawing up the rules. Rule 2 related to insurance. The membership card had an accident coupon attached to it. Two claims had been made by the club against insurance companies. They were both paid.

To Mr. Mant: Witness had been acting for the Sydney Club from its inception. He had no idea to whom the profits went. Mr. Dan. Green was chairman of committee. So far as witness knew it was a voluntary club. He could not say if it was a proprietary club. He had never known a Mr. Wren in connection with the club. He did not know that the Sydney Club was a betting shop.

Samuel J. West (recalled) stated that when the police entered one of the billiard tables was in operation. The only betting he had seen in the club was in connection with pyramids or pool among the members.

To Mr. Mant: Witness had never seen "Murrumbidgee" played there.

J. J. Carroll, solicitor, deposed that he had acted in negotiations with the lease. The lease was drawn up in the name of Green and Winning, under a declaration that they held the lease for and on behalf of the club. Lawson and Little would not give a lease except to named individuals.

To Mr. Mant: The club was not a proprietary; it belonged to the members of the club, who shared equally. The club was not established for the purpose of betting. Witness knew nothing about a Mr. Wren in connection with the club. Green was one of the members of the committee.

This closed the evidence.

Mr. Lamb submitted that the information must be dismissed. He raised the following points:—That there was no evidence that the defendant was found on the premises without lawful excuse; (2) that the evidence shows that the defendant had a lawful excuse for being on the premises; (3) that there is no evidence that the place was kept by Dan. Green and others for the purpose of money being received, as alleged; (4) that there is not sufficient evidence that the place was kept by Dan. Green and others for the purpose of money being received, as alleged; (5) that the evidence disclosed at most that the premises were kept for an unlawful and a lawful purpose, and that defendant cannot be convicted; (6) that betting in a club amongst members thereof is not illegal, and there is no evidence that betting was taking place otherwise than amongst members in the club; (7) that betting boards being up in a room, accompanied by a notice, is no evidence that the place was kept for money being received as alleged.

In reply, Mr. Mant held that the place was being kept for the purpose of money being received by somebody; that there was ample circumstantial evidence that betting was in progress at the time of the police entry; and that the place was not a bona fide club, and was kept solely for the purpose of betting.

Mr. Payten convicted the defendant, who was fined £10, or one month. His Worship said that he had to submit to the decision of Mr. Justice Pring, and he overruled Mr. Lamb's objections. In answer to counsel, he said that the condition in which the premises were found was not inconsistent with credit betting. As a matter of fact, there was no evidence that cash betting was carried on at the place at any time.

LAW REPORT.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 3.

HIGH COURT OF AUSTRALIA.

(Before the Chief Justice, Sir Samuel Griffith, and Mr. Justice O'Connor.)

CRIMINAL APPEAL DISMISSED.

The King v Hardgrave.

Mr. Sheridan and Mr. Mitchell, instructed by Messrs. Biddulph and Salenger, appeared for the appellant, William Hardgrave, formerly employed at the Bourke Post Office, who appealed against his conviction by Judge Gibson, at the Bourke Quarter Sessions, of misapplying and converting to fraudulent use a sum of £28 odd, belonging to the Commonwealth. Mr. Bevan, instructed by the Crown Solicitor, appeared for the Crown.

The question for decision was whether certain evidence was rightly admitted by Judge Gibson at the trial.

The Court held that the evidence was admissible, and that the conviction must be sustained.

IN CHAMBERS.

(Before the Chief Justice, Sir Samuel Griffith.)

WEINGARTEN v WILLS AND CO.

Mr. Knox, K.C., and Mr. Harvey, instructed by Messrs. Sly and Russell, appeared for the applicants, who are the respondents in the appeal; and Mr. Peden, instructed by Messrs. Stephen, Jaques, and Stephen, for the respondent appellants to oppose the application.

This was an application to increase the security on the appeal. The original action was brought in Adelaide, to prevent the defendants, Wills and Co., from using the letter "W.B." as a trade mark or designation of corsets not of the plaintiffs' manufacture. A verdict was given for the defendants, and the plaintiffs obtained leave to appeal to the High Court.

The Chief Justice held that it was a case where the maximum amount of security should be ordered, and directed the appellants to give security in the sum of £400.

SUPREME COURT OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

IN BANCO.

(Before the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Owen, and Mr. Justice Cohen.)

A DISPUTE AS TO HIDES.

Bosanquet and others v Mofflin and others.

Dr. Sly, K.C., and Mr. Scholes, instructed by Messrs. Aitken and Aitken, appeared for the defendants, and moved to make absolute a rule nisi to set aside the verdict found in the plaintiffs' favour, and to enter a nonsuit or a verdict for defendants, or for a new trial. Mr. J. L. Campbell and Mr. Kelynack, instructed by Messrs. Minter, Simpson, and Co., appeared for the plaintiffs, in support of the verdict. The action, which was tried before Mr. Justice Pring and a jury of four in March last, was brought by Bernard Tindal Bosanquet, Frank Moxon, and Sidney Howard Cotton against William Mofflin and William Edward Kugelman Mofflin, to recover damages sustained by them owing to the defendants having consigned to them a quantity of hides, a number of which proved defective. Plaintiffs carried on business in London, and they said that they received the hides from defendants, who carry on business in Sydney, and that owing to a certain proportion arriving in a bad condition disputes arose between plaintiffs and persons who purchased from them. These disputes were submitted to arbitration, and the plaintiffs sued defendants to recover the amount which was awarded against them. The jury returned a verdict in plaintiffs' favour, with damages £237 6s, and the defendants now appealed.

Mr. Campbell having concluded his argument, Dr. Sly replied, and the Court reserved judgment.

ACTION FOR INTEREST.

Dewar v Excelsior Land Investment and Building Company and Bank, Limited.

Mr. Scholes, instructed by Messrs. Robberds and England, appeared for the plaintiff; and Dr. Sly, K.C., and Mr. Wyndham J. E. Davies, instructed by Messrs. Alfred Rofe and Sons, for the defendant company. The special case stated by consent of the parties for the opinion of the Court set out the following facts:—The plaintiff on March 27 last issued a writ against the defendant company claiming the sum of £800 as interest due on a deposit of the sum of £4000 made by one Ebenezer Dewar with the defendant company prior to October 3, 1895. Ebenezer Dewar died on July 19, 1898, and on August 11 of the same year plaintiff, as the sole executrix of the will, obtained probate. On October 3, 1895, a scheme of arrangement was adopted by the depositors in the company, which scheme was sanctioned by an order of the Chief Judge in Equity on the 16th of the same month under the Joint Stock Companies Arrangement Act, 1891. The defendant company duly paid interest on the £4000 to Ebenezer Dewar on January 31, 1896, and April 30, 1896, but since October 31, 1897, no payment of interest had been made by the defendant company to Ebenezer Dewar or the plaintiff. The defendant company were ready and willing to pay, and prior to the date of the issue of the writ duly tendered to the plaintiff the sum of £600, being arrears of interest for the last six years, but refused to pay the balance of £200. The plaintiff contends that she is entitled to receive the whole of the arrears which the defendant company had failed to pay from October 31, 1897. The defendant company, on the other hand, contended that they are liable to pay the plaintiff only interest for the last six years. The question for the determination of the Court was whether the contention of the plaintiff or of the defendant company was correct.

After argument,

The Court held that it was the agreement, and not the Act of Parliament, which created the debt, and all the Act of Parliament did was to make the agreement binding upon those parties who had not sanctioned it, provided that three-fourths of the depositors in the company sanctioned it. The contention of the defendants was, therefore, correct, and the agreement only provided for the payment of £600. Plaintiff was entitled to payment for the last six years, and the Statute of Limitations applied as to the balance.

Verdict for defendants, with costs after payment of £600.

A LAND TRANSACTION.

Jeffrey v Holley.

Mr. Whitfeld and Mr. Pike, instructed by Mr. J. F. Thomas, of Tenterfield (by his agents, Messrs. Wilkinson and Osborne), appeared for the plaintiff in support of an appeal against the decision of Mr. District Court Judge Gibson, at Tenterfield, on May 9 last. Mr. J. Young and Mr. Clive Teece, instructed by Messrs. Harris and Harris, of Tenterfield (by their agents, Messrs. Mackenzie and Mackenzie), appeared for the defendant in support of the verdict. The action was one brought by Peter Jeffrey, proprietor of Mingoold station, against George Arthur Holley, who had a settlement lease of 4000 acres on the same run, to recover the sum of £14 8s 11d, alleged to have been lent to the defendant for the purpose of taking up 640 acres of land, which had been thrown open at Reidy Creek. Plaintiff stated that he advanced the money for the purpose stated at the request of the defendant, who promised that if he was unsuccessful he would, as soon as he received a cheque from the Lands Department, return the amount borrowed. He was not successful in his application, and plaintiff said that although he had repeatedly applied for the money it had not been paid. In the course of his evidence he said that he held the land on annual lease, and that the arrangement with the defendant was that if he got the land on settlement lease he (plaintiff) was to agist his cattle there; but that if he did not get the land, the £14 8s 11d was to be paid back by defendant. He also admitted that Reidy Creek was permanently watered, and he wanted it for his stock. His Honor found that the transaction was to enable plaintiff to retain possession of the land applied for by the defendant, that the money was paid for the purpose of taking up the land on his behalf, and that under section 42 of the Land Act, 1895 (58 Vic., No. 18), the transaction was not made in good faith, and that the money was paid for an illegal consideration. He, therefore, found for defendant, and plaintiff now appealed on the ground that the verdict was against evidence, and that his Honor's ruling was erroneous.

The Chief Justice: In point of fact his Honor found that it was a case of attempted dummying.

Mr. Whitfeld: Yes; but we submit that there can be no dummying in respect of a settlement lease. His Honor seems to have decided the matter as if it was a conditional purchase, instead of a settlement lease. We say that there was no illegality, and that even if there was, the purpose not having been carried out, plaintiff was entitled to recover his money. As a matter of fact prior to this the Minister for Lands had sanctioned an arrangement by which plaintiff used the land for the agistment of his cattle.

The case stands part heard.

EQUITY COURT.

(Before Mr. Acting Justice Street.)

DISPUTE AS TO A BUSINESS.

Bombelli v Sadowski.

Mr. S. A. Thompson, instructed by Mr. H. A. Langley, appeared for plaintiff, Caesar Bombelli, in support of an application to continue an injunction to restrain Pierre Sadowski from selling, mortgaging, or otherwise disposing of a wine saloon and restaurant in George-street, city, pending the hearing of the suit.

By consent the motion for the continuance of the injunction was turned into one for a decree, and an order made in accordance with the prayer of the plaintiff's statement of claim directing the sale of the business to plaintiff on the terms stated therein.

PALMER v JONES.

Mr. Peden and Mr. W. D. Merewether, instructed by Mr. Daley, appeared for plaintiff, Sampson Palmer, in support of an application for an injunction to restrain defendant, Noel Trevor Jones, from disposing of the proceeds of certain transactions in regard to land at Cessnock, which plaintiff claimed to be a partnership affair.

Mr. Langer Owen, K.C., instructed by Mr. E. Trevor Jones, appeared to show cause, and asked for an adjournment.

Mr. Peden applied for the appointment of a receiver.

After argument the case was adjourned till Wednesday next, Mr. Langer Owen giving an undertaking that defendant's bank account shall not be reduced below a certain sum stated up till that date, the injunction to be continued in the meantime.

A NARRABRI CASE.

Brodie v Cunningham.

Mr. E. H. Sheppard, instructed by Mr. P. W. Creagh, appeared for plaintiffs, T. A. Brodie and R. P. Lord; Mr. Chubb, instructed by Messrs. G. S. E. Fitzhardinge), for the defendant, Mrs. Beatrice Joan Lord; and Mr. R. H. L. Innes, instructed by Mr. P. W. Creagh, for defendants, John Hyde Lord and Nancy Joan Hyde Lord.

This was an originating summons directed to the defendants, and had reference to the interpretation of the settlement of the late Mrs. Agnes Mary Jane Brodie, of Boolcarral, near Narrabri. A number of questions were set down for the decision of the Court, and directions were also asked as to administration.

The case, which was part heard, was adjourned till Friday next.

TUG BOAT INDUSTRY.

ANOTHER AWARD SANCTIONED.

Ferry Employees' Union v Messrs. Fenwick and Co.

Mr. Croft and Mr. H. A. Mitchell, on behalf of the Sydney and Manly Ferry Employees, applied to have the modified award made by the Court on the issues against Messrs. J. and A. Brown made an award against Messrs. Fenwick and Co., steam tug proprietors. They explained that this was not a common rule application, but a new dispute. The award against Messrs. J. and A. Brown was made last year, and the modification of it was agreed upon some few months ago at the time of the common rule, evidence being tendered.

Mr. Broomfield, instructed by Messrs. Sly and Russell, appeared for the respondents, Messrs. Fenwick and Co., in the present dispute. He said that if the Court in this case should consider fit to make an award in accordance with the modified award in Browns' case, he was not going to say anything for or against, or offer any evidence. For obvious reasons he wished to avoid assent or consent.

The President, after conferring with his colleagues, said they had recalled to their memories the evidence that was previously before the Court, and would act upon it. They would modify the award as they modified it before, with a few technical alterations. They would substitute the word "under" for "out of." In the third line of the clause dealing with preference to unionists these words would be added—"and without any ballot or other mode of election." This would be consistent with the common rule clause. In line 5, after the word 2s, they proposed to add—"and so long as such rule is bona fide observed."

No objection was offered to these alterations.

The President said the award would be pronounced next week, probably on Tuesday morning.

COMMON RULE APPLICATION.

WIRE MATTRESS MAKERS' AWARD.

Mr. Beeby, on behalf of the Wire Mattress Makers' Union, applied to have the award of the Court pronounced on March 27 last against Goodearls, Limited, made a common rule. Objections were raised to the application by the following:—Mr. Rolin, instructed by Messrs. Read and Read, appeared for Messrs. Foster and Sons and Messrs. Anthony Horoern and Sons; Mr. Kelynack and Mr. Windeyer, instructed by Mr. F. R. Cowper, appeared for Messrs. Bills Brothers. Mr. Johns was present as secretary of the New South Wales Sawmill and Timber Yard Employees' Association to watch the interests of that association.

Mr. Rolin raised the point that the Court had no jurisdiction. He said there was no award enforceable, because the parties had agreed that it should not be enforceable after the common rule.

Mr. Windeyer took the point that where an award was not enforceable it could not be made a common rule.

Mr. Beeby pointed out that the award was to operate on May 7, "or such other date as the Court may think fit." No other date had been fixed. Therefore, it could be assumed that the award was in force.

The President said the point would be considered. Meantime, they would hear the material objections.

Mr. Beeby said he had no evidence to offer, beyond making the application.

Mr. Rolin thought matters were at a stage when he had nothing to answer.

The President: It is assumed that your clients are carrying on a similar industry; that is all.

When the papers came up from the Arbitration office,

The President examined them, and noted what was said at the hearing. Mr. Beeby had said that he would not ask the Court to enforce the award until the common rule application was dealt with. A postponement was made until May 7, and then no further extension was applied for. The award was valid from May 7. Whatever agreement had been made between the parties was entirely outside the award. This was very different to the Master Retailers' case. The objection was overruled. The Court held that it had jurisdiction.

R. Catto, secretary of the claimant union, said it was necessary to have the award made a common rule in the general interests of the trade.

The further hearing of the matter stands adjourned till Tuesday.

DISTRICT COURT.

(Before Judge Rogers.)

This was a case in which Ethel Richardson, of 13½ Burton-street, Darlinghurst, domestic servant, sued Mrs. Catherina Wilhelmina Seaton, of 198 William-street, Darlinghurst, for £200 for alleged slander, the words complained of being, "You (meaning the plaintiff) are nothing but a thief."

Melick v Melick.

In this action Stanton Melick sued Alfred Melick for £7 12s 3d, due in respect of certain flannelette short delivered by defendant. A verdict was given for plaintiff in the full amount claimed.

The appeal of Tooth and Co., on same grounds, but in respect of the Home Rule Hotel, at Queen-street, Chippendale, was called on. Mr. Blacket, instructed by Messrs. MINING INTELLIGENCE.

THE SHARE MARKET.

If anything, a slightly better tone prevailed in the market yesterday. This is not saying much, because stagnation reigned supreme during the preceding portion of the week. Business was not confined to any particular group of stocks. It was what might be described as an "all-round" market, with a few transactions here and a few there, but nothing to indicate either firmness or weakness. In a word, a colourless business was transacted.

Silver shares were quoted firmly by holders, and as buyers would not "spring" their offers no business resulted in the leading stocks, with the exception of Broken Hill, which sold at 71s 6d. New White Leads were not included in this category. They were offered at decreased rates, but as the result of a telegram from the mine manager, shares in the adjoining mine, the Rising Sun, sold steadily. The C.S.A. group of silver-lead mines was faintly heard, with a sale in C.S.A. Mines at 27s, a decline on previous rates. New South Wales gold mines were in the background, the only trasaction recorded being in Mount Davids. Hardens were quoted firmly by holders.

In gold and tin dredging propositions, there were good inquiries for Amalgamated Tin, Associated Gold Dredging (sales at 6s 2d), and Cope's Creek. Ovens Valley commanded support at 6s. Elringtons were unsupplied at 2s, whilst scrip-holders were not tempted by the offers for New Wylie Creek, Parker's Tin, or Turon River.

The copper section was represented by sales in Queen Bee at 22s 9d, a firm figure; and Mount Lyell Blocks at 7s 4½d; with fair calls for Chillagoe, Mount Elliott, O.K., Mount Molloy, Wallaroo and Moonta, and Girilambone. Dalzeill's Tin sold at 8s, a fractional rise. Queensland, Western Australian, and Victoria gold mines claimed very little attention.

In the afternoon matters brightened up a little in connection with silver stocks. Broken Hill Sout'is (paid) sold at £5, and contributing shares at 93s, both prices indicating great firmness on the part of holders. British Broken Hill (old) changed hands at 41s, a repetition of the morning's transactions. The weakness in New White Leads led to a sale at 3s 10d. The support accorded to Broken Hill Junction North firmed the shares to 18s. During the depression of the last few days, these shares have been quietly bought up by strong holders.

Copper shares claimed some attention, and O.K.'s came into favour, with sales from 22s up to 22s 7d. A parcel of Mount Molloys sold at 15s 3d, with fair inquiries for the stock at the close of the day. Buyers of Chillagoe at 3s 11d were unsupplied. Mount Elliott and Wallaroo and Moonta were well quoted. In New South Wales copper mines, Queen Bee firmed, whilst there were several calls for Girilambone. Tasmanian copper mines, on the other hand, were seldom mentioned. Mount Morgans were steady at 68s 6d. A fair amount of attention was devoted to tin mines, with sales in Dalziell's at a fractional increase; and Tingha Tin Dredging at 4s 9d. Queensland, Victorian, Western Australian, and New South Wales gold mines were almost neglected.

MINING NOTES.

The directors of Coppabella mine have appointed Mr. T. H. Vincent, of the Argent mine, Zeehan, and G. Ahearn, of the Comet mine, Dundas, to report on their mine. These gentlemen will proceed to the mine about the 21st inst.

The dredge master of the Amalgamated Tin Company reports by wire, dated August 2, that the clean up for the month of July has been completed. The yield was nine tons from No. 1 dredge and 7½ tons from No. 2 dredge. The total yield for the month was 16½ tons.

Sydney holders of Catherine Reef United scrip were gratified yesterday on learning by a telegram from Bendigo that a crushing of 425 tons from the new formation gave 716oz amalgam. The return is regarded as an excellent one, and clearly indicates the profitable character of the reef.

For the week ended July 28 the mill of the North Mount Farrell Company, Tasmania, treated 420 tons for a return of 30 tons of concentrates. This produced 55 tons of marketable ore.

A telegram received from the manager of the Broken Hill Block 14 Company states:—"Ore west of winze at 300ft is 7ft wide, assaying 23 per cent. lead, 21oz silver, 20 per cent. zinc. Going down in the bottom of drift strongly."

The fact that the shares in the Rising Sun mine, Broken Hill, have held firm in price, whilst its neighbour, the New White Leads, has receded, is doubtless due to the following telegram from the manager:—"West crosscut, 500ft level, now carries 3ft of solid high-grade ore, striking west, crosscut following the same. The face of the crosscut is looking well, and making considerable water."

A special meeting of shareholders in the Moturoa Oil Company was recently held at New Plymouth (New Zealand). In accordance with the directors' scheme, it was unanimously resolved to liquidate the present company and construct a new one, under the name of the Taranaki Petroleum Company, with a capital of £120,000 in £1 shares, the shareholders in the Moturoa Oil Company to receive 56,000 fully paid-up ordinary shares. The representative of English capitalists, who has been securing boring rights over likely oil country at New Plymouth, has left for Sydney, for the purpose of securing plant and drillers with which to commence active operations. Two other boring companies are also in process of formation.

The Mount Morgan Company during July treated 20,209 tons at the gold reduction works for a yield of 7566oz gold, or over 7dwt per ton. The copper reduction works treated 9316 tons of ore for 333 tons of blister copper. This contained 329 tons of pure copper and 4329oz gold. The yield of copper was at the rate of 3.53 per cent. to a ton of ore, and gold a little over 9dwt per ton. Thirty-nine tons of copper precipitate contained 35oz gold and 30 tons of copper. Adding the latter to the 329 tons of copper obtained in the reduction works, and the total, 359 tons, is at the rate of 3.85 per cent. of copper per ton of ore. The total value of the output of gold and copper was £77,000.

Good progress is being made by the C.S.A. Mines with the sinking of the main shaft. It is now down 150ft, 17ft being accomplished last week in quartz and gossan. The north drive has reached 223ft, and is still in mineralised slate. For the week ended July 8 some 50 tons of "firsts" were raised, making a total of 329 tons. Of this 304 tons have been despatched from the mine, all of which has been railed. The bulk of the ore mined was taken from the east side of the No. 3 north drive. For the week approximately 23 tons of "seconds" were raised, making a total of 509 tons.

MINING IN THE STATE.

WOLUMLA, Friday.

The manager of the Wolumla Gold Mines Limited, has been opening up on the two reefs in the North Pacific portion of the mine, and reports that it is still looking well. The sinking of No. 2 shaft at Meakers, to connect with the rise from No. 1 level, is being continued, and should break through in a few days. This will greatly increase the output of ore. The battery is running nearly full time, and a fair return is expected when cleaning up at the end of this week.

The Pacific Mines Company is proceeding with the lower level tunnel, through better driving formation, with a slight influx of water making.

The South Pacific Syndicate is driving an easterly tunnel through very hard granitic material. The distance now driven is 64ft 6in. The Ocean View Syndicate has not yet resumed operations.

THE BARRIER MINES.

WANKEROO TIN FIELD.

BROKEN HILL, Friday.

The temporary plant of the Central mine is now almost complete, and is running for adjustment purposes.

Messrs. A. J. Hall, R. S. Gregory, and E. O'Connor have been appointed directors of the Middle Pinnacle S.M. syndicate. The latter has taken up over 120 acres at the Pinnacles, and 60 acres near the South Blocks. Several Melbourne men are in the syndicate.

The tin shows at Wankeroo are still claiming a lot of local attention. One property is being floated locally as the Barrier Queen Tin Mine, in 500 shares of £5 each. The prospectus is also issued of the Imperial Tin Mining Company, with a capital of £5000, in 500 shares of £10 each. The company's property has been well reported on. A couple of properties are under offer to Melbourne investors.

VISIT OF A SMELTING EXPERT.

BROKEN HILL, Friday.

Mr. Queneau, smelting expert, who is visiting Australia specially on behalf of the Zinc Corporation, left Broken Hill to-night on a visit to Port Pirie. After seeing the Proprietary Company's zinc distillation works there, Mr. Queneau will visit Moonta and Wallaroo. He will return to Broken Hill at the end of next week. Later on he will visit the Sulphide Corporation zinc works at Cockle Creek, but will finally return to Broken Hill before submitting his report to the Zinc Corporation. Mr. Queneau, so far, is acquiring knowledge of the ores and processes, but has not yet formulated any proposal for the corporation.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

The weekly meeting of the Board of Health was attended by the president (Dr. J. Ashburton Thompson), Dr. Foreman, Mr. Edmund Fosbery, C.M.G., M.L.C., Dr. Mackellar, M.L.C., the president of the Chamber of Commerce (Mr. A. F. Robinson), Mr. W. B. Sharp, and Professor Anderson Stuart.

The return of infectious diseases for the fortnight ended July 28 was as follows:—

of which 6, taken from the North Coast Company's Wharf, were plague-infected.

The issue of 40 noxious trades' licenses was approved, and in three instances was declined, the premises not having been brought into conformity with the board's regulations.

The insanitary state of licensed premises at Cobar, which had been reported in connection with the recent outbreak of typhoid fever, had been the subject of direction by the board to the local authority and the police. A report was read which showed that very considerable and substantial improvements had been made, and a hope was expressed that the Licensing Bench, which had full powers, would see that licensed premises were kept in a wholesome condition there and elsewhere.

A letter was received from the manager of an important shipping company, from whose wharf on Darling Harbour plague rats have been gathered pretty steadily during the current year, pointing out that repairs and reconstruction of this wharf, and something to prevent accumulation of flotsam and jetsam under it were urgently necessary in order to discourage rats, and the board's assistance was asked in bringing the improvement about. It was directed that the letter should be brought under the notice of the Premier, with an urgent representation of the necessity for this work.

A meeting of the Balmain and Rozelle Star Bowkett Building Society was held on Thursday night, for the purpose of balloting for the sum of £300. Mr. G. Fitzpatrick, president, said there had been an increase of 80 members since last ballot, making the total 277, while the shares had increased from 887 to 1295. Mr. Jacob Garrard was chosen to preside over the ballot, which resulted in Mr. Gerard Bullivant, Rozelle, being declared the winner.

EGG-LAYING COMPETITION.

The "Sydney Morning Herald" and "Sydney Mail" laying competition, at the farm of Mr. J. M'Intosh, Rockdale, concluded the first three months on Tuesday evening last, with noteworthy results. Prize-money amounting to £3 10s offered for the best performers during this, the winter period, was won as follows:—Miss Kemmis' six white Leghorns, occupied the highest position with 382 eggs within the 92 days, and secured £3. Mrs. Blacklow's black Orpingtons were second, with 369 eggs, winning £2 10s; Fletcher and Hoskyns came third, with white Leghorns, and won £2. G. Wright's black Orpingtons and C. J. Green's Buff Orpingtons, divided fourth and fifth prize of £1 10s. Messrs. Fletcher and Hoskyns secured the prize for the highest number of eggs laid during the month, their six white Leghorns producing 156 eggs. The 60 pens laid during the month 6728 eggs, or slightly over 112 for each pen. Mr. M'Intosh, the supervisor, reports that he has no apology to offer for either the fowls or the weather. The birds are all in good health, no deaths having taken place. The laying has been most consistent throughout, only a few eggs separating each pen, as the appended figures for the three months show.

The Hawkesbury College laying competition concluded the fourth month of the fifth annual test on Tuesday evening last, the results considerably exceeding any of the previous college records. The monthly prize for the greatest number of eggs was won by Mr. J. W. Wakfer, whose six Langshans laid 151 eggs. Black Orpingtons secured the second and third places, with 144 and 139 respectively, Langshans following with 137. The figures from the above graduate down to as low as 30 and 28, which were produced by brown and white Leghorns respectively. Following are the leading pens for the four months:—

The laying competition conducted at the farm of Mr. A. E. Henry, Ryde, concluded the fourth month's laying on Tuesday evening last. The prize for the highest monthly total was won by Mr. A. A. Dunnicliff, whose Black Orpingtons laid 145 eggs. Mr. N. B. Ralston won the first prize for the winter months with Wyandottes, which produced 384 eggs. B. Prior's Wyandottes came second with 376, R. C. Fletcher's Wyandottes third with 345, and P. J. Duffy's Black Orpingtons fourth with 339. The numbers from above decrease down to about 100, Black Orpingtons being the lowest for the four months. For the week ending Saturday last the Ryde birds averaged 27 per pen.

The Hawkesbury Agricultural College is evidently determined to improve the quality of the Orpingtons at that institution. Only a couple of weeks ago the College authorities purchased a pen of Black Orpingtons from one of the leading yards, and this week comes word that an excellent breeding pen of Buffs has been purchased from Mr. H. Cadell, of Epping. It is quite possible that none of the birds secured are individually worth the not infrequent price of £5 or more obtained by Messrs. Cadell and Ramsey. Still, the College has secured as good strains as are in Australia, and after this breeding season there should be no further cause for the remotest reflection on the College Orpingtons.

In connection with the above purchase, a great many people have got an idea that to secure birds fit to win prizes the birds must be bred from the same high standard quality, and it is of not infrequent occurrence to hear of some amateur sending £20 or more to England for a trio of prize-winners, and often when secured, although good-looking enough for any honours they have won, prove disappointing as breeders. The whole thing lies in a nutshell. It is a matter of knowing the pedigree of the stock and utilising the knowledge of breeding, guided by experience in mating the birds to produce certain results. Take, for instance, one or two of the most successful Black Orpington yards in the State. These people did not import, but purchased locally, mated scientifically, and reared successfully the strains and stock from which these present prize-winners originated.

Two pure-bred poultry sales took place on Wednesday last, when one would have been quite enough. Messrs C. J. Turner's catalogue was well filled. The highest price realised was 22s for a Wyandotte cock, and from that down to a few shillings was the order. Mr. Turner says a couple of years ago all the birds offered would have realised double the prices. The Poultry Farmers' Co-operative Society had their coops all filled the same day with poultry, from 25lb weight turkey gobblers, to the 3lb American Leghorns. Turkys sold excellently, realising from about 9d to 10d per lb, live weight, which foreshadows dear Christmas dinners. Other pure-bred poultry sold rather low, good quality killing cockerels, being more in demand, and at big prices.

Pure-bred fowls from fanciers yards continue to leave the State. Mr. H. E. Peir shipped to Hobart at a good price a silver Wyandotte cockerel and three pullets. Mr. H. Bennett shipped a number of gold Wyandottes to a Rockhampton breeder, and some winners of this breed to Victoria. The Poultry Requisites Limited, shipped this week, 18 black and Buff Orpingtons to Suva, Fiji, and a number of black Orpingtons to Japan. Mr. E. Thornton shipped a pair of Orpingtons to Adelaide at the good figure of 13 guineas. Mr. A. Messervy forwarded this week to West Australia several of his winning white Leghorns. Mr. J. M'Intosh has also disposed of several good exhibition black Orpingtons.

COAST HOSPITAL.

The following return shows the working of the Coast Hospital for the month of July:—During the month 241 patients were admitted; of these 146 were general cases and 95 were suffering from infectious diseases, consisting of scarlet fever 60, diphtheria 20, enteric fever 2, measles 5, erysipelas 4, and pestis 3. The number of patients discharged was 229, of whom 199 were cured, 28 relieved, and 2 unrelieved. There were 15 deaths. The number remaining in hospital at the end of the month was 300. Of these 181 were general cases, and 119 infectious, consisting of scarlet fever 81, diphtheria 20, enteric fever 4, measles 2, scarlet fever and diphtheria 3, erysipelas 7, and pestis 2. The daily average number of patients for the month was 307.80, and 105 patients were removed from the city to the Coast Hospital by ambulance, and 13 to the asylums for the infirm. Eight patients were transferred to convalescent homes.

RAILWAY AND TRAMWAY SUPERANNUATION.

A representative deputation from the Amalgamated Railway and Tramway Association waited upon the Railway Commissioners yesterday in connection with the establishment of a superannuation scheme for railway and tramway employees.

Mr. C. Brown (president) introduced the deputation. They represented directly, he said, 5000 employees as an association, and were supported by the officers present, who were in charge of large bodies of men. They had introduced the question in May last, and it had been decided to approach the Commissioners, and ask:—1. Are the Commissioners favourable to a superannuation scheme? 2. To what extent would the Commissioners think assistance might be expected from the department? As employees they were pained when they saw good servants and respected comrades going down through failing eyesight and other causes in connection with railway employment. It was not possible for the lower paid men especially—men in receipt of 7s per day—to do their duties by their families and save money for the risks of railway service. Men at 50 years of age may be turned adrift through failing eyesight and other causes, wherein there was necessity for more rigidity than, in outside employment, and at that age were comparatively useless in the outside world, and yet were not eligible for old age pensions, etc. He believed he voiced the unanimous sentiments of the service, when he said the staff to-day were most anxious for a superannuation scheme.

Mr. J. H. Catts (general secretary) said that the employees did not desire to ask for something for nothing. They were prepared to help themselves if given some encouragement. They wanted the matter treated as a business proposition. They wanted the Commissioners to say how much per year would a superannuation scheme be worth to them, and to the public interest. They would try to find out how much the Government could afford to pay into the scheme from money which would be saved in other directions. They would then know as employees what contribution was necessary to bring about a certain result. In connection with the Miners' Accident Relief Fund, the proprietors contributed 25 per cent., the Government 25 per cent., and the employees 50 per cent. If this was justified, and they believed it was, in private employment some such arrangement was amply justified in connection with the State railways. Since Mr. Eddy's time there had been, roughly speaking, £120,000 paid to railway and tramway employees as retiring allowances, and he noticed that last year the amount was £8000. Retirements of employees at 60 years of age would effect a saving, they estimated, of £12,000 per annum to the department. They would then have the vigour, both mental and physical of younger employees, and there would not be the endless striving of poor men at retiring age to retain their positions for a few months or years longer. There would be other advantages to the department which would justify further subsidies to a scheme upon a purely business basis.

Mr. H. Richardson (superintendent of lines) said that he, as well as a number of others present, supported the Amalgamated Association in this matter, although not members of that body. Every private railway company in the world of any importance had a superannuation fund in operation, and he did not know of any State railway in any other part of the globe which had not such a fund in operation.

Other members of the deputation also gave their views on the question.

Mr. Maguire (Tramway Department) said he knew that a large body of the tramway men were anxious to see a fund established.

The Chief Commissioner (Mr. Oliver) said that the Commissioners acknowledged the representative character of the deputation, and were always glad to meet the men's representatives upon important questions like the present, as these meetings were calculated to cement the good feeling which should exist between them. Unfortunately they were not able to give practical effect to a superannuation scheme themselves, but they were anxious to do something to help the project. The difficulty was in determining what that something should be. Various schemes had been propounded, and the last one submitted, without referring to details, was such as to prevent practical effect being given to it. The Commissioners were prepared to assist to the extent of £20,000 per annum, provided they had the concurrence of the Government. This was the minimum. When they came to get closer to some practical scheme, they might be able to do a little more. A previous Government had agreed to a proposal for the department to subsidise a scheme to a similar extent. He did not know how the sum of £20,000 would compare with the liability of a fund. It was a little dangerous to speculate upon the matter. A great deal of inquiry was needed. But they could start their inquiries on the assumption that the Commissioners, subject to the Government, thought that the figure stated, could be looked upon as the minimum which would be provided. They would rest assured that they would have the hearty co-operation of the Commissioners. It was pleasant to reflect that the feeling of responsibility for their fellows urged the deputation in connection with the movement. They had the goodwill of the Commissioners in their efforts.

Mr. Kirkcaldie said he had always been very strongly in favour of a superannuation fund. It was recognised all the world over that something in the nature of superannuation provision should be made for the employees. He thought it would be wise for the Government and the Commissioners to come together on the matter.

Mr. Fehon said that the men must be prepared to pay something reasonable for a fund, and not expect too high a superannuation payment. It was something like life assurance, it needed thoroughly working out.

Mr. Catts: We want a graduated scale.

Mr. Fehon: That is one of the weak points. He thought it only reasonable that as liberal support as possible should be given, and the men should make up their minds to practise self-denial through their fund payments in their younger days, in order to provide for the evening of their lives.

with your chest? Perhaps a little pain, a little cough, a little wheezing, a little stuffiness? Never run past Nature's danger signal! Act instantly; take Scott's Emulsion of cod liver oil and hypophosphites of lime and soda and avert the danger. You will quickly be well.

Hamilton-on-Forth, Tasmania, July 15, 1905. "My son, Ledgitt Jordan, was for years a great sufferer from weak lungs, and was often so ill that he was unable to rest in bed, being compelled to sit by the fire to obtain any ease at all. He decided to give Scott's Emulsion a trial, and did so, with most wonderful results. It gave him an appetite for ordinary food, and so eased his lungs and cough that he was able to sleep well. He is restored to complete good health, and has gained two stone in weight." (Mrs.) D. B. L. Jordan.

Scott's Emulsion never disgusts, never disagrees. It is the original emulsion of cod liver oil which has stood the test of 30 years. The celebrated Scott process, by which Scott's alone is made, has been constantly improved, and to-day produces the finest emulsion and the most nutritious form of cod liver oil in the world. RIFLE SHOOTING.

NEW RANGE AT RICHMOND.

RICHMOND, Thursday.

The new Richmond Rifle Range on the Londonderry-road was officially opened yesterday morning by Brigadier-General Gordon. Among those present were Colonel Waddell, Colonel Mallaekey, Colonel Irving, Major Osborne, Major Holland, Mr. Brown (president of the Rifle Association), and upwards of fully 30 other officers, also Messrs. B. Hall, A. Gardiner, and Thomas, Ms.L.A. About 200 people in all were in attendance by the invitation of Lieutenant-Colonel C. S. Guest, officer commanding the 3rd Regiment. Luncheon was partaken of on the ground. The new range has five targets, and is well constructed. General Gordon, in the course of an address, expressed pleasure that the Defence Department was doing something tangible for rifle shooting, and said he hoped that the day would come when every able-bodied man would "be able to use a Government rifle efficiently.

Fourteen teams representing the military and rifle clubs took part in the matches, and in spite of a boisterously strong wind some good scores were recorded.

The Penrith Civilian Rifle Club won the trophy presented by Lieutenant-Colonel Guest, for the best total at 500 yards. The prize for best individual scores was won by Sergeant-Major Inman, of the Engineer team, with a total of 33 points, after counting out three other scores.

The following are the scores:—Penrith Civil Rifle Club, 180 points; Council of the National Rifle Association, 148; Engineer Staff, 142; Headquarters Staff 3rd Regiment, 140; Windsor Civil Rifle Club, 138; H. A. College, 133; Windsor Lancers, 133; Richmond Civilians, 130; Richmond Lancers, 129; Penrith Company Infantry, 119; Windsor Company Infantry, 119; Officers 2nd Regiment, 103; Parramatta Infantry, 78.

NEW RANGE AT HAY.

HAY, Thursday.

The official opening of the Hay Rifle Club butts took place yesterday afternoon, and was followed by a smoke concert in the evening. The Mayor of Hay, Alderman John Bent, brother of the Premier of Victoria, fired the opening shot. The Commonwealth military forces were represented by Major Legge, officer in charge of rifle clubs, and Senior-sergeant Rennie. Major Legge officially inspected, and passed the butts in the forenoon. The club membership is 168, and it has spent over £100 on the range. Mr. John Anschau is captain of the club, which promises to be a good one.

BEGA, Thursday.

The July match of the Bega Rifle Club has concluded, the ranges being 200 and 500 yards, 7 shots at each, with the usual sighter allowed. Following is the result:—W. A. Kelly, 32, 33 (hcp 2); F. W. Tidd, 27, 32 (hcp 10); F. S. Rogers, 33, 31 (hcp 8); H. C. Blaxland, 34, 31 (hcp 6); J. J. Murphy, 29, 28 (hcp 10).

COOMA, Wednesday.

At the Volunteer Rifle Club's prize shootings at the 500 and 600 yards ranges on Saturday the best scores were:—Trooper J. Duncan, 31, 23—54; Trooper A. Elliott, 25, 22—47; Q.M.S. Baillie, 26, 20—46.

GOULBURN, Wednesday.

The annual meeting of G Company Rifle Club was held last night. Captain Holdorf was elected president, and Corporal Townley secretary. A complaint was made regarding the condition of rifle barrels. These have been in use about eight years, and are now quite unfit for rifle shooting. It was decided to ask Captain Holdorf to communicate with the authorities.

HEAD OFFICE—BULL'S CHAMBERS, 14 MOORE-STREET, SYDNEY. With Agents in Every Large Town.

RECORD BUSINESS IS BEING DONE AT HABERFIELD.

During the past month the sales of land and residences have increased by nearly 100 per cent. over ordinary business. This speaks for itself. The unparalleled success is no doubt due in no small measure to the

REDUCED TRAM FARES.

It is now possible to travel by the electric cars from HABERFIELD to the SYDNEY RAILWAY STATION FOR TWOPENCE. In addition to the tram, residents at this Model Suburb have the choice of train and ferry steamers. No other suburb of Sydney is so favoured.

Another great factor in the upbuilding of this successful enterprise is the stability of our buildings, and the equitable nature of the terms we offer. Another strong point is our which enables the would-be purchaser to secure the home of his choice. Our Architect will prepare plans and specifications to meet buyer's requirements. For those who require immediate possession we have now several MAGNIFICENT COTTAGE HOMES ready for occupation. Prices, from £550 to £2500. We sell for cash, or on VERY EASY TERMS; Small deposit, and balance as rent.

PRELIMINARY ADVERTISEMENT.

SALE OF RIVERINA LAND, to take place during the FOURTH WEEK IN SEPTEMBER, at the NARANDERA HALL,

NARANDERA, NEW SOUTH WALES.

GREAT SUBDIVISIONAL SALE

OF

25,000 ACRES OF THE BUCKINGBONG ESTATE,

SUBDIVIDED INTO FARMS,

from

100 TO 1000 ACRES, and 3000 TO 6000 ACRES.

Very Liberal Terms of 20 YEARS will be offered for the payment of this Estate.

W. S. KEAST and CO., and W. R. LOOKER and SONS, MATHIESON and DAVIS, and CULLY and CO., J. M. PECK and SONS, and McLEOD and CO., Auctioneers in conjunction, have received instructions from the "BUCKINGBONG" ESTATE COY., LTD., to SELL, by PUBLIC AUCTION

25,000 ACRES, being portion of the "Buckingbong" Estate, which includes the Homestead and all the Magnificent River Frontages.

The Estate is all very fine Agricultural, Wheatgrowing, Dairying Flats and first-class Fattening Lands, running right up to the town of Narandera, with nearly 20 Miles' frontage to the Murrumbidgee. It has an irrigation channel running through the Property to the Woolshed, about 12 miles back, and is so situated that it can be easily irrigated from the river by pumping, the nature of the country making the process very easy. It is also watered by the Colombo and Sandy Creeks, which have a never-failing supply of water. In addition to this, the proposed Barren Jack Scheme of the New South Wales Government has been surveyed through the Property, and the whole of this Estate will be served by this Gigantic Scheme. The land itself is considered to be equal to anything in the Riverina, and has had a rainfall for 17 years of over 18 inches.

At present there are nearly 1300 Acres of Wheat Crops on the Estate, in which it will be seen that the land is equal to anything in the Goulburn Valley District, and on the whole of this Estate over three-fourths of the land is fit for agriculture, and will be sold at a price cheaper than any other good wheat land can be bought in New South Wales, within settled areas, and having an assured rainfall. The river flats and all the land near the Township are very suitable for Dairying, and One Dairy Farm now on the Estate is carrying 45 cows on 200 Acres.

There is a Butter Factory and Freezing Works in the town of Narandera, which almost adjoins the Property. The whole of the Estate is well fenced and in perfect order, thousands of acres being cleared and ready for the plough.

The Finlay to Narandera Railway runs right along the greater portion of the property, and there are 4 railway stations and sidings on and adjoining the Estate.

The Land has been carefully inspected by some of the Leading Experts of Victoria, in whose opinion there is no other property more suited for Closer Settlement Purposes in the Riverina.

This Estate has been in the family of the late Francis Jenkins for over 70 years, being selected by him in the early days of New South Wales, and has never before changed hands, and has now been purchased by the "Buckingbong" Estate Coy., Ltd., solely for the purpose of subdivision, and the Company is prepared to offer to the Public some of the best land that has ever been offered for this purpose. We would specially draw attention to the fact that out of this great tract of country nearly 50,000 Acres are timbered land, which has all been rung and cleaned up, and with very little expense could be made ready for the plough. The timbered country is very similar to that of the Goulburn Valley and North-eastern Districts of Victoria, being specially adapted for the growing of wheat and the raising of lambs, and will be sold in areas of somewhere about 1000 Acres, so that a farmer can combine wheat-growing with the raising of lambs.

The Auctioneers call special attention to this very Valuable Property, situated as it is in the Riverina District of N.S.W., being 50 miles from Finlay to Merunda R.S., at the beginning of the run, and 75 miles to the Narandera R.S., also only 160 miles from Albury, with a good train service, and 70 miles from Corowa. The average distance of the property to any part of the railway line would not be more than 8 miles, and much of it running right up to the railway sidings on and adjoining the property.

The Terms offered to the Public are the most liberal ever offered by any syndicate, viz.: 20 years, 10 per cent. cash, and the balance up to 20 years; or the buyers may have the option of paying cash if they so desire.

We would therefore ask Farmers, Graziers, and others who are in search of land to take this opportunity of inspecting one of the best Properties in the Australian States, where they will be able to get a farm at less than half the money asked in many other places, as the Company is determined to sell the whole of the land at the earliest opportunity. In addition to the growing of wheat, raising of lambs, and dairying, this Estate is admirably adapted for the growing of all kinds of fruits, with irrigation; the garden at the Homestead, and also one on the Estate, is equal to anything to be found in N.S.W. Oranges, Lemons, Peaches, Apples, Figs, Grapes, and all kinds of Fruits grow in abundance, and when the proposed irrigation scheme is completed, those who desire to go in for fruit-growing can make this the "Mildura" of New South Wales; also Potatoes, Cabbages, and Cauliflowers grow in large quantities on this Estate.

Following the Land Sale will be held the Stock Sale, including the Stud Sheep which have been selected purposely for improving the "Buckingbong" Flock, and also the Stud Shorthorn Cattle, consisting of about 100 Stud Cows and all the Horses (about 100) and Plant that are not required for the working of the Station. Fuller particulars in regard to the stock will appear within the next fortnight.

For further particulars apply W. S. KEAST and CO., 608-10 Collins-street; W. R. LOOKER and SONS, 182 Queen-street; MATHIESON and DAVIS, Kirk's Bazaar, Melbourne, and Sale; J. M. PECK and SON, William-street, Melbourne; McLEOD and CO., Narandera, N.S.W.; or CULLY and CO., Narandera, N.S.W.

VALAZE IS PURE!
There is magic in the sound, but not so much magic as in the preparation itself.
An absolutely pure skin food, which will not only clear an ordinary skin, but which will cure the most obstinate case of muddiness.
Let it be given a fair trial, and used according to the directions for at least two months, that is all we ask.
Assurance of its excellence makes us positive it only needs to be tried to be proved the best skin food to be obtained.
